HOUSE PASSES BONUS BILL BY 211-176 VOTE

Veterans Will Start at Once on Lobbying in Senate.

MAY COME UP TODAY IN UPPER CHAMBER

Leaders of Occupation Army Reiterate Intention of Staying Till Paid.

Though a drenching rain last night pelted the mushroom communities of ragged veterans here to demand immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus, transforming the camps into a quagmire network, the jubilance of the tattered hosts at passage by the House yesterday of the bonus bill failed to be dimmed.

Leaders of the veteran army last night reiterated their insistence that they and their cohorts would remain here until the bonus is paid. Food was steadily pouring in from all sources, they said, sanitation facilities were being improved and replacements of all defections were counted on.

The $2,400,000,000 bonus bill was quickly relayed to the Senate after the House had approved it by a vote of 211 to 176. Senator Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, leading bonus proponent in that body, asked for immediate consideration of the measure, but it was referred to the finance committee.

May Reach Floor Today.

Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, chairman of the finance committee, although opposed to the bill, told the Senate that it would be given quick consideration by his committee. He called a meeting of the finance group for 9:30 this morning, and optimists in the Senate bonus group hoped it to reach the floor this afternoon.

Before the Patman bonus bill passed the House, it was amended to provide for an issue of Government bonds in equal amount to bonus sum, to be used for that currency if the dollar should become too cheap.

When the final House vote was announced, numerous members of the bonus marchers were scattered through the galleries, and they broke into mild applause, despite previous warnings against such demonstrations.

Watch Eslick Funeral.

The veterans who attended the final House handling of the bill they seek as a law then walked hurriedly to the route of the funeral procession of the late Representative Edward E. Eslick (Democrat), Tennessee, who fell dead on the floor of the House Tuesday as he spiritedly urged passage of the veterans' measure.

Approximately one-third of the estimated 20,000 veterans here lined the streets as the Tennessee representative's body was conveyed to Union Station to be sent to Pulaski, Tenn., his home. The procession passed from the Zurhorst undertaking parlor at 801 East Capitol street.

Though 100 veterans yesterday morning accepted the police offer of trucks to take them 50 miles from the District toward their homes, offi-

H. S. New Named As Swift Trustee

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Justice yesterday announced the appointment of Harry S. New, former Postmaster General, to act as trustee for all of the stock owned by Swift & Co. and its subsidiaries in various stockyard companies.

The order making the appointment was upon application of the Attorney General to Justice Bailey of the District of Columbia Supreme Court. It directed the defendants to transfer their stock to the trustee for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the earlier decree which directed them to divest themselves of ownership or control of all stock in stockyard companies.

The trustee was directed to endeavor to find purchasers for the stock on terms to be approved by the court. The First Union Trust Co., of Chicago, was designated to act as depositary and custodian for the stock pending its sale.

3 Bank Bandits Freed As Gunmen Raid Jail

Trio, Held in Illinois Town for $50,000 Robbery, Flee With Five Liberators in Stolen Car After Terrorizing Prison Attaches.

Ottawa, Ill., June 15 (A.P.).—Invading the county jail here today, five heavily armed gunmen took virtual command of the place and, after terrorizing attaches and visitors, released three companions held for the $50,000 robbery of the Union National Bank at Streator May 16. The eight then fled in automobiles.

The gunmen left the jail in an auto, but near the edge of the city they commandeered another car belonging to Gilbert Mitchell, manager of the Illinois Power & Electric Co. at Marseilles. Mitchell is thought to have been kidnaped, as witnesses saw four men get into his car, but didn't see the utility manager get out.

The three rescued from the jail were Ed Pierson, Charles Tilden and Abe Katzoulitz, alias Katzin, all known to Chicago police as hoodlums. Pierson was arrested last Saturday at Boston; Tilden had been apprehended at Minneapolis and Katzoulitz was captured in Chicago.

Five other men held with the three rescued as participants in the Streator bank robbery were not disturbed in their cells by the invaders.

As soon as word of the jail delivery spread a posse was organized and started in pursuit. The fugitives were believed headed toward a hideout in Indiana. The gunmen entered as visitors, this being the visiting day at the jail.

One gunman handed Katzoulitz, who had been brought from his cell,

15-YEAR TERM GIVEN MEANS IN BABY HOAX

Appeal Immediately Noted; Decision Is Due Today on Bail Application.

(Associated Press.)

Gaston B. Means, former Department of Justice agent, stood again yesterday in the shadow of prison walls.

Sentences of 10 years imprisonment for larceny of $100,000 paid him by Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean to ransom the kidnaped Lindbergh baby and an added five years for larceny of $4,000 "expense money" were pronounced against the jaunty former convict by Justice James M. Proctor.

Means stood with arms akimbo and a grin on his dimpled face as the justice censured him strongly for his "clever and adroit plan."

"The Lindbergh case," Justice Proctor said, before pronouncing judgment, "brought out all the best in the hearts of men, but also gave the opportunity to some to display the weakness and wickedness of human nature.

"The verdict of the jury in this case reveals that the defendant capitalized not only on the sweetest and tenderest emotions of the human heart, but also the basest."

T. Morris Wampler, one of Means' counsel, immediately noted an appeal to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

It will be heard during the October term.

Means, grinning broadly, was led away to the District of Columbia jail where he will remain unless application for bail is accepted. A decision will be made today.

This is the third time in Means' sensational career, which has been a jumble of suits, trials, adventure,

Akron Safe in Hangar After West Coast Trip

Lakehurst, N. J., June 15 (A.P.)—The dirigible Akron was berthed in her hangar tonight after a test flight to the Pacific Coast and back.

As the big ship appeared over the field at 7:10 p. m. (E. S. T.) she was warned of a sudden shift in the wind by smoke bombs sent up by the ground crew. She drifted away again and returned about an hour later, when the task of wheeling her into the hangar was accomplished safely.

FARM RELIEF PLAN KILLED BY SENATE

McNary 3-Way Proposal Is Sent Back to Committee by Vote of 38 to 28.

(Associated Press.)

In a sudden burst of speed, Congress yesterday partly removed a few legislative bowlders from the pathway to adjournment, but rough going still lay ahead.

The Senate disposed of the McNary three-way farm relief plan by referring it back to a committee. The vote was 38 to 28. Leaders believed that killed it for this session.

A floor battle on relief was forecast by decision of Senate Democrats to stand firm on the proposal for a $500,000,000 public works bond issue, to which President Hoover is opposed.

Decision to stand by their bond issue proposal was reached by the special Senate Democratic relief committee, which framed the pending $2,000,000,000 unemployment aid measure.

The committee rejected proposals to eliminate the bond issue section in order to speed consideration of the bill. The result is the issue will be fought on the floor where administration senators plan to seek an agreement removing the public works provision.

Meanwhile, the House apparently was waiting for the Senate to act on relief and it was doubtful whether anything would be done at that end of the Capitol for the present.

Mussolini's Death Plotter to Be Shot

Dancing Girl Companion of Terrorist Given 30-Year Term.

Rome, June 15 (U.P.).—Domenico Bovone, who was said to have confessed to being a professional assassin, was sentenced to death before a firing squad tonight for plotting to kill Premier Benito Mussolini.

Margherita Biaba, a Vienese dancing girl and companion of the professional terrorist, escaped the firing squad but was sentenced to 30 years imprisonment.

Five other defendants, alleged to be members of the terrorist gang which was responsible for many bombings in Italian cities, also were sentenced to 30 years imprisonment each. They were Belloni, Delfini, Enza, Sandri and Meloni.

DEADLOCK BARS SAVING ACCORD IN CONFERENCE

House-Senate Unit Fails to Agree on Pay Cuts or Furloughs.

UPPER CHAMBER'S PLEDGE IS BLAMED

Dropping May Be Asked to Break Impasse; Other Points Agreed Upon.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The Senate may be called on today to release its economy conferees from their pledge to support the President's compulsory Federal furlough plan.

This appeared the only alternative yesterday as members of the joint conference group adjourned in hopeless deadlock over the merits of furloughs as opposed to horizontal pay cuts.

Senator Wesley L. Jones (Republican), Washington, chairman of the conference group, declined to say what course of action he would pursue. He favors pay cuts, but his hands are tied by his promise to stand by the Senate's furlough decision.

Only Disagreement.

Those close to conferees admitted there is no other hope for agreement, unless the differences are reported to both houses and new instructions asked. It was said the conferees have come to a virtual understanding on every other item in the controversial bill.

Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), Utah, who Tuesday told newspapermen conferees were agreed on the furlough plan, issued a denial yesterday. Questioned on the floor of the Senate, he said his published statement was due to a "misunderstanding."

Working in shirt sleeves until late in the afternoon, the eight members of the conference group, after devoting the entire day to the furlough-pay cut issue, decided there was no prospect of settlement without new orders from House or Senate. They adjourned, subject to the call of the chair, probably today.

The three House members are under no instructions from that chamber as to how far they may go. Some of the Senate conferees, however, feel that they are, in view of the Jones pledge. Some of the group believe a settlement could be arrived at with more dispatch if members were given a free hand.

Democratic Chiefs Confer.

Immediately following yesterday's session Representative John McDuffie (Democrat), Alabama, most insistent of the pay-cut advocates, communicated the results of the conference to House Democratic leaders in Speaker John Garner's office.

House Votes Home Loan Banking Bill

Last of Administration's Rehabilitation Proposals Goes to Senate.

(Associated Press.)

The last of the administration's rehabilitation proposals—that to establish a Federal home loan banking system—was passed yesterday by the House and sent to the Senate.

The bill was passed without a record vote and with only a few members on the floor.

The bill would create from eight to twelve home loan banks, capitalized at not less than $5,000,000 each. The Government would be liable—through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation—for subscribing up to $125,000,000 of the capital.

The banks would discount mortgages held by members of the system which would be open to building and loan associations, cooperative banks, homestead associations and savings banks.

Senate Confirms Patton In Federal Attorneyship

Patton was nominated by President Hoover after the Senate refused to confirm Charles A. Jonas, a former Republican member of the House.

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—The text of the administration prohibition plank adopted by the Republican resolutions committee tonight follows:

The Republican party has always stood and stands today for obedience to and enforcement of the law as the very foundation of orderly government and civilization. There can be no national security otherwise.

The duty of the President of the United States and of the officers of the law is clear. The law must be enforced as they find it enacted by the people. To these courses of action we pledge our nominees.

The Republican party is and always has been the party of the Constitution. Nullification by nonobservance by individuals or State action threatens the stability of government.

Methods of Amendment.

While the Constitution makers sought a high degree of permanence, they foresaw the need of changes and provided for them. Article V limits the proposals of amendments to two methods: (1) Two-thirds of both Houses of Congress may propose amendments; or (2) on application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the States a national convention shall be called by Congress to propose amendments. Thereafter ratification must be had in one of two ways: (1) By the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States; or (2) by conventions held in three-fourths of the several States. Congress is given power to determine the mode of ratification.

Referendums without constitutional sanction can not furnish a decisive answer. Those who propose them innocently are deluded by false hopes; those who propose them knowingly are deceiving the people.

Question Distracts Attention.

A Nation-wide controversy over the eighteenth amendment now distracts attention from the constructive solution of many pressing national problems. The principle of national prohibition as embodied in the amendment was supported and opposed by members of both great political parties. It was submitted to the States by members of Congress of different political faiths and ratified by State Legislatures of different political majorities. It was not then and is now not a partisan political question.

Members of the Republican party hold different opinions with respect to it and no public official or member of the party should be pledged or forced to choose between his party affiliations and his honest convictions upon this question.

We do not favor a submission limited to the issue of retention or repeal. For the American Nation never in its history has gone backward, and in this case the progress which has been thus far made must be preserved, while the evils must be eliminated.

New Amendment Proposed.

We, therefore, believe that the people should have an opportunity to pass upon a proposed amendment the provisions of which, while retaining in the Federal Government power to preserve the gains already made in dealing with the evils inherent in the liquor traffic, shall allow States to deal with the problem as their citizens may determine, but subject always to the power of the Federal Government to protect those States where prohibition may exist and safeguard our citizens everywhere from the return of the saloon and attendant abuses.

Such an amendment should be promptly submitted to the States by Congress, to be acted upon by State conventions called for the sole purpose in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the Constitution and adequately safeguarded so as to be truly representative.

Text of Minority Proposal For Repealing Prohibition

Chicago, June 15.—The prohibition plank submitted by Senator Bingham for the minority of the resolutions committee follows:

We recommend that the Congress of the United States immediately propose an amendment to the Federal Constitution repealing the eighteenth amendment thereto; to be submitted to conventions of the people of the several States called for that sole purpose in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the Constitution of the United States.

Should the eighteenth amendment be repealed we pledge our best efforts toward enactment of such measures in the several States as will actually promote temperance, effectively abolish the saloon, whether open or concealed, and bring the liquor traffic itself under complete public supervision and control with revenues properly drawn from legalized sources for the relief of the burdened taxpayers.

District's Delegation Votes Against Repeal

The administration was firmly supported by the District of Columbia delegation on the vote for the minority report for a repeal plank in the Republican platform at the national convention in Chicago last night.

Both of the District's two votes were against the minority report submitted by Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut.

Bank Clerk Faces Theft Charge Here

Peculation of $115,000 Is Laid to Couple Held in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Calif. (Thursday), June 16 (A.P.).—Bernard L. Mann, 26, and his wife, Ruth, 20, were detained here yesterday on a warrant from Washington alleging that Mann, cashier of a Morris Plan Bank in Washington, absconded May 28 with $10,000 and with his books showing a further deficit of $105,000.

Police here were told the two were married at Ellicott City, Md., after leaving Washington and that they purchased an automobile and drove here. They were traced by means of the automobile.

Officials of the Morris Plan Bank here early today refused to comment on the case, but employes said that Mann had formerly worked there. The police department said there was no record on their books of a warrant, but that it could have been obtained from the District Attorney's office without their knowledge.

Hundreds of Chinese Die In Defeat by Japanese

Changchun, Manchuria, June 15 (U.P.).—A Chinese army of 2,000 men under Gen. Wang Te-Lin suffered a crushing defeat in a three-hour attack on Tunmua tonight. The surprise attack was aimed simultaneously at Tunhua, Tuoyatoze and two smaller cities. All were repulsed.

Three hundred dead and 28 wounded Chinese were found on the battlefield at Tuoyaotze. Casualties among Japanese defenders were six dead.

Capital Youth at Harvard Suicide; Slept Through Quiz

George Amory Maddox, jr., 20 years old, son of a Washington attorney, was found dead yesterday from a self-inflicted pistol wound in his dormitory room at Mather Hall, Leverett House, Harvard University, according to Associated Press dispatches. Medical Examiner David C. Dow said that the death was due to suicide, and that Maddox died late Tuesday night.

At the home of his family, 1837 Wyoming avenue northwest, it was said that his death was blamed on the fact that he had slept through a minor examination at Harvard. Members of the family said that the dean of the school of liberal arts had called yesterday advising them of the young man's death.

Maddox appeared at his office Tuesday, the dean was quoted as saying, and asked permission to retake the examination he had missed. He had passed his major examinations, the dean said. Maddox was told that nothing could be done toward completion of the examination until next spring, but the fact that he missed it would not keep him from entering the law school, toward which he had laid his education. He walked from the office. His body was discovered yesterday morning. Maddox was a member of the graduating class of Sidwell Friends School four years ago. His father left Washington yesterday to bring the body to Washington.

The Friends School Quarterly for 1928 described George Amory Maddox,

Rebellious Delegates Seek 'Wet' as Curtis' Successor

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—Rebellious delegates unwilling to renominate Vice President Curtis paused only momentarily today upon learning of Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes' emphatic disavowal of candidacy and then began seeking another name to lay before the convention.

In general, the object of their search was a man younger than Curtis and one of less pronounced dry views. Beyond that, they sought a figure sufficiently prominent and magnetic to solidify behind him the restlessness which is finding its outlet in bucking the administration on the vice presidential issue.

However, all agreed that Curtis sentiment was in the preponderance by far. Curtis opponents, although hopeful of victory, conceded they were fighting an uphill battle in attempting to organize restless elements behind any one man, now that the dynamic and forceful Dawes was out of the running.

Leaders supporting President Hoover in his determination that Curtis again be coupled with him on the party ticket made no secret of the encouragement they drew from Dawes' statement saying in no uncertain terms he would not accept the nomination even though it were offered to him.

Word of the Chicagoan's announcement quickly spread over the convention.

Several delegations immediately climbed onto the Curtis band wagon. For a few hours it seemed the Kan-

MINORITY REPORT SEEKING REPEAL BEATEN ON FLOOR

Plan Provided in Platform Adopted by Acclamation Would Have Congress Promptly Submit Issue to People.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD,
Staff Correspondent of The Post.

Chicago (Thursday), June 16.—President Hoover will be nominated today on a platform favoring submission of a new wet-dry amendment to the Constitution. The platform containing the new prohibition plank was adopted early this morning by the Republican National Convention after a bitter fight over substituting a prohibition repeal recommendation for the administration sponsored plank.

The drys offered no opposition to the plank adopted.

Before adopting the administration plank and the platform as a whole, the convention voted down the minority repeal plank of Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, 681-472.

Fist fights on the floor and uproarious hoodlum demonstrations in the galleries marked the debate on the plank with the repeal forces of Senator Bingham and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler branding the administration plank as "confusing and misleading" —a "hide-and-seek" plank.

Galleries Anger Garfield.

Chairman Garfield's reading of the platform was interrupted by occasional applause, but it was clear that the delegates were saving their steam for the prohibition plank.

"The eighteenth amendment," said Garfield, as he reached that plank.

Cheers and whistling reverberated through the stadium when Garfield read that part of the plank which said prohibition was not a "partisan question." The galleries booed him with gusto. "Repeal," they yelled.

Garfield was flustered and angry. "The delegates will decide this, not the galleries," he said.

The galleries booed him again, whereupon Snell, the presiding officer, demanded that those in the galleries act the part of guests. They booed him, too.

When Garfield asked for adoption of the platform, Chairman Snell interrupted him to allow Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, to present a minority report calling for outright repeal.

"Come Clean," Bingham Asks.

In the Oregon delegation, a repealer grabbed at the State standard and was promptly seized around the neck by a resubmissionist.

Another fight broke out in the Washington State delegation. Policemen rushed in and pulled the combatants apart.

"What I ask for," Bingham said, "is to come clean on this question and not to give the people something that they can't understand."

The tall, white-haired senator,

LIQUOR PLANK STIRS DIVERGENT OPINION

Plan Is Both Criticized and Praised by Members in Congress.

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—The prohibition resubmission plank agreed upon by the Republican platform committee is not satisfactory to Senator Borah, John W. Hart, chairman of the Idaho delegation, said tonight after a telephone conversation with Borah at Washington.

Pennsylvania and New Jersey were the first State delegations to reject in caucuses the plank proposed by the committee.

Splits Ohio Delegation.

The issue split the Ohio delegation. Thirty-eight members favored the majority plank, but fourteen others insisted upon a repeal declaration, despite the urging of Postmaster General Brown and Senator Fess, chairman of the Republican national committee, both native Ohioans.

From leaders of wet organizations there came instant protest. Henry A. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said it was completely unsatisfactory.

Dry leaders held to a previously voiced intention to withhold comment until after both political conventions have adopted their platforms. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, head of Allied Forces for Law Enforcement, observed, however, that he thought the wets had more reason for dissatisfaction with it than did the drys.

Idaho to Vote Bone-Dry.

The Idaho delegation yesterday instructed Stanly A. Easton, of Kellogg, its resolutions committee member, to oppose any proposal for a change of the prohibition law. It decided to cast its eleven votes first against the minority report for repeal and then, as an indication of its bone-dry stand, to vote "no" on the majority plank.

Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, Va., a member of the Wickersham Commission, said the prohibition plank would be accepted very generally "as the best solution of the prohibition problem and will be a large factor in assuring the reelection of President Hoover."

(Associated Press.)

Varied comment—some enthusiastic, some harsh—came from members of Congress last night on the prohibition plank adopted by the resolutions committee of the Republican national convention.

Hearty indorsement came from Senator Watson, Republican leader of the Senate, but some others, both wet and dry, condemned the declaration as a "straddle."

Senator Borah, of Idaho, chief spokesman for the Republican drys, refused temporarily to comment, but indicated the plank was not satisfactory to him. He said he might address the Senate on the subject today.

Democrats showed great interest in the plank, but generally refused to comment.

"You can say I just laughed," Senator Robinson, Democratic leader of the Senate, said.

Some of Comment.

Some of the comment follows:

Watson: "I cordially indorse it. There is more language than necessary, but the substance doesn't vary much from the plank adopted by the Indiana convention."

Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, an antiprohibitionist: "I regard the plank as evasive and ambiguous and a straddle on the whole proposition."

Senator Norris (Republican), Nebraska, a supporter of prohibition: "It is a straddle, but not quite as respectable."

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, coauthor of the eighteenth amendment: "It is impossible on the first reading to tell what that means. I don't care to comment until I have studied it."

Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin), opponent of prohibition: "It's a complicated program. I would assume close study of it would show it doesn't mean anything."

Senator Moses (Republican), New Hampshire, a critic of prohibition: "That's satisfactory to me."

Many of the dry leaders wanted to study the plank before commenting. They included Senators Jones (Republican), Washington; Smoot (Republican), Utah, and Robinson (Republican), Indiana.

Insurgents Resent Attack.

The plank of the resolutions committee condemning party irregularity also drew some sharp retorts from Republican independents.

"That is silly, but characteristic," Senator Borah said.

"What they call party irregularity is refusal to surrender personal convictions to the dictates of the political bosses," said Senator Norris. "They are only making fools of themselves."

"Did they condemn Hoover's irregularity in 1918 and 1920?" Senator Blaine inquired. "I suppose they condemned party irregularity for all time in the past and future."

"I'm guilty," Senator Norbeck, of South Dakota, replied.

"That will be a good section to put in the funeral oration," Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, commented. "The Republican party better get some irregularity all the way through if it wants to win. This regularity has got it into all its trouble."

"That means every one who has voted for the equalization fee or the debenture plan is condemned by the Republican convention," Senator Nye, of North Dakota, said.

and misadventure, that he has been sentenced to prison.

He once drew a two-year sentence and a $10,000 fine for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and for swindling men who paid to get whisky out of bonded warehouses.

Later he received the same penalty when convicted of conspiring to obstruct justice in a case involving the Glass Casket Co., of Altoona, Pa.

His dealings in the kidnaping case were revealed last May 5, when he was arrested for taking the money from Mrs. McLean on a representation that he knew the whereabouts of the kidnaped son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Means explained he "knew more about the kidnaping case than any one," because of contact with a former cellmate in the Atlanta penitentiary.

HOOVER PLANK IS ADOPTED

former college professor, drew applause when he said:

"We enacted prohibition to win the war. Let's now repeal it and beat the depression."

"Come clean," he cried. "All we ask the Republican party to do is to let us vote 'yes' or 'no' on repeal."

"Are you for that?" Bingham asked.

"Yes," answered the repealers.

"No," cried the resubmissionists.

"Let the Democrats do it," a man in the gallery shouted.

"No," Bingham said, "I want my own party to give us that chance."

"No Substitute Offered."

Garfield, son of the martyr President, got no sympathy from the galleries when he decried the endless bickering over prohibition.

The Ohioan said that Bingham and his repeal friends offered no alternative to the eighteenth amendment.

"For two years," Garfield said, "we have asked them what they've to offer in its place. They want us to go back. They want us to go back to a condition of which the younger generation knows nothing."

"Oh," cried the gallery. "Take him out."

"Yes," said Garfield, "I repeat—" The Loop hounds interrupted him again. If he had been a punk prize fighter, he could not have been "razzed" more thoroughly.

"This reminds me," said Garfield, "of conditions of 30 years ago when saloon keepers controlled politics as bootleggers do now."

"Take him out," cried a man in the gallery.

When he could get under way again, Garfield soughs to explain the plank his committee had written.

Dr. Butler Takes Floor.

Garfield left the rostrum amid more boos, and his place was taken by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

"My friend from Ohio," said Butler, "seems to think that this is a question of liquor. It is not. It is a question of government."

The people, Butler said, were crying for a chance to restore the Constitution to its original form.

The New Yorker said that the Hoover plank not only praised the "preposterous" eighteenth amendment, but retained the police power in the Federal Government.

Party honesty, Butler said, was more important than party loyalty.

"Let us prefer courage to hypocrisy," Butler cried, his voice breaking, "let us not play hide and seek with the Constitution."

Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, took the rostrom amid mingled applause and boos.

"The proposal in the minority report," Mills said, "is to give the people their choice between the speakeasy and the saloon and nothing else."

Mills, in arguing for the need of Federal control of the liquor traffic, pointed to the changed conditions.

"Let Us Preserve Gains."

"Let us preserve the gains," he said, "and not return in despair to where we started, twelve or thirteen years ago."

The Butler-Bingham minority plank, Mills said, contained only a promise that the old saloon would not return."

"Our proposal," he said, "guarantees that the old saloon will never be an American institution again."

In an impassioned voice Mills pleaded with the party for harmony. Never since the Civil War, he said, had there been such a need for party solidarity.

The hoodlums in the galleries gave Mills the "bird" as he finished, but the delegates were deeply impressed.

Plank Held Meaningless.

Ambrose Kennedy, of Rhode Island, who followed Mills, defied any of the administration men to explain what the majority report meant.

"The conscience of the people has risen superior to the eighteenth amendment and public opinion has nullified it," declared the Rhode Islander.

Walter S. Fenton, of Vermont, added his voice to those appealing for outright repeal.

James Francis Burke, secretary of the Republican national committee, said it was a pity that the liquor controversy should obscure the constructive record of President Hoover.

"When Dr. Butler says that the Republican party is afraid to face the issue," said Burke, "he is laboring under an intellectual delusion."

Fist Fights on Floor.

With a plank calling for a new dry-wet prohibition amendment before it, the Republican national convention this morning was embroiled in one of the most bitter quarrels in its history.

Fist fights on the floor and uproarous hoodlum demonstrations in the galleries marked the debate on the prohibition plank.

The new or twentieth amendment as outlined by the resolutions committee, would permit States to be wet or dry as they choose, but would retain in Congress the power to regulate the liquor traffic and to give Federal protection to States electing to remain dry.

The plank provides that the new twentieth amendment be submitted to special State convention called for the purpose rather than to State Legislatures.

While the plank represents the voice of the Republican party in convention assembled, it does not attempt to pledge or bind individual Republicans in Congress or elsewhere in the Government to support the proposed substitute amendment. In fact, it specifically excuses them, saying officials should not "be forced to choose between his party affiliations and his honest convictions upon this question."

Regarded Sop to Borah.

This was regarded as a sop to Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho. The prohibition plank, fruit of days and nights of conferences here and interchanges between here and the White House, was made public shortly after 6 o'clock this evening at a final meeting of the resolutions or platform committee.

Oscar F. Nelson, of Illinois, speaking for the minority report warned the party that if it failed to adopt a frank repeal plank it would lose the confidence of organized labor.

J. A. Nelson, of Iowa, spoke against the minority plank, and was roundly jeered.

The next orator, former Gov. Fred Green, of Michigan, was cheered a moment later when he announced that a majority of his delegation favored repeal.

Vote on Bingham Plank Begins.

Senator Bingham, in a brief summing up, said that the administration plank was ridiculous in that it advocated States' rights and at the same time proposed Federal control over the States that choose to go wet.

At 12:55 Chairman Snell called for a vote on the Bingham minority report.

Alabama cast 19 votes solid against repeal. Arizona surprisingly voted for repeal.

When Florida voted 16 "aye" the galleries stamped and cheered.

Maryland's 19 voted "no." Perry Howard's colored delegates voted "aye" and won an accolade.

Before the balloting was half over it was evident that the repeal plank would be defeated and the administration plank accepted.

Despite the plea of Ogden Mills, the New York delegation voted 76 to 21 for repeal.

The convention voted down the Bingham repeal plank, and the way was cleared for acceptance of the administration plank.

Bingham's objection to the plank reported to the convention by the resolutions committee was based not only on it's failure to advocate repeal of the eighteenth amendment, but on its provision for continued Federal interference in States electing to rid themselves of prohibition.

Burke Reveals Proposal.

That was the principal argument against the Anderson plan, embodied in the celebrated Wickersham report, a plan which President Hoover heartily condemned. It was contended at the time that giving Congress power to regulate the liquor traffic would lead to all kinds of abuses, and would result in keeping liquor alive as a political issue.

When James Francis Burke, wiry little secretary of the Republican committee, emerged from the Florentine room of the Congress Hotel bearing the prohibition plank, he found 200 reporters surging outside, eagerly awaiting the text.

"Here it is," Burke sang out. "I will read it to you."

"The Republican party," Burke began, as he followed the text, "has always stood and stands today for obedience to and enforcement of the law as the very foundation of orderly government and civilization."

Looking up, Burke saw that the reporters had not made a single note. They were waiting for the "meat" in the plank.

Text of Proposed Plank.

"What you want is in the last two paragraphs," Burke said, grinning.

He then went on to read hurriedly. There was no such thing as a referendum; the Constitution could only be changed by Congress, through a two-thirds vote, submitting an amendment to the States and by three-fourths or 36 States ratifying it; repeal of the eighteenth amendment would send the Nation backward; the progress achieved by the eighteenth amendment must be preserved and the evils eliminated.

"We, therefore," said Burke reading the meaty part of the plank, "believe that the people should have an opportunity to pass upon a proposed amendment the provision of which, while retaining in the Federal Government power to preserve the gains already made in dealing with the evils inherent in the liquor traffic, shall allow States to deal with the problem as their citizens may determine, but subject always to the power of the Federal Government to protect those States where prohibition may exist and safeguard our citizens everywhere from the return of the saloon and attendant abuses.

"Such an amendment should be promptly submitted to the States by Congress, to be acted upon by State conventions called for the sole purpose in accordance with the provisions of Article V of the Constitution, and adequately safeguarded so as to be truly representative."

When Burke had finished reading, Representative Bertrand G. Snell, of New York, permanent chairman of the convention, announced that the convention would meet at 9 o'clock to consider the prohibition plank and all other planks in the platform.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, leader of the Allied Prohibition Forces, came up just as the plank was being given out.

"What do you think about it?" he was asked.

"Well," he said, smiling, "we feel better about it than does Senator Bingham."

Generally the policy of the professional drys was to withhold comment until after the Democrats have adopted their liquor plank two weeks hence.

The prohibition plank, the only one in the entire platform that the great mass of delegates was interested in, was whipped into its final form at a long drawn out and noisy meeting in the Florentine room of the Congress Hotel. It was in this same room that the Bull Moose faction of the Republican party held its rump convention in 1912 and nominated Teddy Roosevelt for President, thereby splitting the party and paving the way for the election of a Democrat, Woodrow Wilson.

Actually the drafting of the plank began Monday night at a secret meeting in the Chicago Athletic Club. Among those present were James R. Garfield, of Ohio, chairman of the resolutions committee; Postmaster General Walter Brown, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Walter Newton, secretary to President Hoover; former Senator Henry Allen, of Kansas; James F. Burke, secretary of the Republican national committee; Larry Richey, another White House secretary, and Ray Benjamin, the President's political scout.

Yesterday the plank, in its rough State, was turned over to the resolutions committee, consisting of a delegate from each of the States and Territories and the District of Columbia.

Then a subcommittee of fifteen was selected to consider the plank and report back to the full committee later. The fact that Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, an ardent advocate of outright repeal was denied a place on this subcommittee, presaged a plank opposed to repeal.

Second Session Snappier.

The subcommittee worked all night in the Florentine Room, eliminating words and phrases and occasionally recasting whole paragraphs. Then this afternoon the full resolutions committee perfected the final draft of the plank. Copies of it were given to the press at 6 o'clock.

Copies also were given to the various State delegations so that they might caucus and consider it before the night session beginning at 8 o'clock.

The second session of the Republican convention, opening shortly before noon in the late Paddy Harmon's huge sports arena, was far from the lethargic session of the day before. Somehow the band tunes seemed snappier, the gavel raps sharper, and the delegates more eager.

Political parties, anxious to please all religious faiths, alternate their chaplains. Yesterday's opening prayer was offered by Bishop James E. Freeman, of Washington. Today's was intoned by the Rev. Thomas F. Bona, a Catholic priest, of Chicago.

Part of Snell's Address At Republican Convention

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—A portion of the text of the address by Representative Bertrand H. Snell, permanent chairman of the Republican national convention, to its delegates follows:

Victory has come to the Republican party because victory has been earned.

The Nation has been safe when the Republican party has been in control of the Government. It has never been safe when Republicans were not on guard.

Everywhere, outside of the Republican party, is confusion and chaos. The only sound and united public sentiment of the United States is represented in this convention.

The Democratic party is fatally weak because it does not command the support or confidence of the Nation and because it is utterly lacking in teamwork.

The Democrats have a minority complex which they can not change. As a fault-finding, cavilling minority opposition they are 100 per cent perfect. As a driving, constructive majority they are a 100 per cent failure.

Evidence of Failure.

As proof of this I need not recall to your mind the false gods they have pursued for over a century; the panaceas they have proposed and a wise people have rejected. Events of the past five months furnish abundant evidence of their failure.

Accepting their promises at face value, the country placed them in charge of the House of Representatives. They had assured the Nation that if given this power they would restore economic equilibrium. This much must be stated to their credit: As long as they followed the leadership of the one man in America who has furnished leadership in this great crisis—Herbert Hoover—they functioned in splendid fashion.

But when they set out to carry forward their own program they exhibited colossal incapacity, hopeless division and disintegration, with the result that there was a complete collapse of their party machinery.

As tragic as is the breakdown of a great political party, had the party alone suffered the situation would not have been so bad, but it was the country, the whole people of these United States, who suffered.

With this record behind it in this grave hour of national distress, the Democratic party is about to ask the country to accept a candidate whose identity is still unknown, standing upon a platform whose planks will probably contradict themselves. The Nation is to be asked to accept confusion as a national policy and disorder as a rule of government.

The Democratic party has as many wings as it has candidates, and certainly its candidates are legion. These wings do not flap together, they flap against each other.

Stresses Solidarity.

My countrymen, the solidarity of the Republican party in this crisis means the salvation of the United States.

If this country is to be governed with judgment and prudence, the Republican party must do the job.

Call the roll of Presidents from Lincoln to Hoover. The illustrious names of Republican Presidents are an epitome of the history of the United States.

In Lincoln's day the people stood loyally by their President, who brought them out of the shadow of disunion. In Hoover's day the people stand loyally by their President, who is bringing the country out of the shadow of vast economic adversity.

No man living or dead has had to grapple with such gigantic problems at home and abroad.

No man living or dead has fought world-wide economic adversity with so stout a heart and so deep an understanding.

We hold that a protective tariff is necessary for the common defense. The Democratic party refuses to provide this protection, although I could name Democrats by the score who eagerly seek such protection on the sly for their own States and districts, while denying it to the Nation at large.

The tariff was revised by the Republican party just in time to avert a catastrophe. This tariff law has been the bulwark of the common defense against world-wide depression. But for that law the United States would have been inundated with foreign imports and vast additional numbers of our workers would have been unemployed.

Washington was an engineer, solving stupendous and vexatious problems for the benefit of mankind.

War of Defense.

President Hoover's mind is the mind of an engineer. He first gets his facts and then he acts. No engineer has attained success by deciding his problems on a basis of expedience. Equivocation is directly contrary to the fundamentals of the profession.

We are now engaged in a war of defense. We are fighting under the leadership of the most capable citizen in the United States. Already he has gained many battles, and the victorious end of the war is nearly in sight.

Our enemy is the invisible but ghastly pestilence of world-wide economic depression. It is the ghost of the World War, stalking over the earth. It is the reaper that gathers the harvest of 10,000,000 lives and the destruction of $10,000,000,000 of hard-earned wealth.

In its present gigantic form this is a new enemy, and our people have been mystified and terrified in trying to defend themselves. Fortunately, our President was well prepared for the task of generalship in fighting off this enemy.

Cites Achievements.

You know the record. You know the battles he has already won.

He solidified labor and capital against the enemy.

He avoided the deadly pit of the dole.

He rescued the drought victims.

He beat off the attacks upon railroads, agriculture, banks and public securities.

He mobilized the Nation's financial resources.

He warded off the stealthy approach of panic by way of Germany.

He preserved the integrity of the gold standard.

He had the manhood and courage to tell the people that their Government's revenues were depleted and must be replenished.

He fought and won the battle of the budget, by resolutely lopping off extravagance and by instituting severe economies.

Forward to victory.

Mentioned as Running Mate of Hoover; Will Probably Head Jersey G. O. P.

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—Ambassador Walter E. Edge plans to resign his Paris post next March 4 and does not intend to accept reappointment in the event of Republican victory at the polls this fall.

Although some members of the Jersey delegation think he would accept if chosen as President Hoover's running mate, Edge indicated he felt that because of his family he should devote himself to the care of his personal fortune, depreciated along with many others by the depression.

"I have four children," he said, "and they have spent four years abroad. They should be educated as Americans and not as foreigners. In addition, I have a responsibility toward my family."

While planning to retire from public life, there is little expectation that he will quit politics. He will probably resume directorship of his party in New Jersey, leaderless since the defeat last fall of David Baird, candidate for governor. Edge was a member of the Senate from New Jersey at the time of his appointment as Ambassador to France.

Edge last night presented to the resolutions committee of the Republican national convention the prohibition revision plank prepared by him and adopted by the State delegation. He also pleaded with the committee to recommend immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize light wine and beer.

Ambassador Edge, although mentioned for the vice presidential post, has stated he favored Charles Curtis. Other members, however, have said they were against Curtis.

In addition to the ambassador, Charles G. Dawes and Secretary Hurley have been mentioned as possible choices of most of the Jerseyites.

PLATFORM AFFIRMS OLD G. O. P. TENETS

Dry Law Liberalization and President's Record Chief Claims for Votes.

Chicago, June 15 (U.P.).—President Hoover will stand for reelection on a platform, militant in tone, which bases its case with the voters on a liberalization of the eighteenth amendment and on the record of the Chief Executive in meeting the depression.

Other than its proposal for a modified eighteenth amendment which would let States handle the prohibition problem for themselves, under the protection and control of the Federal Government, the platform of the party rests generally on the known tenets of the Republican party. But the declaration of principles completed tonight after an arduous and tedious struggle contrast with previous recent Republican platforms in its definitations of the broadened policies, domestic and foreign, for which the present occupant of the White House has been responsible.

In a lengthy foreword, the platform extols the leadership of Mr. Hoover, a thread that runs through all of its 9,000 words, and then, after denouncing the Democratic party for "failure" in its test of rule in the House, it sounds out this challenge:

"The Republican party faces the future unafraid!"

Pledged to Relieve Distress.

The platform pledges the party "to do all in its power that is humanly possible to see that distress is fully relieved in accordance with American principles and traditions."

Indorsing the President's proposal for $300,000,000 in relief loans to the States, the platform adds it "is opposed to the Federal Government entering directly into the field of private charity and direct relief to the individual."

President Hoover's reconstruction financial relief program, culminating in the now pending proposal to extend loans of "self-liquidating" projects in towns and municipalities, was commended.

With strong words, the platform in a section on "The Dollar" urged maintenance of the gold standard and condemned any inflationary measures which would "undermine the Government's credit or impair the integrity of our national currency."

The party yielded, however, to the silverites by espousing an international conference for the stabilization of silver, but without suggesting, as the silver advocates have pleaded, that President Hoover take the initiative.

Silver Conference Indorsed.

"We favor," it reads, "the participation by the United States in an international conference to consider matters relating to monetary questions, including the position of silver, exchange problems and commodity prices, and possible cooperative action concerning them."

For relief of the farmer, the platform offers its support to any plan for balancing production that is "economy sound," but without committing itself to either the equalization fee or the debenture plan indorsed by the big farm organizations. Neither is mentioned.

Compensation and care for veterans incapacitated by service or illness contracted from service is pledged by the platform, which also points out the Government has accepted as its obligation in some cases the care of those whose disabilities were not directly incurred in service.

But it says not a word about the soldier bonus bill, which passed the House today and soon will go before the Senate.

The party repledges itself to entrance into the World Court, which three Republican Presidents have been unable to wring from an apathetic Senate, but very carefully warns against any alliance abroad without mentioning the name of the League of Nations.

Control of Utility Companies.

In the field of public utilities the party took an advance position by advocating regulation of interstate power transmission by the Federal Power Commission, a reform long sought by the multimillionaire Senator James Couzens, Michigan.

Enactment of "rigid penal laws" to aid States in stamping out "the activities of gangsters, racketeers and kidnapers" was recommended. Every effort was pledged in "the present relentless warfare against the illicit narcotic traffic."

The traditional friendship for the Negro is restated.

The platform writers severely criticized Democrats, saying that "a bewildered electorate has viewed the spectacle" of Democratic leadership in the House "with profound dismay and deep misgivings."

They struck directly at Speaker of the House John N. Garner, of Texas, himself a presidential hopeful, by references to "pork barrel" legislation, the term which Mr. Hoover applied to the Speaker's billion-dollar construction bill, which would have sprinkled new postoffice buildings in towns and hamlets throughout the land.

District Delegates Start Big Hoover Demonstration

Are First to Rise and Begin Cheering March After Snell's Shouted Tribute to President; California Bear Flag at Head.

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—Still refraining from resort to horns, rattles, bands or other noise-making implements that play so large a part in convention demonstrations, the Republicans sent a loyal clamor over the radio toward Washington today that must have pleased President Hoover if he was listening in.

The mention of his name in the gruff, hearty tones of Representative Bertrand H. Snell, of New York, House leader for his party at Washington and permanent chairman of the convention here, set off the vocal fireworks. Mr. Snell clearly expected it, had prepared for it, but that was about all the prearranged stage business there was.

This first real Hoover demonstration of the convention that is expected to fenominate him for the Presidency—for yesterday's response to Temporary Chairman Dickinson's first mention of the President by name was no more than the greeting any nonpartisan gathering might have accorded any President—was slow getting going.

The District of Columbia delegation, well back in the center of the hall, was first to rise after a few cheers and shouts quickly responded to Snell's shouted tribute to the President. In a moment, however, delegates and alternates were getting to their feet all over the hall.

Gov. Rolph of California, from his front row seat, unfurled again the State bear flag that has specially marked the group from Mr. Hoover's home State from the start. It is the only emblem of any kind in the hall besides the formal decorations and Rolph waved it overhead as the cheering increased. The big Legion band and the mighty organ remained silent.

The first move to parade State standards and make this more of the sort of thing to which national conventions are so accustomed, came from the Texas group. The Texas standard lifted and started a jerky journey down the aisle with most delegations falling in behind as it passed.

Then Rolph headed off with the bear flag, followed by the California standard, down another aisle and the first march of the States in this twentieth Republican national convention was on.

Around and around they moved in slow parade until most of the Californians stopped at their own front benches to begin chanting a "Put Him Back in the White House" Hoover song of their own.

The organist sought to catch the tune and help out. The tones of his big instrument muttered uncertainly before he fell in line, then he was off and the parades had music to march by. Here and there a State standard was slow to get going, like Illinois. But reregularized Wisconsin, for example was among the first to join up.

Cheers greeted the appearance on the speaker's bridge rail of the Wisconsin standard. A rush of those from other States where party irregularity is in vogue, from North Dakota and Minnesota, followed. An enthusiastic Texas alternate pushed up the special standard of that group of official onlookers, marked with a big "D" as a seating guide.

Snell, Senator Fess and other convention officials stood smiling down on the show under the hot glare of the lights.

Now and then they reached to lift another standard to the rail, but it was a long stretch and they did not keep at it.

Within a quarter hour or so Snell was putting his sturdy shoulders behind his gavel, thumping to cut off the noise and get back to his business of giving Democratic party foes the most vigorous verbal lambasting they have yet come in for at this convention.

And that was about all there was to that, forerunner as it might be of the greeting his party colleagues are certain to give Mr. Hoover when his nomination is made.

a revolver through a slide in the door. Two others went to the kitchen and forced Keeper George Mossley to give them the jail keys. With the keys they unlocked a large cell and made the keeper, the trustee and all other visitors enter. Next they released Pierson and Tilden.

Their hurried exit from the jail attracted attention of a number of persons who notified the sheriff's office. Mossley and the others locked up with him were released and the pursuit started.

The five who did not figure in the rescue today were Clarence Goss, assistant chief of police of Streator; George Knotz, Streator policeman; Al Brown, alias Abe Rotzkoff, Chicago; Joe Cusmano, Streator, and Frank Cingrani, Streator.

The bank robbery plot was said to have been hatched by Cusmano and Cingrani with the consent of the two Streator policemen. The others were supposed to have been brought into the robbery by Cusmano, who is said to have suggested it would be well to have several Chicago hoodlums as associates. Finger print evidence led to the arrest of several members of the gang, who confessed and implicated the others.

DAWES SHUTS DOOR TO PLACE ON TICKET

(Associated Press.)

Charles Gates Dawes, longtime public servant, yesterday shut the door in the face of demands from Chicago that he run again for Vice President and at the same time he relinquished the presidency of the gigantic Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Dawes plans to leave for his Chicago home tomorrow to pick up again the many business connections he has neglected, except for fleeting intervals, since the United States entered the World War fifteen years ago.

In a statement dictated personally by telephone to the Associated Press, Dawes said:

"The situation in the convention as to the vice presidential nomination, as reported by the press this morning, would seem to call for a more explicit statement of my attitude. To have been considered for this nomination is a high honor and I appreciate the proffers of support. I have given the question considerable thought. I could not accept the nomination if made."

Dawes, who resigned as Ambassador to Great Britain to head the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, turned aside the Vice Presidency in his characteristic blunt manner.

He had followed with deep interest the continued flow of reports from Chicago of a growing movement to replace Vice President Curtis on the Republican ticket with him.

The former Vice President had previously denied he was a candidate for the position. He felt that yesterday's statement would put at rest all reports he would accept the post.

san would have a clear path to the renomination. Then leaders of the opposition began looking for favorite sons.

New Jersey talked of proposing Walter E. Edge, former Senator and now Ambassador to France. Missouri got behind Gov. Henry S. Caulfield. Maj. Gen. James W. Harbord, retired, and Hanford MacNider, of Iowa, also were discussed. Massachusetts considered former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller.

Texas, Iowa, and then the big Illinois delegation indorsed Dawes before his statement was received from Washington. The financier's withdrawal left them uncertain what course they would follow, although indications were they would cast their votes for some other favorite son.

The Dawes withdrawal, too, revived mention of Secretary Hurley. He, however, reiterated his refusal to be considered and renewed his statement that he and the administration as a whole were solidly behind Curtis.

Manila, June 15 (A.P.).—Commenting on reports from Chicago he was being considered as a possible "dark horse" candidate for Republican Vice President, Governor General Theodore Roosevelt said today: "I am not a candidate."

Roosevelt recalled he said at Washington, before sailing for Manila to take over his new duties as Governor General of the Philippines, he favored Secretary of War Hurley for the office.

DEVELOPMENTS IN BONUS ARMY'S INVASION

Underwood & Underwood.

HOUSE PASSES BONUS BILL

cials of the bonus hosts claimed 950 more arrivals from Brooklyn, N. Y., and various Pennsylvania points. Police early last night would not confirm this addition, but the veterans claimed they had arrived and were billeted at Camp Bartlett, Twenty-third street and Alabama avenue southeast, swelling the contingent there to 2,000 men.

Gen. Glassford conferred with Brig. Gen. S. Gardner Waller, adjutant of Virginia, in regard to the evacuated veterans who were carried into that State by the truck furnished by the police department. Three truckloads of men were taken as far as Fredericksburg yesterday afternoon.

Not to Force Evacuation.

Brig. Gen. Glassford, superintendent of police, said that though he remains "the friendly enemy" of the bonus marchers, that as far as he can see there will never be any attempted evacuation the veteran army by force or any other form of coercion that might be construed as violating their rights.

The plan of the police head to lure the veterans back to their homes is progressing, he said. While he would not divulge its details he said that if adopted by the proper authorities it would result in a concerted and gladsome evacuation of this city by the veterans. He said that his plan would provide a lure at home for the men that would quickly end their desire to stay here, if later they are still here.

Veteran leaders denied last night that Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee for President, would address the marchers at the Anacostia camp this afternoon.

Last night Mr. Thomas spoke at the Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest, under auspices of a local Socialist group. The bonus leaders said that no veterans attended his address. A few men who appeared to be members of the group were in the audience.

Seeks Veteran Support.

Mr. Thomas said that he was opposed to bonus legislation for veterans who were employed, but that he favored a general bonus measure for the relief of unemployment. His visit to Washington, he said, was to gain veteran support for general relief legislation.

He condemned the Republican and Democratic plans to combat the economic conditions on the grounds that they were inadequate. A $5,000,000,000 bond issue to be distributed in the various cities and municipalities throughout the country for the construction of buildings to be owned by the State, as well as a reforestation program was the plan he advocated.

Meanwhile legislative leaders of the veterans last night ordered an orderly onslaught by State delegations upon their respective senators. Groups will begin this morning to appear at the offices of senators and their urgings for passage of the House bonus bill presented.

Some Private in Bonus Army to Get Blanket

The rain had ceased beating against the windows of the bonus army national headquarters at 732 Eleventh street southeast last night.

The kindly voice of an elderly woman was heard to say:

"I know there's at least one poor boy who can use this blanket on a night like tonight. Won't you see that he gets it. I want it to be a young man who does, though, and one who was a private who fought overseas."

The comfortable woolen coverlet was quickly accepted and the woman, reemphasizing that the blanket go to a "private," went her way, unidentified.

Late yesterday afternoon a long stride was taken by police and civil authorities here to preserve sanitation and other health conditions in the camps. Announcement was made of the putting into operation of a unified medical system by which all ailments of veterans, both minor and major, can be quickly attended to.

First aid stations will be established with equipment and personnel at the six major veteran camps. Camps Marks, Anacostia; Bartlett, Twenty-third street and Alabama avenue southeast; billet at Eighth and I streets southeast; billet at Twelfth and D streets southwest; billet at Pennsylvania avenue and John Marshall place northwest, and Camp Simms. All minor ailments will be treated at the camp first aid units.

A central dispensary under the supervision of Col. Edgar A. Bocock, head of Gallinger Municipal Hospital, will be established at the clinic pavilion there. Cases indicating treatment not available at the first aid units will be transported to this clinic. Serious and emergency cases will be taken care of at local and veterans hospitals under the direction of Col. Bocock, who will make the arrangements.

First Aid Stations.

The first aid stations at the camps and billets will be operated by veterans of hospital experience, assisted by such members of the medical profession in Washington as may volunteer their services. Personnel for the central dispensary is to be furnished by Col. Bocock who will be assisted by policemen trained in first aid work.

An interne from Gallinger Hospital will make a daily inspection of the operation of all first aid stations and will keep them provided with necessary medical supplies. Sanitary inspections of camps and billets will be under the supervision of Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer. It is understood that the Veterans' Administration has made available also a quantity of medical supplies.

Early improvement of sanitation facilities at Camp Marks, Anacostia, where the largest percentage of the veterans are quartered, is expected with the beginning of work yesterday on connection of a temporary sewer main. Discovery of an old connection not far from the camp has facilitated this work.

Fears that long spells of warm or rainy weather would develop the Anacostia camp into a cesspool of disease have been somewhat alleviated by the work on the sewerage arrangements and the improvement of the medical care of the bonus army.

Solicitation Banned.

A communique issued by the executive committee of the veterans last night from the general headquarters of the army at 730 Eleventh street southeast, claimed food and other supplies on hand to last the men for three more days. Further supplies were reported on the way and more were solicited. However, it was stated on behalf of Gen. W. W. Waters that personal solicitations by the veterans were banned and that all money should be sent to Gen. Glassford and all food and clothing to the army commissary at 654 Pennsylvania avenue southeast.

The final vote in the House yesterday on the Patman bill was speeded along by the desire of Tennessee members to leave at 4 o'clock with the Eslick funeral train. Two hours of general debate were cut from the time allotted therefor, but it was generally agreed that furthr talk would effect not one vote.

Representative Ragon (Democrat), Arkansas, moved to dispense with the two hours remaining debate. He said that he thought that it would be a fitting tribute to the late Representative Eslick that all debate should end with his remarks on the bonus measure.

In the time alloted for presentation of proposed amendments, two bids were made to attach a beer-for-revenue section. These were made by Representatives Cochran, Missouri, and Kleberg, Texas, both Democrats. Both were thrown out on parliamentary decision from the Chair that they were not in order. Points of order to the latter effect had been made by Representatives Blanton and Rankin, Texas and Mississippi, both Democrats, the latter of whom is an ardent dry and the former a stanch bonus supporter.

Baskets in which persons may place food and other donations for the army will be in Sanitary, Atlantic & Pacific and possibly other chain grocery stores today.

VICTORY OF BLACK CONCEDED BY KILBY

Senator Boosts His Total to 94,406, to 67,829 for Foe; Allgood Is Leading.

Montgomery, Ala., June 15 (A.P.).—The nomination of Senator Hugo Black for reelection was conceded today by former Gov. Thomas E. Kilby, his opponent in yesterday's Democratic primary, the latest count of ballots from 1,815 boxes out of 2,136 giving Black 94,406 and Kilby 67,829.

In the Fifth District congressional race, Representative Miles B. Allgood led Representative Lafayette L. Patterson by 189 votes on returns from 226 boxes out of 245 in the district. The count stood:

Allgood, 9,298; Patterson, 9,140.

Additional returns only served to increase Senator Black's majority.

Both he and his opponent favor a referendum on the eighteenth amendment. Kilby made known his views early in the campaign, but Senator Black did not declare publicly for a referendum until after he failed to gain a majority in the first primary May 3 and was forced into the run-off.

Representative Allgood formerly represented the old Seventh District, but it was merged with the new Fifth District through the reapportionment as a consequence of the last census.

Mrs. A. Y. Malone, of Dotham, held a lead today in the race for Democratic national committeewoman. The count from 1,502 boxes gave her 57,292, and Mrs. J. E. Frazier, of Birmingham, 7,706.

Tribute Paid Eslick By Members of House

(Associated Press.)

The House yesterday paid tribute to Representative Eslick, who fell dead Tuesday on the floor.

As Acting Speaker Rainey called the House to order, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain, said in his prayer:

"We mourn our loss. Oh, bathe the sorrowing ones in the golden light of heavenly love and reconciliation."

Rainey then appointed the following funeral delegation of eighteen House members to accompany the body to Tennessee:

HOOVER APPROVES PROHIBITION PLANK

President Listens on Phone to Delegates' Reception of Proposed Plan.

(Associated Press.)

The prohibition plank placed last night before the Chicago convention, calling for an immediate submission to the Nation of a new amendment to replace the eighteenth amendment, carries the full approval of President Hoover.

Although the White House maintained a rigid silence on the proposed plan, it was learned on high authority that its principles coincide with the views of Mr. Hoover.

The Chief Executive himself listened intently by radio and telephone during the evening to the proposed plank's reception by the Chicago delegates.

Obviously, however, it was his intention to remain entirely aloof from the Chicago prohibition fight, with the only chance of his entering the arena being an uncontrollable stampede at the convention. There was no certainty that he would enter even then.

When asked specifically last night whether President Hoover would have anything to say upon the action taken at Chicago, Theodore Joslin, the only member of the regular White House secretariat remaining in the Capital, replied:

"You can say there will be no comment from the White House."

In other authoritative quarters, however, it was made entirely plain that the Chief Executive was pleased at the action of the resolutions committee in reporting out the resubmission plank.

He had let it be known that he was flatly opposed to any outright repeal plank being placed in the Republican platform, and had stated his ideas on resubmission—similar to those adopted by the resolutions committee—to the members of his Cabinet before the convention.

Seven of these, in addition to two of his secretaries, were active in Chicago in behalf of the resubmission principle.

Replogle Halts Support For Self, Backing Dawes

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—J. Leonard Replogle "boomed" by the Florida delegation for Vice President, told the Georgia delegation today he favored nomination of Dawes. He will ask that his own name not be placed in nomination unless the Vice Presidential nomination develops into a wide open field and he has evidence of support from some other State, Replogle said.

Republicans Chase Wolf From Convention Door

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—The wolf barked at the door of the Republican national convention today, but it was soon chased away. Sidney Strotz, general manager of the stadium, had said "the Republicans won't have any hall tomorrow unless they pay up $8,500 due on construction."

The Republican management quickly assured Mr. Strotz the obligation would be met, and later the stadium executive said it was "all a misunderstanding."

Smith Expresses Hope For 2-Day Convention

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith in reply to questions today about the political situation, said:

"The political picture is in the making in Chicago. After it is completed I may comment on it."

Smith said he would leave for Chicago next Tuesday. He is a delegate to the Democratic national convention. He expressed the hope that the convention would not last more than two days.

Text of Republican Platform Submitted to Convention by Committee

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—The Republican platform declarations submitted to the convention follow:

INTRODUCTION.

We, the representatives of the Republican party, in convention assembled, renew our pledge to the principles and traditions of our party and dedicate it anew to the service of the Nation.

We meet in a period of widespread distress and of an economic depression that has swept the world. The emergency is second only to that of a great war. The human suffering occasioned may well exceed that of a period of actual conflict.

The supremely important problem that challenges our citizens and Government alike is to break the back of the depression, to restore the economic life of the Nation and to bring encouragement and relief to the thousands of American families that are sorely afflicted.

The people themselves, by their own courage, their own patient and resolute effort in the readjustments of their own affairs, can and will work out the cure. It is our task as a party, by leadership and a wise determination of policy, to assist that recovery.

To that task we pledge all that our party possesses in capacity, leadership, resourcefulness and ability. Republicans collectively and individually in Nation and State hereby enlist in a war which will not end until the promise of American life is once more fulfilled.

World Wide Depression Cited.

"For nearly three years the world has endured an economic depression of unparalleled extent and severity. The patience and courage of our people have been severely tested, but their faith in themselves, in their institutions, and in their future remains unshaken. When victory comes, as it will, this generation will hand on to the next a great heritage unimpaired.

"This will be due in large measure to the quality of the leadership that this country has had during this crisis. We have had in the White House a leader—wise, courageous, patient, resourceful, ever-present at his post of duty, tireless in his efforts, and unswervingly faithful to American principles and ideals.

At the outset of the depression, when no man could foresee its depth and extent, the President succeeded in averting much distress by securing agreement between industry and labor to maintain wages and by stimulating programs of private and governmental construction. Throughout the depression unemployment has been limited by the systematic use of part-time employment as a substitute for the general discharge of employes. Wage scales have not been reduced except under compelling necessity. As a result there have been fewer strikes and less social disturbance than during any similar period of hard times.

Drought Scourge Mitigated.

The suffering and want occasioned by the great drought of 1930 were mitigated by the prompt mobilization of the resources of the Red Cross and of the Government. During the trying winters of 1930-31 and 1931-32, a Nation-wide organization to relieve distress was brought into being under the leadership of the President. By the spring of 1931 the possibility of a business upturn in the United States was clearly discernible when, suddenly, a train of events was set in motion in central Europe which moved forward with extraordinary rapidity and violence, threatening the credit structure of the world, and eventually dealing a serious blow to this country.

The President foresaw the danger. He sought to avert it by proposing a suspension of intergovernmental debt payments for one year, with the purpose of relieving the pressure at the point of greatest intensity. But the credit machinery of the nations of central Europe could not stand the strain, and the forces of disintegration continued to gain momentum until in September Great Britain was forced to depart from the gold standard. This momentous event, followed by a tremendous raid on the dollar, resulted in a series of bank suspensions in this country and the hoarding of currency on a large scale.

President Acts Again.

Again the President acted. Under his leadership the National Credit Association came into being. It mobilized our banking resources, saved scores of banks from failure, helped restore confidence, and proved of inestimable value in strengthening the credit structure.

By the time the Congress met, the character of our problems was clearer than ever. In his message to Congress, the President outlined a constructive and definite program which in the main has been carried out; other portions may yet be carried out.

The Railroad Credit Corporation was created. The capital of the Federal Reserve land banks was increased. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation came into being, and brought protection to millions of depositors, policy holders and others.

Legislation was enacted enlarging the discount facilities of the Federal Reserve system; and, without reducing the legal reserves of the Federal Reserve Banks, releasing a billion dollars of gold, a formidable protection against raids on the dollar, and a greatly enlarged basis for an expansion of credit.

An earlier distribution to depositors in closed banks has been brought about through the action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Above all, the national credit has been placed in an impregnable position by provision for adequate revenue and a program of drastic curtailment of expenditures. All of these measures were designed to lay a foundation for the resumption of business and increased employment.

Supplements Original Program.

But delay and the constant introduction and consideration of new and unsound measures has kept the country in a state of uncertainty and fear, and offset much of the good otherwise accomplished.

The President has recently supplemented his original program. To provide for distress, to stimulate the revival of business and employment, and to improve the agricultural situation, he recommended extending the authority of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to enable it:

(a) To make loans to political subdivisions of public bodies or private corporations for the purpose of starting construction of income-producing or self-liquidating projects which will at once increase employment;

(b) To make loans upon security of agricultural commodities so as to insure the carrying of normal stocks of those commodities, and thus stabilize their loan value and price levels;

(c) To make loans to the Federal Farm Board to enable extension of loans to farm cooperatives and loans for export of agricultural commodities to quarters unable otherwise to purchase them;

(d) To loan up to $300,000,000 to such States as are unable to meet the calls made on them by their citizens for distress relief.

No Danger to Budget.

"The President's program contemplates an attack on a broad front, with far-reaching objective, but entailing no danger to the budget. The Democratic program, on the other hand, contemplates a heavy expenditure of public funds, a budget unbalanced on a large scale, with a doubtful attainment of at best a strictly limited objective.

"We strongly indorse the President's program.

"True to American traditions and principles of government the administration has regarded the relief problem as one of State and local responsibility. The work of local agencies, public and private, have been coordinated and enlarged on a nation-wide scale under the leadership of the President.

"Sudden and unforeseen emergencies such as the drought have been met by the Red Cross and the Government. The United States Public Health Service has been of inestimable benefit to stricken areas.

"There has been magnificent response and action to relieve distress by citizens, organizations and agencies public and private throughout the country.

Emergency Relief Fund Cited.

"To provide against the possible failure of local and State agencies, the President has urge the Congress to create an emergency relief fund to be loaned temporarily to any State on a showing of actual need and temporary failure of its financial resources.

"The Republican party indorses this record and policy and is opposed to the Federal Government entering directly into the field of private charity and direct relief to the individual.

PUBLIC ECONOMY.

"Constructive plans for financial stabilization can not be completely organized until our National, State and municipal governments not only balance their budgets, but curtail their current expenses as well to a level which can be steadily and economically maintained for some years to come.

"We urge prompt and drastic reduction of public expenditure and resistance to every appropriation not demonstrably necessary to the performance of the essential functions of government, national or local.

Gold Standard Upheld.

The Republican party established and will continue to uphold the gold standard and will oppose any measure which will undermine the Government's credit or impair the integrity of our national currency. Relief by currency inflation is unsound in principle and dishonest in results. The dollar is impregnable in the marts of the world today and must remain so. An ailing body can not be cured by quack remedies. This is no time to experiment upon the body politic or financial.

BANKS AND THE BANKING SYSTEM.

The efficient functioning of our economic machinery depends in no small measure on the aid rendered to trade and industry by our banking system. There is need of revising the banking laws so as to place our banking structure on a sounder basis generally for all concerned and for the better protection of the depositing public there should be more stringent supervision and broader powers vested in the supervising authorities. We advocate such a revision.

One of the serious problems affecting our banking system has arisen from the practice of organizing separate corporations from under and controlled by the same interests as banks, but participating in operations which the banks themselves are not permitted legally to undertake. We favor requiring reports of and subjecting to thorough and periodic examination all such affiliates of member banks until adequate information has been acquired on the basis of which this problem may definitely be solved in a permanent manner.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE.

We favor the participation by the United States in an international conference to consider matters relating to monetary questions, including the position of silver, exchange problems, and commodity prices, and possible cooperative action concerning them.

HOME LOAN DISCOUNT BANK SYSTEM FOR THE BEEFIT OF HOME OWNERS OF THE UNITED STATES.

The present Republican administration has initiated legislation for the creation of a system of Federally supervised home loan discount banks, designed to serve the home owners of all parts of the country and to encourage home ownership by making possible long term credits for homes on more stable and more favorable terms.

There has arisen in the last few years a disturbing trend away from home ownership. We believe that everything possible should be done by governmental agencies, national, State and local, to reverse this tendency; to aid home owners by encouraging better methods of home financing; and to relieve the present inequitable tax burden on the home. In the field of national legislation we pledge that the measures creating a home loan discount system will be pressed in Congress until adopted.

AGRICULTURE.

Farm distress in America has its root in the enormous expansion of agricultural production during the war, the deflation of 1919, 1920, and the dislocation of markets after the war. There followed, under Republican administrations, a long record of legislation in aid of the cooperative organization of farmers and in providing farm credit. The position of agriculture was gradually improved.

In 1928 the Republican party pledged further measures in aid of agriculture, principally tariff protection for agricultural products and the creation of a Federal Farm Board "clothed with the necessary power to promote the establishment of a farm marketing system of farmer-owned and controlled stabilization corporations."

"Almost the first official act of President Hoover was the calling of a special session of Congress to redeem these party pledges. They have been redeemed.

Tariff Rates Are Compared.

"The 1930 tariff act increased the rates on agricultural products by 30 per cent, upon industrial products only 12 per cent. That act equalized, so far as legislation can do so, the protection afforded the farmer with the protection afforded industry and prevented a vast flood of cheap wool, grain, live stock, dairy and other products from entering the American market.

"By the agricultural marketing act, the Federal Farm Board was created and armed with broad powers and ample funds. The object of that act, as stated in its preamble, was—

"To promote the effective merchandising of agricultural commodities in interstate and foreign commerce so that * * * agriculture will be placed on the basis of economic equality with other industries * * *. By encouraging the organization of producers into effective association for their own control * * * and by promoting the establishment of a farm marketing system of producer-owned and producer-controlled cooperative associations.

"The Federal Farm Board, created by the agricultural marketing act, has been compelled to conduct its operations during a period in which all commodity prices, industrial as well as agricultural, have fallen to disastrous levels. A period of decreasing demand and of national calamities such as drought and flood has intensified the problem of agriculture.

Farm Board's Achievements.

Nevertheless, after only a little more than two years' efforts the Federal Farm Board has many achievements of merit to its credit. It has increased the membership of the cooperative farm marketing associations to coordinate efforts of the local associations. By cooperation with other Federal agencies, it has made available to farm marketing associations a large value of credit, which, in the emergency, would not have otherwise been available. Larger quantities of farm products have been handled cooperatively than ever before in the history of the cooperative movement. Grain crops have been sold by the farmer through his association directly upon the world market.

Due to the 1930 tariff act and the agricultural marketing act, it can truthfully be stated that the prices received by the American farmer for his wheat, corn, rye, barley, oats, flaxseed, cattle, butter and many other products, cruelly low though they are, are higher than the prices received by the farmers of any competing nation for the same products.

The Republican party has also aided the American farmer by relief of the sufferers in the drought-stricken areas, through loans for rehabilitation and through road building to provide employment, by the development of the inland waterway system, by the perishable product act, by the strengthening of the extension system, and by the appropriation of $125,000,000 to recapitalize the Federal Land Banks and enable them to extend time to worthy borrowers.

The Republican party pledges itself to the principle of assistance to cooperative marketing associations, owned and controlled by the farmers themselves, through the provisions of the agricultural marketing act, which will be promptly amended or modified as experience shows to be necessary to accomplish the objects set for in the preamble of that act.

Tariff and the Marketing Act.

The party pledges itself to make such revision of tariff schedules as economic changes require to maintain the parity of protection to agriculture with other industry.

The American farmer is entitled not only to tariff schedules on his products, but to protection from substitutes therefor.

The party pledges itself to make such revision of tariff schedules as economic changes require to maintain the parity of protection to agriculture with other industry.

We will support any plan which will help to balance production against demand, and thereby raise agricultural prices, provided it is economically sound, and administratively workable without burdensome bureaucracy.

Taxation Is Major Problem.

The burden of taxation borne by the owners of farm land constitute one of the major problems of agriculture.

President Hoover has aptly and truly said: "Taxes upon real property are easiest to enforce and are the least flexible of all taxes. The tendency under pressure of need is to continue these taxes unchanged in times of depression, despite the decrease in the owner's income. Decreasing price and decreasing income results in an increasing burden upon property owners * * * which is now becoming almost unbearable. The tax burden upon real estate is wholly out of proportion to that upon other forms of property and income. There is no farm relief more needed today than tax relief."

The time has come for a reconsideration of our tax systems, Federal, State and local, with a view to developing a better coordination, reducing duplication, and relieving unjust burdens. The Republican party pledges itself to this end.

Farmer's Interest to the Front.

More than all else, we point to the fact that, in the administration of executive departments, and in every plan of the President for the coordination of national effort and for strengthening our financial structure, for expanding credit, for rebuilding the rural credit system and laying the foundations for better prices, the President has insisted upon the interest of the American farmer.

The fundamental problem of American agriculture is the control of production to such volume as will balance supply with demand. In the solution of this problem the cooperative organization of farmers to plan production, and the tariff, to hold the home market for American farmers, are vital elements. A third element equally as vital is the control of the acreage of land under cultivation, as an aid to the efforts of the farmer to balance production.

We favor a national policy of land utilization which looks to national needs, such as the administration has already begun to formulate. Such a policy must foster reorganization of taxing units in areas beset by tax delinquency; and divert lands that are submarginal for crop production to other uses. The national welfare plainly can be served by the acquisition of submarginal lands for watershed protection, grazing, forestry, public parks, and game reserves. We favor such acquisition.

THE TARIFF.

The Republican party has always been the stanch supporter of the American system of a protective tariff. It believes that the home market, built up under that policy, the greatest and richest market in the world, belongs first to American agriculture, industry and labor. No pretext can justify the surrender of that market to such competition as would destroy our farms, mines and factories, and lower the standard of living which we have established for our workers.

Because many foreign countries have recently abandoned the gold standard, as a result of which the costs of many commodities produced in such countries have, at least for the time being, fallen materially in terms of American currency, adequate tariff protection is today particularly essential to the welfare of the American people.

Platform Highlights

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—Highlights of the Republican platform as submitted to the convention follow:

Whole-hearted indorsement of the Hoover leadership in the economic crisis.

Emergency loans to States for unemployment relief.

Revision of the banking laws to protect depositors and to regulate banking affiliates.

Participation in international conference on monetary questions, including silver.

Establishment of a home loan discount system.

Encouragement of cooperative marketing through the Federal Farm Board; support of "any plan which will help agriculture balance production against demand;" promotion of a national land utilization policy.

Tariff protection for natural resources, including products of forests, farms, mines and oil wells.

Revision of veterans' legislation to eliminate inequalities and to effect all possible economies.

Enactment of legislation to authorize participation by the United States in an international conference in event of a threat against the Kellogg peace pact.

Participation in the World Court.

Declaration for principle of high wages and short working hours.

Rigid laws against gangsters racketeers and kidnapers.

Prompt Tariff Adjustments.

The Tariff Commission should promptly investigate individual commodities so affected by currency depreciation, and report to the President any increase in duties found necessary to equalize domestic with foreign costs of production.

Moreover, a subsequent change in costs or other conditions may render obsolete a rate that was before appropriate. The Republican party has, therefore, long supported the policy of a flexible tariff, giving power to the President, after investigation by an impartial commission and in accordance with prescribed principles, to modify the rates named by the Congress.

Tariff Veto Is Approved.

We commend the President's veto of the measure, sponsored by Democratic congressmen, which would have transferred from the President to the Congress the authority to put into effect the findings of the Tariff Commission. Approval of the measure would have returned tariff making to politics and destroyed the progress made during ten years of effort to lift it out of log-rolling methods. We pledge the Republican party to a policy which will retain the gains made and enlarge the present scope of greater progress.

We favor the extension of the general Republican principle of tariff protection to our natural resource industries, including the products of our farms, forests, mines and oil wells, with compensatory duties on the manufactured and refined products thereof.

To fix the duties on some thousands of commodities, subject to highly complex conditions, is necessarily a difficult technical task. It is unavoidable that some of the rates established by legislation should, even at the time of their enactment, be too low or too high.

VETERANS.

Our country is honored whenever it bestows relief on those who have faithfully served its flag. The Republican party, appreciative of this solemn obligation and honor, has made its sentiments evident in Congress.

Increased hospital facilities have been provided, payments in compensation have been more than doubled, and in the matter of rehabilitations, pensions and insurance, generous provision has been made. The administration of laws dealing with the relief of veterans and their dependents has been a difficult task, but every effort has been made to carry service to the veteran and bring about not only a better and generous interpretation of the law, but a sympathetic consideration of the many problems of the veteran.

We believe that every veteran incapacitated in any degree by reason of illness or injuries attributable to service in defense of his country should be cared for and compensated, so far as compensation is possible, by a grateful Nation, and that the dependents of those who lost their lives in war or whose death since the war in which service was rendered is traceable to service cause, should be provided for adequately. Legislation should be in accord with this principle.

Disability from causes subsequent and not attributable to war, and the support of dependents of deceased veterans whose death is unconnected with war, have been to some measure accepted obligations of the Nation as a part of the debt due.

A careful study should be made of existing veterans' legislation with a view to eliminating inequalities and injustices and effecting all possible economies, but without departing from our purpose to provide on a sound basis full and adequate relief for our service disabled men, their widows and orphans.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Our relations with foreign nations have been carried on by President Hoover with consistency and firmness but with mutual understanding and peace with all nations. The world has been overwhelmed with economic strain which has provoked extreme nationalism in every quarter, has overturned many governments, stirred the springs of suspicion and distrust, and tried the spirit of international cooperation, but we have held to our own course steadily and successfully.

The party will continue to maintain its attitude of protecting our national interests and policies wherever threatened, but at the same time promoting common understanding of the varying needs and aspirations of other nations and going forward in harmony with other peoples without alliances or foreign partnerships. The facilitation of world intercourse, the freeing of commerce from unnecessary impediments, the settlement of international difficulties by conciliation and the methods of law, and the elimination of war as a resort of national policy have been and will be our party program.

FRIENDSHIP AND COMMERCE.

We believe in and look forward to the steady enlargement of the principles of equality of treatment between nations great and small, the concession of sovereignty and self-administration to every nation which is capable of carrying on stable government and conducting sound and orderly relationships with other peoples, and the cultivation of trade and intercourse on the basis of uniformity of opportunity of all nations.

In pursuance of these principles, which have steadily gained favor in the world, the administration has asked no special favors in commerce, has protested discriminations whenever they arose, and has steadily cemented this procedure by reciprocal treaties guaranteeing equality for trade and residence.

The historic American policy known as the "most favored nation principle" has been our guiding program and we believe that policy to be the only one consistent with a full development of international trade, the only one suitable for a country having as wide and diverse a commerce as America and the one most appropriate for us in view of the great variety of our industrial, agricultural and mineral products and the traditions of our people. Any other plan involves bargains and partnerships with foreign nations and as a permanent policy is unsuited to America's position.

CONDITIONS ON THE PACIFIC.

Events in the Far East, involving the employment of arms on a large scale in a controversy between Japan and China, have caused world-wide concern in the past year and sorely tried the bulwarks erected to insure peace and pacific means for the settlement of international disputes. The controversy has not only threatened the security of the nations bordering the Pacific, but has challenged the maintenance of the policy of the open door in China and the administrative and political integrity of that people, programs which upon American initiation were adopted more than a generation ago and secured by international treaty.

Just Balance Maintained.

The President and his Secretary of State have maintained throughout the controversy a just balance between Japan and China, taking always a firm position to avoid entanglement in the dispute, but consistently upholding the established international policies and the treaty rights and interests of the United States and never condoning developments that endangered the obligation of treaties or the peace of the world. Throughout the controversy our Government has acted in harmony with the governments represented in the League of Nations, always making it clear that American policy would be determined at home, but always lending a hand in the common interest of peace and order.

In the application of the principles of the Kellogg pact the American Government has taken the lead, following the principle that a breach of the pact or a threat of infringement thereof was a matter of international concern wherever and however brought about.

As a further step the Secretary of State, upon the instruction of the President, adopted the principle later enlarged upon in his letter to the chairman of the committee on foreign relations of the Senate that this Government would not recognize the situation, treaty or agreement brought about between Japan and China by force and in defiance of the covenants of the Kellogg pact.

This principle, associated as it is with the name of President Hoover, was later adopted by the assembly of the nations at Geneva as a rule for the conduct of all those governments. The principle remains today as an important contribution to international law and a significant moral and material barrier to prevent a nation obtaining the fruits of aggressive warfare. It thus opens a new pathway to peace and order.

We favor enactment by Congress of a measure that will authorize our Government to call or participate in an international conference in case of any threat of nonfulfillment of Article 2 of the Treaty of Paris (Kellogg-Briand pact).

LATIN AMERICA.

The policy of the administration has proved to our neighbors of Latin America that we have no imperialistic ambitions, but that we wish only to promote the welfare and common interest of the independent nations in the Western Hemisphere. We have aided Nicaragua in the solution of its troubles and our marines are remaining in that country, in greatly reduced numbers, at the request of the Nicaraguan government only to supervise the coming election.

After that they will all be returned to the United States. In Haiti, in accord with the recommendations of the Forbes Commission, appointed by the President, the various services of supervision are being rapidly withdrawn and only those will be retained which are mandatory under the treaties. Throughout Latin America the policy of the Government of the United States has been and will, under Republican leadership, continue to be one of frank and friendly understanding.

WORLD COURT.

The acceptance by America of membership in the World Court has been approved by three successive Republican Presidents and we commend this attitude of supporting in this form the settlement of international disputes by the rule of law. America should join its influence and gain a voice in this institution, which would offer us a safer, more judicial and expeditious instrument for the constantly recurring questions between us and other nations than is now available by arbitration.

REDUCTION OF ARMAMENT.

Conscious that the limitation of armament will contribute to security against war, and that the financial burdens of military preparation have been shamefully increased throughout the world, the administration under President Hoover has made steady efforts and marked progress in the direction of proportional reduction of arms by agreement with other nations.

Upon his initiative a treaty between the chief naval powers at London in 1930, following the path marked by the Washington conference of 1922, established a limitation of all types of fighting ships on a proportionate basis as between the three great naval powers. For the first time, a general limitation of a most costly branch of armament was successfully accomplished.

Naval Equality Is Promised.

In the Geneva disarmament conference, now in progress, America is an active participant, and a representative delegation of our citizens is laboring for further progress in a cause to which this country has been an earnest contributor. This policy will be pursued.

"Meanwhile, maintenance of our Navy on the basis of parity with any nation is a fundamental policy to which the Republican party is committed. While in the interest of necessary Government retrenchment, humanity and relief of the taxpayer we shall continue to exert our full influence upon the nations of the world in the cause of reduction of arms, we do not propose to reduce our Navy defenses below that of any other nation.

NATIONAL DEFENSE.

Armaments are relative and, therefore, flexible and subject to change as necessity demands. We believe that in time of war every material resource in the Nation should bear its proportionate share of the burdens occasioned by the public need and that it is a duty of government to perfect plans in time of peace whereby this objective may be attained in war. We support the essential principles of the national defense act as amended in 1930 and by the Air Corps act of 1926, and believe that the Army of the United States has through successive reductions, accomplished in the last twelve years, reached the irreducible minimum consistent with the self-reliance, self-respect and security of this country.

WAGES AND WORK.

We believe in the principle of high wages.

We favor the principle of the shorter work week and shorter work day with its application to Government as well as to private employment, as rapidly and as constructively as conditions will warrant.

We favor legislation designed to stimulate, encourage and assist in home building.

IMMIGRATION.

The restriction of immigration is a Republican policy. Our party formulated and enacted into law the quota system which for the first time has made possible an adequate control of foreign immigration. Rigid examination of applicants in foreign countries has prevented the coming of criminals and other undesirable classes, while other provisions of the law have enabled the President to suspend immigration of foreign wage-earners, who otherwise, directly or indirectly, would have increased unemployment among native-born and legally resident foreign-born wage-earners in this country. As a result, immigration is now less than at any time during the past 100 years.

We favor the continuance and strict enforcement of our present laws upon this subject.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

We commend the constructive work of the United States Department of Labor.

LABOR.

Collective bargaining by responsible representatives of employers and employes of their own choice without the interference of any one is recognized and approved.

Legislation such as laws prohibiting alien contract labor, peonage labor, and the "shanghaiing" of sailors, the eight-hour labor law on Government contracts, and in Government employment; provision for railroad safety devices, of methods of conciliation, mediation and arbitration in industrial labor disputes, including the adjustment of railroad disputes, the providing of compensation for injury to Government employes (the forerunner of Federal workers' compensation acts), and other laws to aid and protect labor are of Republican origin, and have had and will continue to have the unswerving support of the party.

EMPLOYMENT.

We commend the constructive work of the United States Employment Service in the Department of Labor. This service was enlarged and its activities extended through an appropriation made possible by the President with the cooperation of the Congress. It has done high service for the unemployed in the ranks of civil life and in the ranks of former soldiers of the World War.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

Freedom of speech, press and assemblage, are fundamental principles upon which our form of government rests. These vital principles should be preserved and protected.

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

Supervision, regulation and control of interstate public utilities in the interest of the public is an established policy of the Republican party to the credit of which stands the creation of the Interstate Commerce Commission with its authority to assure reasonable transportation rates, sound railway finance and adequate service.

As proof of the progress made by the Republican party in Government control of public utilities, we cite the reorganization under this administration of the Federal Power Commission with authority to administer the Federal water power act. We urge legislation to authorize this commission to regulate the charges for electric current when transmitted across State lines.

TRANSPORTATION.

The promotion of agriculture, commerce and industry requires coordination of transportation by rail, highway, air and water. All should be subjected to appropriate and constructive regulation.

The public will, of course, select the form of transportation best fitted to its particular service, but the terms of competition fixed by public authority should operate without discrimination, so that all common carriers by rail, highway, air and water shall operate under conditions of equality.

The railroads constitute the backbone of our transportation system and perform an essential service for the country. The railroad industry is our largest employer of labor and the greatest consumer of goods. The restoration of their credit and the maintenance of their ability to render adequate service are of paramount importance to the public, to their many thousands of employes and to savings banks, insurance companies and other similar institutions, to which the savings of the people have been intrusted.

Development of Merchant Marine.

We should continue to encourage the further development of the merchant marine under American registry and ownership.

Under the present administration the American merchant fleet has been enlarged and strengthened until it now occupies second place among the merchant marines of the world.

By the gradual retirement of the Government from the field of ship operations, and marked economies in costs, the United States Shipping Board will require no appropriation for the fiscal year 1933 for ship operations.

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY.

The Republican party stands committed to the development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway. Under the direction of President Hoover negotiation of a treaty with Canada for this development is now at a favorable point. Recognizing the inestimable benefits which will accrue to the Nation from placing the ports of the Great Lakes on an ocean base, the party reaffirms allegiance to this great project and pledges its best efforts to secure its early completion.

HIGHWAYS.

The Federal policy to cooperate with the States in the building of roads was thoroughly established when the Federal highway act of 1921 was adopted under a Republican Congress. Each year since that time appropriations have been made which have greatly increased the economic value of highway transportation and helped to raise the standards and opportunities of rural life.

We pledge our support to the continuation of this policy in accordance with our needs and resources.

CRIME.

We favor the enactment of rigid penal laws that will aid the States in stamping out the activities of gangsters, racketeers and kidnapers. We commend the intensive and effective drive made upon these public enemies by President Hoover and pledge our party to further effort to the same purpose.

NARCOTICS.

The Republican party pledges itself to continue the present relentless warfare against the illicit narcotic traffic and the spread of the curse of drug addiction among our people. This administration has by treaty greatly strengthened our power to deal with this traffic.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The merit system has been amply justified since the organization of the Civil Service by the Republican party. As a part of our governmental system it is now unassailable. We believe it should remain so.

THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT.

CONSERVATION.

The wise use of all natural resources freed from monopolistic control is a Republican policy, initiated by Theodore Roosevelt. The Roosevelt, Coolidge and Hoover reclamation projects bear witness on the continuation of that policy. Forestry and all other conservation activities have been supported and enlarged.

The conservation of oil is a major problem to the industry and the Nation. The administration has sought to bring coordination of effort through the States and the producers and the Federal Government. Progress had been made and the effort will continue.

NEGRO.

For 70 years the Republican party has been the friend of the American Negro. Vindication of the right of the Negro citizen to enjoy the full benefits of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness is traditional in the Republican party, and our party stands pledged to maintain equal opportunity and rights for our Negro citizens. We do not propose to depart from that tradition nor to alter the spirit or letter of that pledge.

HAWAII.

We believe that the existing status of self-government which for many years has been enjoyed by the citizens of the Territory of Hawaii should be maintained and that officials appointed to administer the government should be bona-fide residents of the Territory.

PUERTO RICO.

Puerto Rico being a part of the United States and its inhabitants American citizens, we believe that they are entitled to a good-faith recognition of the spirit and purpose of their organic act. We, therefore, favor the inclusion of the island in all legislative and administrative measures enacted or adopted by Congress or otherwise for the economic benefit of their fellow citizens of the mainland.

We also believe that insofar as possible all officials appointed to administer the affairs of the island government should be qualified by at least five years of bona-fide residence therein.

ALASKA.

We favor the policy of giving to the people of Alaska the widest possible Territorial self-government and the selection so far as possible of bona fide residents for positions in that Territory, and the placing of its citizens on an equality with those in the several States.

WELFARE WORK AND CHILDREN.

The children of our Nation, our future citizens, have had the most solicitous thought of our President. Child welfare and protection has been a major effort of this administration. The organization of the White House Conference on child health and protection is regarded as one of the outstanding accomplishments of this administration.

Welfare work in all its phases has had the support of the President and aid of the administration. The work of organized agencies, local, State and Federal, has been advanced and an increased impetus given by that recognition and help. We approve and pledge a continuation of that policy.

INDIANS.

We favor the fullest protection of the property rights of the American Indians and the provision for them of adequate educational and health facilities.

REORGANIZATION OF GOVERNMENT BUREAUS.

Efficiency and economy demand reorganization of Government bureaus. The problem is nonpartisan and must be so treated if it is to be solved. As a result of years of study and personal contact with conflicting activities and wasteful duplication of efforts the President is particularly fitted to direct measures to correct the situation. We favor legislation by Congress which will give him the required authority.

DEMOCRATIC FAILURE.

The vagaries of the present Democratic House of Representatives offer characteristic and appalling proof of the existing incapacity of that party for leadership in a national crisis. Individualism running amuck has displaced party discipline and has trampled underfoot party leadership. A bewildered electorate has viewed the spectacle with profound dismay and deep misgivings. Goaded to desperation by their confessed failure, the party leaders have resorted to "pork barrel" legislation to obtain a unity of action which could not otherwise be achieved. A Republican President stands resolutely between the helpless citizen and the disasters threatened by such measures; and the people, regardless of party, will demand his continued service.

Many times during his useful life has Herbert Hoover responded to such a call, and his response has never disappointed. He will not disappoint us now.

PARTY GOVERNMENT.

The delays and differences which recently hampered efforts to obtain legislation imperatively demanded by prevailing critical conditions strikingly illustrate the menace to self-government brought about by the weakening of party ties and party fealty.

Experience has demonstrated that coherent political parties are indispensable agencies for the prompt and effective operation of the functions of our Government under the Constitution. Only by united party action can consistent, well-planned and wholesome legislative programs be enacted.

We believe that the majority of the congressmen elected in the name of a party have the right and duty to determine the general policies of that party requiring congressional action, and that congressmen belonging to that party are, in general, bound to adhere to such policies. Any other course inevitably makes of Congress a body of detached delegates which instead of representing the collective wisdom of our people, become the confused voices of a heterogeneous group of unrelated local prejudices.

We believe that the time has come when senators and representatives of the United States should be impressed with the inflexible truth that their first concern should be the welfare of the United States and the well-being of all of its people, and that stubborn pride of individual opinion is not a virtue but an obstacle to the orderly and successful achievement of the objects of representative government.

Only by cooperation can self-government succeed. Without it, election under a party aegis becomes a false pretense. We earnestly request that Republicans through the Union demand that their representatives in the Congress pledge themselves to these principles, to the end that the insidious influences of party disintegration may not undermine the very foundations of the republic.

CONCLUSION.

In contrast with the Republican policies and record, we contrast those of the Democratic as evidenced by the action of the House of Representatives under Democratic leadership and control, which includes:

1. The issuance of fiat currency.
2. Instructions to the Federal Reserve Board and the Secretary of the Treasury to attempt to manipulate commodity prices.
3. The guarantee of bank deposits.
4. The squandering of the public resources and the unbalancing of the budget through pork barrel appropriations which bear little relation to distress and would tend, through delayed business revival, to decrease rather than increase employment.

Republican Party Pledges.

Generally on economic matters we pledge the Republican party:

1. To maintain unimpaired the national credit.
2. To defend and preserve a sound currency and an honest dollar.
3. To stand steadfastly by the principle of a balanced budget.
4. To devote ourselves fearlessly and unremittingly to the task of eliminating abuses and extravagance and of drastically cutting the cost of government so as to reduce the heavy burden of taxation.
5. To use all available means consistent with sound financial and economic principles to promote an expansion of credit, to stimulate business and relieve unemployment.
6. To a thorough study of the conditions which permitted the credit and the credit machinery of the country to be made available without adequate check for wholesale speculation in securities, resulting in ruinous consequences to millions of our citizens and to the national economy, and to correct those conditions so that they shall not recur.

To Relieve Distress.

Recognising that real relief to unemployment must come through a revival of industrial activity and agriculture to the promotion of which our every effort must be directed, our party in State and Nation undertakes to do all in its power that is humanly possible to see that distress is fully relieved in accordance with American principles and traditions.

No successful solution of the problems before the country today can be expected from a Congress and a President separated by partisan lines, or opposed in purposes and principles. Responsibility can not be placed unless a clear mandate is given by returning to Washington a Congress and a Chief Executive united in principles and program. The return to power of the Republican party with that mandate is the duty of every voter who believes in the doctrines of the party and its program as herein stated. Nothing less, we believe, will insure the orderly recovery of the country and that return to prosperous days which every American so ardently desires.

The Republican party faces the future unafraid!

With courage and confidence in ultimate success, we will strive against the forces that strike at our social and economic ideals, our political institutions.

Rehearsal Call Is Issued For Bicentennial Pageant

Dr. George C. Havenner, executive vice president of the District Bicentennial Commission, last night issued a call for all members of the cast and chorus of the pageant, "The Great American," to be present at tomorrow's and Saturday night's rehearsals at the Sylvan Theater at 7:30 o'clock.

Groups which have not yet reported for rehearsal are requested to report to Mrs. Maud Howell Smith, personnel director. Marshals are requested to report to Miss Bess Davis Schreiner.

MORROW CEMETERY HOLDS MISS SHARPE

Maid Buried While British Investigate Events Before Suicide.

Englewood, N. J., June 15 (A.P.)—Violet Sharpe, English servant in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, was buried today after a brief service attended by fellow members of the Morrow household and the acting British Consul-General. The British official has been instructed to make a report on the girl's suicide five days ago.

The simple cloth-covered casket was borne by four men employes to a grave in Brookside Cemetery, where rests the body of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, grandfather of the murdered Lindbergh baby.

No member of the Morrow of Lindbergh family attended the final rites, although they were represented by Arthur Springer, the late senator's private secretary, and Mrs. Josephine D. Graham, Mrs. Morrow's private secretary.

Gerald Shepherd, the acting British Consul General at New York, immediately after the funeral went to the Morrow estate to confer with Springer, from whom he obtained facts to aid him in drafting his report.

"My report," he said, "will be a conservative opinion of things as they are." He expects to complete it in less than a week and have it delivered to the office of foreign affairs in London within a fortnight.

Glassford Hopes to Dispel B. E. F. by Sad Music

By JOHN J. DALY

BRIG. GEN. PELHAM D. GLASSFORD, superintendent of police, has hit upon a novel idea to get the B. E. F., or bonus expeditionary forces, out of Washington by Christmas, just as Henry Ford with his peace ship once tried to bring the boys back from the front line trenches during the war.

In the morning mails, one day this week, each of the big bandmasters of Washington—Capt. Taylor Branson, of the United States Marine Band; Lieut. Charles Benter, of the Navy Band, and Capt. Stannard, of the Army Band—will receive a letter from the general suggesting serenades for the former soldiers.

Under this plan, the three service bands would take turns visiting the encampments, cantonments and barracks, and there deliver the dulcet tones of nostalgic music—music that hath charms not only to soothe the savage breast but to make the boys homesick.

A hard-boiled old infantry outfit, sitting in the dusk some evening, cussing and damning Congress, would all of a sudden turn into a regiment of sentimentalists, hearing the strains of "Home, Sweet Home."

* * * * *

THE top-kick, brushing a tear from his eyes, would shove the lance corporal out of the way, rush into the bunkhouse to get his kit-bag, and start over the long, long trail.

"Where you goin', sergeant?" some soldier would ask.

"Back to the old homestead," the sergeant would reply, trying to conceal his emotion, "back to the old folks. They need me, men, and I need them."

"But what about Congress?" someone would ask, "and the bonus?"

"To hell with Congress," the sergeant would shout in his best barrack-room tone, "didn't you just hear that band play, 'Carry Me Back to Old Virginny?' Didn't yuh? That's where I come from, boys, and that's where I'm goin'—where th' James goes rollin' by, down in Virginia."

One by one the ones would break up the B. E. F., Arkansas travelers hitting the high roads as the band played the State anthem, Iowans breaking camp when they heard the old familiar ditty, "Out Where the Tall Corn Grows," and the boys from the Golden Gate jogging into double-time to the tune of "California, Here I Come."

* * * * *

IT was nothing short of inspiration that prompted the lyrical heart of the chief of police to call out the bands instead of the reserves to get the B. E. F. out of Washington. Any doughboy who wouldn't go home after hearing "When the M-mmm-Moon Beams Over the K-kkkk-Cow-Shed," is no doughboy—even though he's in Washington to get dough from Congress. Any old mule-skinner, from the corrals, is no mule-skinner at all, at all, if his heart is not touched when he hears the sad strains of "Alabama Bound."

Soon as the bands strike up, they'll all be going home, the boys of the B. E. F., joining in a paraphrase of the old overseas song of the British:

"I want to go home! I want to go home!
Representatives rave, and the Senators roar.
I don't want to listen to speeches no more.
Take me back to the farm
Where the Congressmen can't do me harm.
Oh, my! I'm too young to die.
I want to go home."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE CONVENTION DELEGATE.

UNDER the spreading hokum tree,
The delegate he stands;
The muscles of his thorax are
As strong as iron bands;
He bellows to the multitude—
His fury is intense,
But nothing that he has to say
Makes any kind of sense.

II.

He tells you where his party stands
And where it aims to go;
Although it's plain to every one
He doesn't really know;
He raves about the people's rights
And of the voters dear,
But on his plans to help them out
He's anything but clear.

III.

He mingles with the delegates,
His ways are very slick;
His ears are ever to the ground
For fear he'll miss a trick;
He goes through motions very odd
And masters every twist;
To do his stuff he has to be
A good contortionist.

IV.

He faces two ways at a time
And very often three;
He can face four ways in a pinch
And do it easily;
He walks upon the tightest rope
With savior faire immense,
And he is at his very best
A'straddling a fence.

V

He boasts of independence and
Of waging freedom's fight
(And frequently consults the boss
To get his orders right);
He praises Washington and "Abe,"
And makes the galleries stir,
But doesn't know just what they did
And hardly who they were.

VI.

He shouts about plain honesty
And of the public weal,
Then hurries to a hotel room
To put across a "deal;"
He wears his tonsils to the raw Denouncing grafters all—
Then takes instructions freely from
Some "heeler" in the hall.

VII.

His voice it makes the rafters shake,
"Than whom . . . Than whom . . .
Than whom-m-m-m!"
Except when he is not engaged
Within a private room;
At last a candidate is named
And platform put across,
And on the homeward train he says,
"My act was good, eh, boss?"

REVISING A MOTTO.

A DOWNTOWN business man still has on his desk a card with that old-time motto, "Do It Now." When he came in the other morning he found someone had scribbled on it the additional word "What?"

Col. Amos W. W. (Wrum Wraiding) Woodcock has filed his report on the recent census of speakeasies in New York. He finds there are 3,844 in the city, but he doesn't say what block.

INDIANA.

Oh, the moonshine's doomed tonight
along the Wabash,
From the meadow comes a sign as clear as day;
Through the primaries you hear repealers calling
On the banks of the Wabash far away.

Dr. Theodore Maynard, of Georgetown, tells students that the leaders of America are mediocre. And maybe that's giving them too high a rating.

She said today she would press divorce proceedings and would continue with her $100,000 alienation of affections suit against Claire Windsor, stage and film actress.

Funeral Flags Carried By Bonus Army Heroes

The battery of flags which were carried in the Flag Day parade by the decorated heroes of the bonus army was the display of the American Gold Star Mothers.

The banner which preceded the flags in the procession read:

"Lift your hat and bow your head,
Passing are the flags of the World War dead;
Each draped the casket of a gallant son,

THE REPUBLICAN PLANK.

In free debate, with comparatively little interruption by wet and dry gallery fanatics, the Republican party has defined its position on the question of prohibition. The national convention defeated the minority report which demanded that Congress submit to the people the single question of retention or repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and adopted the majority report, which favors submission of an amendment which would enable each State "to deal with the problem as its citizens may determine," but subject always to the power of the Federal government to protect prohibition States and prevent the return of the saloon in any State.

The plank declares that prohibition is not a party question, and holds that no public official or member of the party should be pledged or forced to choose between his party affiliations and his convictions on prohibition. Thus, while outlining what it conceives would be a change for the better in regard to prohibition, the Republican platform expressly refrains from pledging members of the party to the prohibition plank.

A notable difference in the speeches of opposing champions was that those favoring the minority report laid no stress whatever upon the necessity of reconciling Republican views on this question, while supporters of the majority report implored the delegates to compose their differences for the sake of enabling the party to win control of the Government and then go forward with the solution of the nation's problems, including the problem of prohibition. Some of the advocates of the minority report boldly asserted that it demanded repeal of the eighteenth amendment; but Senator Bingham, chief spokesman for that side, insisted that the report did not commit the party to repeal, but merely demanded that the people be allowed to vote yes or no.

Violent differences among Republicans over the majority report appeared yesterday, even before the report had been submitted to the convention. Wets remain wet, and drys remain drys. The Republican platform does not commit the party on this question, although a claim to this effect will be made. Political strategy succeeded in preventing the party from wedding its fortunes to the eighteenth amendment or to a repudiation of it. The majority of delegates recognized that the party must strive to hold its members, whether they be wet or dry, and must not on any account turn into an organization devoted solely to the settlement of the liquor problem.

The country will await with intense interest anything which President Hoover may have to say on this plank of the platform. It is a foregone conclusion, however, that he will support it, since it was hammered out by committeemen who were familiar with his views. Mr. Hoover, however, is overwhelmed with more urgent emergency problems, directly affecting the livelihood of all Americans, and he can not be expected to devote much time to discussing the prohibition problem at this juncture.

Next week the Democratic party will have its opportunity to deal with the prohibition question. It may find a miraculous formula appealing to both wets and drys, and in that case it can rejoice over the obvious embarrassment of the Republican party. But no one, particularly no Democrat, expects the Democratic convention to avoid a bitter fight over this question. The party will be fortunate, indeed, if it goes into the campaign with its wet and dry members no more seriously divided than those in the Republican party.

DEMOCRATS PASS BONUS.

The Democratic party shouldered almost complete responsibility for passage of the bonus bill through the House in the final vote. In fact, the pronouncement of Democrats in favor of immediate payment of $2,300,000,000 to ex-service men through debasement of the currency was so emphatic that it may be considered a policy of that party. If the Democrats should obtain control of the Government, it is a fair assumption that one of their first acts would be to load this tremendous and unwarranted burden upon the backs of taxpayers.

Of the total of 209 votes in favor of the Patman bill 55 were cast by Republicans and 151 by Democrats. Only the Democratic House has considered the measure. Republican leaders of the Senate will, in all probability, prevent its passage through the upper chamber. President Hoover has let it be known that a veto awaits the bonus bill should it ever be sent to him for signature. Thus the Republican party is definitely aligned against debasement of the currency for the benefit of a special class, and the Democrats are definitely committed to it.

A few Democratic leaders in the House stood out valiantly against this assault upon the Government's credit and the soundness of the dollar. But they were overruled by what Representative Snell calls the Democratic "mob of feuds and factions". Speaker Garner remained silent while the delegation from his own State led the bonus raid. Without any consistent leadership it is only natural that the majority in the House should join in a demonstrative stampede on this issue.

How will the Democratic national convention handle this situation? Will immediate payment of the bonus out of a depleted Treasury be made a plank in the Democratic platform? Will the convention dare to indorse a measure that seeks to debase American currency in this critical period? Or will the convention repudiate the bungling and blundering of the Democratic party in the House?

These questions are especially serious because the public must judge the capacity of the Democratic party to take over control of the Government by its record in the House. Instead of demonstrating strong aggressive leadership in the hour of peril, the House has gone from one debacle to another. It has proposed and voted approval of one nostrum after another. Passage of the bonus just at the conclusion of a six-month struggle to balance the budget is only another sample of the utter demoralization of the majority in the House. How can the Democratic party indorse the record made by its members as a coordinate branch of Congress?

THE LAW'S FIRST BLOW.

Gaston B. Means goes to the penitentiary for fifteen years as a penalty for a peculiarly dastardly piece of thievery. Justice Proctor, in imposing sentence, stated that the verdict of the jury conveyed to the court the opinion that Means from the very outset intended to steal the money entrusted to him for the purpose of recovering the Lindbergh child, and that this intention continued throughout the negotiations. He was laying plans to obtain $35,000 more when his schemes were frustrated.

No one doubts that this scoundrel possesses the bulk of the stolen money at this moment. The law can not compel him to disclose its hiding place. All that it can do is to deny him the liberty that he has forfeited, and to make sure that his term shall be long enough to prevent him from enjoying his stealings.

The murder of the Lindbergh child and the crimes of at least two vultures who obtained money under the pretense of assisting to recover the child have given the country a glimpse into an abyss of infamy which would shake faith in human nature, but for the fact that the kidnaping aroused universal sentiments of sympathy for the victims and execration of the criminals. The escape of Means would have outraged these sentiments. His conviction and imprisonment are the first blows dealt by the law in the Lindbergh case. The people are pleased to see Means put away for the rest of his life, but they will not be satisfied until the murderer himself is caught and executed.

KNOCK OUT THE BOND ISSUE.

A disconcerting tangle over relief plans in Congress seems to be in the offing. The Senate banking and currency committee has substituted the Wagner bill for the Garner pork-barrel measure that was passed by the House, but even the Wagner bill as it stands is highly controversial. Democratic members of the committee insist on retaining the provision for a $500,000,000 bond issue for public works, which might result in a veto of the entire measure should it reach the White House.

Possible failure of the relief program could be avoided by lifting the controversial section out of the bill and allowing each provision to stand on its own merits. That course was followed with respect to the measure designed to make $300,000,000 available to the States for emergency relief through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. If an attempt is made to force an omnibus relief bill through the Senate the whole program may reach a hopeless deadlock.

The banking and currency committee has approved a measure extending the resources of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by $1,500,000,000, in addition to a $500,000,000 bond issue. Two distinctly separate questions are involved. Let the Senate vote on authorizing the Government's credit agency to furnish capital for self-liquidating projects of either a public or private nature. There is almost no opposition to this method of creating jobs and stimulating business. When it has been disposed of the proposed bond issue could stand on its merits. Any other course would simply prove that the Democrats of the Senate were demanding pork as the price of voting constructive relief. In view of the fact that the Senate Democratic leaders have emphatically repudiated the Garner pork-barrel measure, they put themselves in an extremely awkward position by demanding retention of the bond issue feature of the Wagner bill.

It is obvious that a good many concessions must be made or there will be no relief legislation. A new orgy of squandering would not relieve conditions in any degree. No relief measure at all would be better than a monstrosity. Let the unsound provisions be deleted to prevent a deadlock and possible collapse of the entire relief program.

TIME TO GO HOME.

Every possible excuse for the bonus army to linger in Washington or for new recruits to come here has now been removed. The bonus bill is dead and can not possibly be revived at this session of Congress. Its advocates in the House would have to gain 81 more votes to pass the measure over a veto. The Senate will either kill the bill or fail to override the veto.

Many of the veterans who have come to Washington in the interests of pushing this measure through Congress are intelligent and patriotic. They must recognize the futility of further effort. Nothing but suffering, disease, hardship and a waste of energy can result from a prolonged stay of the bonus army in Washington.

Medical care for the visitors has been withdrawn. The food supply is exhausted. Adequate quarters are unavailable. No safe and sane course is open to the men, save to return to their homes.

Some States have made provision for transportation of their veterans back home. All others should do so. A few irresponsible organizations are still encouraging veterans to come here, but they either do not realize the conditions under which the bonus army is living, or else they are deliberately seeking to provoke trouble and augment the distress of jobless men. Every veterans' organization ought to join in a call for the marchers to return home.

Chicago may have the convention, but the slickest greased pole-climbers and funniest clowns are still here, under the big top on the Hill.

But how can the listeners-in tell whether it is a convention or just another Chicago gangster scrap?

Physicians say that sleep is one form of intoxication. Maybe so, but that kind of drunkard doesn't beat the wife and kids.

If Charlie Curtis could be as sure of other races as he is of his race for the nomination he could make a cleanup.

The ancient Celts made loans to be repaid in the next world. Modern bankers have no such faith in immortality.

Donkeys are cheaper than at any other time since 1832, and may be cheaper still after November.

People who behave themselves do not have to set up a claim of temporary insanity.

The forgotten man wants to be forgotten, but they won't let him alone.

AS OTHERS SEE AMERICA

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Few things give a discouraged man renewed confidence in himself so readily as knowing that others have confidence in him. If this applies to individuals, it should equally apply to nations.

To Americans in the doldrums, fearing the worst and not even hoping the best, the sane and sturdy optimism of a British viewpoint regarding the issues, economic and political, which urge their attention on the leaders and citizens of the United States, should give pause to some of its pessimists. Here it is, under the heading, "Awake, America!" an editorial by J. L. Garvin, in the London Observer:

> Nothing can touch the foundation of America's economic strength, incomparably based upon the magnificent resources of half a continent and upon the innate vigor and inventiveness of a vast population. There will be a brilliant recovery sooner or later.

There is never a trace of merely sentimental optimism in the utterances of the shrewd and penetrative editor of the Observer. Just as clearly as if his desk were on Pennsylvania avenue instead of a stone's throw from Fleet street, he sees the absurdly tragic anomalies of American vaults cluttered up with half the gold of the world while unemployment and its distressful effects are rife in the land, and "a marvelous machinery for production and transport working at half-capacity • • • and political confusion extreme."

Then he puts his finger right on the underlying cause. The anomalies and the confusion, he writes, "are the external and visible effects. There is something worse. The 'psychological' temperature of the American people is lower than at any period within living memory. This temporary loss to themselves is a loss to the world."

And then this Englishman, who refuses to be overwhelmed by the material evidences and sees an America fulfilling her manifest destiny, plays an allegretto measure in a neighborly tribute to his cousins across the sea:

> For generations their sanguine energy had been a stimulus to all the other nations, as it will be again.

By this welcome gesture of confidence the editor of the Observer returns in generous measure to the younger Nation that very same stimulus at a moment when, to many clear-thinking Americans, it seems to be greatly needed.

On His Way!

POST HASTE.

Our particular complaint against Senator Dickinson's keynote is that as his condenser was not working he should have employed some other form of hay press or concentrator.

German opponents of their newest tax can doubtless get some suggestions from Gandhi on a salt solution.

Senator Huey Long should read up on dictators; they all meet one, inevitable end.

Great Britain has notified Chile that any property of her subjects confiscated must be paid for. Chile, a narrow strip along the Pacific, is in no position to act like Russia.

The "Draft Dawes" movements in politics, diplomacy and finance form a procession that is discouraging to the volunteer system.

It may be a bit hard for the Capital's veteran visitors to realize that we are strong for them and yet entirely disapprove of a cash bonus and futile bonus marches.

Henry Ford evidently thinks a party convention adds no more motive power than a back-seat driver.

One of the curious sights is to see the number of old men unfit for further duty who totter out of the Army at 62 and grab hold and get away with the management of the world's biggest enterprises.

The 2 per cent tax on chewing gum should be paid by Mr. Wrigley, since the purchaser has to do most of the work on his product.

Al Smith's expression of the hope that the Democratic convention would only last two days forfeits any chance of his getting the votes of Chicago delegates.

The President is running the Government safely this week with only two Cabinet members. That shows he could be trusted to cut down Executive agencies.

New York is so poor that the Sharkey-Schmeling gate receipts may fall short of a half billion.

The House passed the bonus bill, but the result will be the same as a "passed" dividend.

The Chicago convention found it hard to knock down and scramble the dry straw and the wet sawdust men into a noncompromising compromise.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

ALONG THE STREET.

Go walk the street
And you will meet
Proud men who beg
For food to eat.
At every square
You'll find them there
Who'll ask if you've
A dime to spare.

Though some are bold,
As if of old
Down beggar's lane
They'd often strolled.
But more and more
Heartsick and sore
Are those who've never Begged before.

With downcast eye,
Afraid and shy,
They stand and watch
The passers-by,
And try to guess,
With small success,
The kindly man
Who'll answer "Yes."

But stay serene
In limousine
And poor men's hurts
Are little seen,
For who would know
His brother's woe
Along the street
With him must go.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

SUCCESSFUL men, with few exceptions, have faith in mankind and are generous in their judgments.

Quite true, you will say; but what of it? The terrors of the sea seldom impress those who are safe ashore. It is easy to believe mankind decent if you don't compete with struggling men. It is easy to judge others generously if you have won all the prizes you care for.

But what is true of successful men is equally true of those who are destined to be successful.

They also are generous in their judgments, for they know the measure of their abilities and have no reason to envy or fear their competitors.

They are not destined to be successful because of their faith and generosity, but because of the bigness these qualities reveal.

Does it follow, then, that ungenerous men will fail?

Observe the failure among your acquaintances.

His world has soured. He lives in a realm of rogues and cheats. He suspects everybody. The most unselfish and charitable men seem to have something up their sleeves. All games are fixed. All prizes are won by trickery or by means of a pull.

If he must concede that a girl has beauty he offers evidence to prove her stupid. If he concedes a man some measure of success, he attributes it to the influence of relatives.

Nothing merits his praise. He belittles and ridicules the work of everybody else, for only by pulling others down can he lift himself high enough to preserve his self-respect.

Failure, you will say, has embittered him. He snarls at the world because it treads on him. It is a case of sour grapes.

But that isn't the whole of the story.

He is spiteful and suspicious and ungenerous because of his failure, but he failed because of the smallness of spirit now confessed by these qualities.

Opportunity doesn't knock at every man's door. Opportunity is human. Being human, it gives the preference to those who are free of venom, petty suspicion and uncharitableness.

Mayors Want Help.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

In the midst of shouting angrily at Congress to balance the budget, representative Americans continue to cluck to the same Congress for Federal appropriations and bond issues. A conference of mayors of American cities meeting in Detroit has officially assumed this unjustifiable position, petitioning Congress to bring the budget to balance without delay, and then in the next breath registering a demand for a Federal loan of five billion dollars to build public works. Mayor Walker of New York and Mayor Murphy of Detroit, both representing cities which have lived far beyond their incomes and plunged themselves into mammoth deficits, lead in the agitation for advance of credits by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to cities in distress.

The mayors of 27 cities joined in the $5,000,000,000 demand on Congress. Against this group one man stood out in bold contrast, Mayor J. Fulmer Bright of Richmond, Va. While all his colleagues were clamoring for the Federal loan, Mayor Bright pointed out that such a program would not furnish a real solution of the problem, but would represent simply a loan which would have to be repaid at some later date.

It has been generally accepted that the movement toward an unhealthy centralization of our Government has had its growth from Washington. Such gestures as that of the group of mayors reveal that this centralization tendency comes rather from the country itself. Every community, from New York City to the smallest incorporated town, is developing the habit of crying out to the Federal Government for help in the solution of local problems.

Not Guilty.

Capper's Weekly.

A congressman's wife, waking her husband in the middle of the night, told him there were robbers in the house.

"Impossible," murmured the lawmaker, gaining consciousness. "There may be robbers in the Senate, but not in the House."

Hysteria.

Des Moines Register.

There is perhaps a prevalent sentiment of disgust as to Congress that verges on hysteria. One is reminded of the early days of the war, according to the English papers of the time, when civilian empire-savers too old to enlist went from one London club to another saying, "For God's sake! Why isn't something being done?" They became known as the "forgod-sakers" of that great crisis.

We have them today in this country. They may be too alarmist. The only word of caution they need, with their good intentions and acute concern about the drift of affairs, is that an unending storm of public disparagement of Congress could be so far overdone as really to undermine representative government and prepare the way for the dictator.

Will They Succeed?

Truthful Manager.

Cleveland Plain Dealer.

We would like to hang a medal around the neck of Senator C. C. Dill—something neat but not gaudy, with a Diogenes lantern in the design. For the senator from Washington, who is Franklin D. Roosevelt's spokesman in the National Capital, made history; in commenting on the California primary he said: "We would have claimed it was a great victory if we had won. Since we did not win we can not minimize its importance as a blow." There may have been other instances where the campaign managers have told the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth in discussing political portends. But they've been mighty few. Mr. Dill may be in a political pickle, what with his candidate mauled in Massachusetts and chastised in California, but his frankness, so amazingly unusual in political circles, merits three rousing cheers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Pennsylvania Correspondent Says Rich States Should Finance Own Unemployment Relief; Warns Against Paternalism.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The demand for national unemployment relief has come mostly from the seven richest States in the Union, particularly from the wealthiest sections of those States.

As matters now stand, New York Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin can and should meet their own unemployment problems without the proposed Federal loans. This Federal loan idea is essentially a political gesture and will be used as an entering wedge for further paternalism.

The State tax or voluntary contribution or whatever is agreed upon to finance unemployment relief will probably bear mostly on employers. The situation should be honestly met and care taken that vote seekers do not succeed in slapping on the backs of employers and the public a political plaster based on the theory that the Government owes everybody a living.

Regardless of tiresome propaganda to the contrary, we should remember that it is not borrowing, lending or spending by Government, but the earnings of business and the savings of individuals that add to our national wealth and bring actual prosperity. Formulas based on anything else are sponsored either by ignorance or selfish and concealed motives.

The people are sufficiently convinced of the folly of the past twelve years of borrowing. Private citizens now pay as they go and are better for it. Politicians who propose to "help" us by more borrowing are not statesmen. Where it is impossible for the time being to throw them out of office, we should at least try to prevent them from doing any more harm.

Persian Shah Not Concerned With Estate of Sultan Ahmad Mirza, Says Charge d'Affaires of Persian Legation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read with great surprise the article which appeared in The Washington Post, emanating from New York, in connection with the will left by Sultan Ahmad Mirza, the former King of Persia.

Though the news was utterly unfounded, nevertheless I have made thorough investigation of the case and I am glad to bring the fact forward for publication.

The comments about his majesty the shah claiming the inheritance of the deceased Ahmad Mirza are without any foundation. The only thing known to us is that one of the members of Ahmad Mirza's family, by the name of Iskander Riza Kuli Mirza, has made statements to the Guaranty Trust Co. claiming the rights to the heritage, and this seems to be purely a family quarrel and dispute.

As for the last paragraph of the article, I strongly deny the whole thing, as his majesty Reza Shah Pahlavi is from a notable descent; his father was an officer in the army, and he himself has served in the army from youth and proved to be extremely capable.

I should be very pleased if you would publish the above statements in one of your early issues and oblige.

Tells of Folsom Man, Ancient Inhabitant of Western States.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Recent discoveries, based on geological evidence, have brought to light information about a race of men who inhabited this continent at least 12,000 years earlier than the most ancient known tribes of the basket maker people who lived in the same region about 1,200 B. C. This earlier race, known as the Folsom man, is now considered to have existed contemporaneously with the Aurignacian and the Magdalenian man during the last glaciation in Europe.

The Folsom man belonged to a race of hunters who inhabited North America thousands of years before the Indians came to this continent. This early race is now held to have possessed better hunters and stone workers than any of the tribes that followed and remained long enough to leave traces of their occupation. Frank M. Setzler, archeologist of the Smithsonian Institution, recently has gone out to further explore the caverns of western Texas in the hope of finding new and more complete traces of these ancient people.

Like many other archeological discoveries, the first indications of the Folsom man were found accidentally. A ranch foreman, while riding the range near the headwaters of the Cimmaron River near Folsom, discovered an outcropping of what appeared to be buffalo bones in the dry bed of a creek. Expert investigation proved them to be the bones of an extinct species of bison, among which were found stone arrow heads unlike those of any known culture.

The entire deposit has since been excavated and studied by prominent scientists from all parts of the country. About 30 bison skeletons were unearthed and eighteen arrow and spear heads were found. Also traces of a fire were discovered. This enabled Barnum Brown, of the Natural History Museum, to reconstruct the scene. He visualized a party of Folsom hunters surprising a herd at the water hole. They killed the bison and skinned them, for the tail bones are missing, indicating that they were carried away with the hides. The hunters dried the meat over the fire, taking it back to their homes in the low country. The high altitudes were a hunting ground, but unsuited for a permanent camp. That the arrow and javelin heads are all imperfect suggests that the good, unbroken ones had been recovered and carried away.

RECORD CLASS GETS DIPLOMAS AT G.W.U.

Speaker Stresses Advances in Scientific Medicine to 649 Seniors.

Addressing the largest graduating class of George Washington University, at Constitution Hall last night, Dr. Frederick Parker Gay, professor of bacteriology in Columbia University, stressed the growing importance of the scientific aspects of medical education, dwelling on the probable discovery of cures for cancer and tuberculosis.

He expressed belief that "the final determining step that will lead to the discovery of either one will be made by some one who is concerned with the orderly development of some obscure and apparently unrelated branch of science, as such, rather than with direct attainment of the great objective."

Because of the emphasis placed by George Washington University this year upon the further upbuilding of its School of Medicine and its rededication to the service of the community through the development of scientific medicine, the commencement exercises were planned to center about medical education, and honorary degrees were conferred upon three outstanding figures in the field of scientific medicine.

Dr. Gay was one of these, while the other two were: Dr. George Canby Robinson, dean of the New York Cornell Medical Center, and Dr. Allen Mason Chesney, dean of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

The graduating class was composed of 649 students, including men and women from 46 States and the District of Columbia, and 11 from foreign countries. Constitution Hall was filled to capacity with friends and relatives to see them receive their diplomas.

Paying a tribute to the administration, faculty and alumni of the university for their spirit of cooperation, Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the university, who presided at the exercises, announced that 8,600 students were educated at the university last year at a cost of $625,000.

Progressives Deny Disrespect to Flag

Wisconsin Delegates Admit They Refused to Stand in Honor of Hoover.

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—The Progressives of the Wisconsin delegation tonight denied they had failed to stand when the National Anthem was played, as charged by their regular Republican colleagues. In addition they defended in vigorous fashion their action in keeping their seats during a demonstration which arose when President Hoover's name was mentioned.

The statement, signed by the eleven independents, said:

"We were among the first to rise when the flag was unfurled and the National Anthem played. However, we did not rise when the candidacy of Mr. Hoover was announced since we are not in sympathy with the principles for which he stands."

After referring to the fact that five of the eleven are war veterans, the statement continued:

"We, the Progressive Republican delegates from Wisconsin, firmly believe that it is this type of Americansim alone which will keep this country of ours on the plane which the founders and the makers of this Nation intended. We believe firmly in the Americanism and doctrines as practiced and preached by Abraham Lincoln and Robert M. La Follette, sr."

Capone Henchman Is Convention Aid

Adduci, Seized on Floor, Found Assistant Sergeant at Arms.

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—Delegates to the Republican national convention learned today that a wheel horse of Al Capone's liquor syndicate was one of their assistant sergeants-at-arms. Jimmy Adduci was jerked out of his new surroundings and taken to the detective bureau.

"How did you get into the convention?" Chief William Schoemaker asked him.

"Why, chief, I had every right—look!" and Adduci pulled out a large gold and blue badge proclaiming him an assistant sergeant at arms.

"Well, I'll be—who gave you that?"

"William Garrison, my ward committeeman," the gangster said. He was booked for disorderly conduct and released on $25 bond, probably to return to the stadium to resume his "duties." He will be arraigned in police court tomorrow.

Ritchie Criticizes Plank on Dry Law

Question One of Outright Repeal, Says Governor of Maryland.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 15 (U.P.).—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, after hearing the prohibition plank drawn up at the Republican national convention by the resolutions committee read to him by the United Press tonight, said he still thinks the question is one of outright repeal.

"The question that ought to be submitted to the people is whether or not prohibition ought to be taken out of the Constitution entirely," he said.

"The question is whether or not prohibition should be repealed entirely, leaving the question of liquor control in the hands of the several States with Federal interstate protection to protect States which elect to remain dry from liquor shipments."

Paint Plant Blaze Kills One.

SOCIETY

1,000 Disabled Veterans at White House Garden Fete; Nurses and Ladies In Colorful Outfits.

THE ANNUAL GARDEN party for disabled veterans, given yesterday afternoon at the White House by President and Mrs. Hoover, was the shortest one on record, due to the very threatening skies of the late afternoon, which grew more and more threatening and chased away many of the most disabled men before they would otherwise have gone.

It would have been one of the most picturesque of garden parties were it not for the tragic note in the infirmities of the guests of honor. The scene was more than usually colorful due to the bright, gay colors in the costumes of the nurses and Red Cross aids, many of the aids wearing uniforms not seen before on such occasions, lovely yellows, pinks, blues, white with blue bands, belts and collars, and white with no color. Outstanding were the handsome white uniforms with broad red bands, belts, collars and veils worn by Miss Mabel Boardman and Miss Hitchcock, and those of the administration division of the American Red Cross. The yellow costumes, of sheer organdie, with veils of the same, marked the women officials from hospitals, camps and posts. The pretty blue costumes worn by the canteen aids, gray by the Walter Reed aids and the pink by the staff assistants made a beautiful combination of color against the background of gorgeous old trees and broad expanse of greensward. The dieticians wore all white uniforms.

The Marine Band played from its platform in front of the fountain and scores of chairs and benches were placed around the edge of the lawn for those who tired easily. Sandwiches, cakes and ices were plentifully arranged on tables at either side of the grounds under tents placed among the trees and other tables held delectable fruit punch and ice water.

President and Mrs. Hoover were ten minutes late in descending to the grounds from the south portico. They took their places in front of a handsome tree on the west side of the grounds, and then things moved rapidly. All the veterans, nurses and aids were received. Although the clouds were very ominous no rain fell while any of the guests remained.

Mrs. Hoover was very lovely in a gown of powder blue lace and chiffon, made with very long and flaring skirt, and long sleeves which also flared toward the wrists. Her hat was of fine horse hair exactly matching the gown, with a broad, floppy brim and trimmed with forget-me-nots. She wore loose white gloves. Never has she appeared in a more becoming costume.

Members of the Cabinet circle remaining in town assisted where they could. Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell, Secretary and Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Lamont, wife of the Secretary of Commerce; many of the assistant secretaries and heads of divisions of the Army and Navy were in the company. Representative Edith Nourse Rogers, all in white, whom the veterans adore, also was there.

The grounds were never more beautiful, with thousands of varicolored pansies in the gardens near the house, the iris surrounding the water garden, and the millions of Dorothy Perkins roses forming the hedge between the gardens and the lawns. The honeysuckle which covers the balustrade of the portico steps dispersed its fragrance over that end of the grounds.

The President returned to the office as soon as the last veteran and nurse had been received, but Mrs. Hoover remained on the lawn until all the men had left. The threatening weather proved a blessing to the men, as the President had instructed that they be directed into the house at the first fall of a raindrop, and it became so certain that rain would fall that the house was thrown open, and nearly all the men took advantage of the opportunity to go inside, where they had never been before. They enjoyed the tour of the parlors while Mrs. Hoover was moving about in the grounds from one marquee to the other, taking a bite and a drink with this group and that, until the grounds were empty.

The men declared it to be the best of the parties because they went inside the mansion. One thousand guests were entertained.

Everett House Is Leased To Turkish Ambassador.

The Turkish Ambassador, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar, has leased for the coming season the Everett house on Sheridan circle and Twenty-third street, into which the embassy will move early in the fall. This is the first time this house has ever been occupied by any but its owner, the late Mr. Edward Hamlin Everett, and his family. Mr. Everett built the house before Q street was cut through to Georgetown. The handsome Q street bridge which the back of the house overlooks was built since then. His first wife died shortly after the mansion was completed. A few years later Mr. Everett married Miss Grace Burnap, formerly of Boston, who was one of the local contralto church soloists. She and her two children have occupied the house for some time each winter since Mr. Everett's death. In the summers they went to his former home in Vermont and later to his beautiful place in Switzerland. The house is built especially for entertaining, and Mrs. Everett has made it famous for musicales and balls.

AGED FLAVOR is

...Time's gift to CLICQUOT

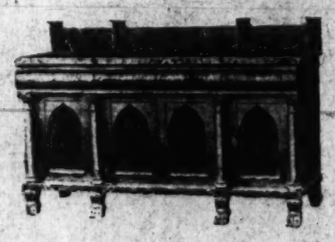

Doesn't it seem reasonable that slow, careful blending will produce better flavor than hurried mixing? Of course, it does! Clicquot Club is noted for its rare mellowness. Fine flavor ingredients are AGED 6 MONTHS to mature before the blend is sweetened and before the sparkling water is added. It is aged flavor that makes the difference.

LET'S TALK FACTS ABOUT ELECTRIC REFRIGERATORS

THE one factor that determines the long life and continuous operation of any refrigerator is the mechanism.

When the mechanism of a refrigerator fails, refrigeration ceases. Service expense begins.

There is no mechanism like that of the General Electric Refrigerator. Every moving part is hermetically sealed-in-steel in the Monitor Top. The General Electric's mechanism requires no attention—not even oiling.

It cannot fail because of neglect—because there is nothing for you to neglect. Air, dust and moisture cannot reach the mechanism. Your children can't reach it. It's simple, clean, compact, efficient.

The General Electric Refrigerator furnishes the lowest cost refrigeration service obtainable.

The Department also announced that exports of cotton during May aggregated 501,000 bales, a decrease of 44,000 bales from April, but an increase of 165,000 bales over May, 1931.

Exports of cotton during the first five months of the calendar year aggregated 3,863,000 bales, an increase of 1,564,000 bales over the corresponding five months of 1931.

The value of cotton exported in May aggregated $17,577,000 compared with $20,518,000 in April and $18,325,000 in May, 1931. The total value of cotton exported during the five months of the calendar year was $147,435,000, an increase of $13,966,000 over the first five months of 1931.

During May all of the important countries took more American cotton than in May, 1931. The increase for the United Kingdom was 67,000 bales, France 21,000 bales, Italy 17,000 bales, Germany 10,000 bales, and Japan 20,000.

Notes Fast Steamer Goes 350 Miles in Time She Crossed Sea.

S. S. Ile de France, June 15 (A.P.). Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam had traveled 350 miles on her return trip to America today in exactly the same elapsed time in which she spanned the entire Atlantic alone by airplane on May 20.

This trip was 350 miles out from Plymouth, England, when Mrs. Putnam noticed that the time was the same as that of her solo flight of 2,100 miles from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Londonderry, northern Ireland.

Embarking yesterday with her husband, George Palmer Putnam, the American flier's first interest was to inspect her red and gold plane, the wings and fuselage of which were crated and housed on the after-deck. The shipping address read: Miss Earhart, U. S. A."

Crop Outlook Brightens Future of Rail Traffic

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co., is in agreement with the heads of other Northwestern roads that the most encouraging feature of the traffic outlook for the remainder of the year is the unusually favorable condition of crops at the present time.

Mr. Sargent reiterated that view today, but said he saw no indication of a pick up in business in the North-Western's territory.

Former Attorney for Pitts Files Motion for Bill of Particulars.

Frank G. Raichle, former defense attorney for G. Bryan Pitts, one-time head of the F. H. Smith Co., yesterday filed in the District Supreme Court a motion for a bill of particulars to compel the Government to reveal more of the details of the charges placed against him.

Raichle asked that the Government specify what false testimony he is alleged to have gotten Pitts to give on the witness stand in the Supreme Court, and also just what dates were on the 22 promissory notes he offered for identification and which caused him to be charged with obstruction of justice.

Justice F. D. Letts, who received the motion for a bill of particulars, had not acted on the motion late last night.

Canes Given Blind By Capital Lions

WhiteWalking Sticks From Club to Aid Sightless; Visitors at Meeting.

The movement to supply blind persons with white canes as a means of protection in crossing streets received auspicious indorsement from the Washington Lions Club meeting in the Hotel Mayflower yesterday.

Several of the canes were presented to a committee of Washingtonians who are sponsoring the project. The gift of the club was received by Douglas Richardson, chairman of the citizens' committee.

Others present were Isaac Gans, chairman of the safety council of the American Automobile Association; H. B. W. Miles, president of the Columbia Polytechnic Institute for the Blind; Andrew Raymond and Ralph Campbell, members of the Richardson committee.

The club over a period of years has interested itself in a number of movements to aid the blind. Leonard W. DeGast presided for the first time since his election to the presidency.

Exchange Takes Step To Shield Private Data

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—While seemingly at variance with its policy of requiring fuller information from corporations whose shares are listed, the action of the New York Stock Exchange in granting permission to the Hershey Chocolate Corporation to omit all figures on net sales from published reports is regarded by Wall street as a reasonable concession in view of the unusual competitive conditions.

Similar permission has been given recently to other food companies, such as General Foods and National Dairy Products.

The step was taken because some companies declared that publication of the sales figures placed them at a disadvantage compared with their competitors.

(Associated Press.)

Poland and Estonia yesterday signed an agreement with the Treasury to pay over a 10-year period $8,067,208 due this country as a result of the one-year moratorium on intergovernmental debts. That leaves Austria the only nation remaining to sign. She owes only $287,556 and is expected to sign this week.

Under the agreement, Poland will pay $7,466,835, and Estonia $600,373. The total amount postponed aggregated $252,566,803, of which $252,279,247 has been funded.

Two Escape Injury As Plane Crashes

New Sikorsky Plunges in Potomac While Flying at Low Altitude.

While flying at a low altitude yesterday afternoon opposite Bellevue Naval Research Laboratory, a new Sikorsky patrol amphibion, being tested by the Navy, plunged into the Potomac River. Neither the pilot nor the mechanic were hurt.

The ship was being flown by Lieut. Thomas P. Jeter, of the board of inspection and survey of the Navy Department. Hugh A. Hutson, aviation machinist mate, of 1125 Twelfth street southwest, was the only other occupant. Both were removed from the plane by a Navy crash boat which hurried to the scene from the Anacostia station.

The ship was hauled onto the flats of the river and will be salvaged. The cause of the accident has not been determined.

Excessive Speed Caused Fatal Train Derailment

(Associated Press.)

The safety division of the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday held that excessive speed was responsible for the derailment on April 28 at South Bend, Ind., of a Grand Trunk Western Railroad passenger train resulting in the death of two persons and injury of four others.

The bureau found that the train was running 58 miles an hour on a stretch of track over which there was a speed limit order of 25 miles an hour.

DO YOU INHALE?

"Everybody's doing it!"

7 out of 10 smokers inhale knowingly—the other 3 inhale unknowingly

Do you inhale? 7 out of 10 smokers know they inhale. The other 3 inhale without realizing it. Every smoker inhales—for every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

Do you inhale? Of course you do! Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Do you inhale? More than 20,000 physicians, after Luckies had been furnished them for tests, basing their opinions on their smoking experience, stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.

4-H CLUBS' ANNUAL CAMP STARTS HERE

Boys and Girls From 40 States to Represent 900,000 Youths.

Representing 40 States, 154 boy and girl delegates encamped yesterday on the Smithsonian grounds for the sixth national 4-H Club camp. Meetings of the delegates, who represent 900,000 members of the organization, will be held in the New National Museum and the Department of Agriculture Building.

The purpose of the club is to inform rural districts of the modern developments in agriculture and home-making. A green uniform is worn by the girl delegates and the boys are garbed in white. Improvement in "head, hand, heart and health" is the motto of the group.

A program of instruction, education and sightseeing has been scheduled for the delegates by the Department of Agriculture and Land Grant Colleges, sponsors of the organization.

Reveille at 6 o'clock yesterday morning began the activities of the encampment. Inspection of quarters and an open-air assembly were held before breakfast. At 9:45 a. m. the members met in the auditorium of the new National Museum, where R. A. Turner presented a tour talk and directed a program of singing.

Dr. C. W. Warburton, director of the extension work of the Department of Agriculture, addressed the camp and advised the delegates to see as much of the city as possible. Sightseeing in Washington, he said, was an education in itself. The city, he told them, belonged to all the people of the country. Dr. C. B. Smith, assistant director of the extension service, also welcomed the camp.

A community talent evening rounded out the day for the delegates, and camp activities were suspended at 10 o'clock last night until 6 a. m. today.

CIVIL SERVICE JOB COACHING SCORED

Officials Brand "Racketeering" Schools; Fleecing of Public Charged.

Coaching courses in preparation for Federal jobs were labeled a "racket" yesterday by officials of the Civil Service Commission, who stated that chances for appointment to positions are virtually hopeless.

A campaign to break up the chain of schools which advertise in second-rate magazines promising to place pupils in "big-pay jobs" was instituted and the commission has, with the assistance of the Department of Justice, obtained one indictment in Iowa. Fifty field agents of the commission will carry on the campaign.

The warning of the commission is being broadcast throughout the Nation. Notices sent to various radio stations read: "Very few appointments are being made in the Federal Civil Service. Vacancies which must be filled are filled by the transfer of those in the service, or the reinstatement of those who have been in the service, wherever practicable.

"It is seldom necessary to announce an examination. In most cases registers of eligibles exist as a result of examinations held during the last year. When an examination is announced, the applicants are usually hundreds of times in excess of the need. Money paid for civil service coaching courses at this time might almost as well be thrown to the four winds."

The chances of a newcomer for appointment are less than 10,000 to 1, officials of the commission said. The glowing advertisements in magazines are fleecing people of money with which they can not afford to part, it was stated.

Ready readers await the offers in Post Classified Ads, the first thing in the morning.

Georgia Seeks to Bar Federal Gasoline Tax

Atlanta, Ga., June 15 (A.P.).—Georgia's lawyer-governor today sought means to avoid payment by the State and its subdivisions of the new Federal tax of 1 cent per gallon on gasoline. He said payment by the State would be "manifestly unfair" in view of Federal failure to pay similar taxes levied by Georgia.

Gov. Russell wrote Attorney General Lawrence Camp directing him to investigate whether the tax must be paid by Georgia. He said it was a "well settled rule of law that the National Government can not directly levy a tax on the State or its subdivisions, and it should not be permitted to do by indirection what it can not do directly."

Danzig Is Aroused By Polish Warship

Destroyer Visits Free City to Greet British, It Is Explained.

Warsaw, Poland, June 15 (A.P.).—Poland's desire to be courteous caused a little trouble today in the port of the free city of Danzig.

The Polish destroyer Wicher dropped anchor there and promptly there were protests from the Danzig Senate. Polish authorities explained that the destroyer had been sent to greet the British flotilla and they justified their action by asserting that Poland represented Danzig in foreign political affairs and therefore had a perfect right to dispatch the warship.

The Wicher returned to Gdynia after accomplishing her mission.

MacLean, Liberal Leader, Succumbs

Sir Donald Aided British Premier in Forming Crisis Cabinet.

London, June 15 (A.P.).—Sir Donald MacLean, one of the Liberal party leaders, who met the national emergency last fall by throwing their strength behind Ramsay MacDonald in the formation of a "crisis cabinet," died today of a heart attack. He was 68. Long a power in the Liberal party, Sir Donald entered the MacDonald national cabinet as president of the board of education.

The formation of the national ministry brought about the break-up of the old Liberal party, but Sir Donald stuck to his free-trade principles. When the tariff issue came up, he was one of the ministers who opposed the ministry in which he sat, thereby playing an important part in one of the strangest phases of Britain's recent ministerial history. There were reports that he would resign, but official approval of the anomalous situation was expressed by Mr. MacDonald and he kept his post.

Sir Donald first took his seat in the House of Commons 25 years ago. From 1919 to 1922 he was chairman of the parliamentary Liberal party. He was knighted in 1917 for his services as chairman of the London appeal tribunal, under the military service acts. In 1907 he married Gwendolen Margaret Devitt. They had four sons and a daughter.

Los Angeles, June 15 (A.P.).—A photograph of a woman, identified by police as Mrs. Helen E. Moffit, 35, which was found in the pockets of Merton L. Jenks, wealthy Beverly Hills oil man, gave authorities a new lead in their investigation of his slaying today.

Jenks was accompanied by Mrs. Moffitt when he was shot to death yesterday. Police were told Jenks took Mrs. Moffitt to the North Hollywood Hills to show her some real estate. She told police "a young man in blue overalls" attempted to rob Jenks, and he was killed in an ensuing fight.

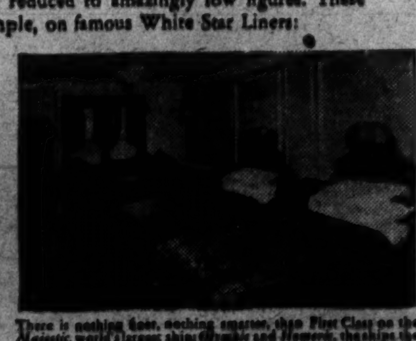

David Davidson, homicide squad inspector, said he would requestion Mrs. Moffitt, her husband, Norvall Moffitt, Glendale automobile salesman, and Julian Zeller, a mortorist, who took Jenks to a hospital.

"I've been shot by two bandits," Zeller said Jenks told him.

Former Emperor Is Still at Large

Capture of Abyssinian Is Denied; 3,000 on His Trail.

Jibuti, French East Africa, June 15 (A.P.).—The former Emperor of Abyssinia, Lij Yeasau, who escaped into the wilds of Gojjam recently, after fifteen years as a prisoner of his successor, is still at large, despite reports to the contrary.

This became known here today when it was officially admitted that reports of his capture, at the hands of troops loyal to Emperor Haile Selassie, were false. Further information here was that the Abyssinian capital, Addis Ababa, had been ringed with Selassie's soldiers to forestall any attempt to set up a Yeasau government.

Meanwhile, the former emperor, who fled from the custody of the influential noble, Ras Kassa, garbed as a woman, remained in the Gojjam hills, where 3,000 government troops were reported on his trail.

Newspaper Body Elects Chicago Tribune Girl

Lake Placid Club, N. Y., June 15 (A.P.).—The newspaper group of the Special Libraries Association, in twenty-fourth annual convention here, today elected Miss Mildred Burke, of the Chicago Tribune, chairman for the coming year. The vice chairman is William W. Vaughn, of the Oakland, Calif., Tribune.

Ford M. Pettit, of the Detroit News, was elected to the executive board in place of William Alcott, of the Boston Globe, who declined reelection.

SANDINO SAYS U. S. LOST 7 MEN IN APRIL

Writes to Newspaper That Nine Battles Were Fought; Picks Candidate.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, June 15 (A.P.).—Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan insurgent leader, contributed an article under his own signature to a newspaper here today in which he asserted that in the month of April his men had fought nine battles against the Nicaraguan National Guard.

Seven United States Marines serving with the guard were killed, he said, and in all the dead numbered 131. Thirty of the guards were wounded and the insurgents captured 29 rifles, 7 machine guns and 19,000 cartridges, Sandino wrote.

He asserted the only candidate for the Nicaraguan presidency acceptable to him is Gen. Horacio Portocarrero.

"Nicaragua will be freed only by the bullets and blood of our people," he wrote; "we will oppose by force of arms whatever election farce may be attempted with the aid of foreign supervision."

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

Cucumbers Are Served With Fish.

CLAMS, like rainy days and our pet, slightly cracked coffee pot, are always with us, be the season summer or winter. So let us decide upon a good, well-seasoned cream of clam soup for tomorrow's fish dish menu to precede an equally tasty curry of salmon in timbales, which shall be augmented by scalloped tomatoes (or cucumbers, if you prefer) and a raw-carrot salad.

Cucumbers, in almost any form, by the way, seem to have acquired fame as a food to be served as a fish-dish accompaniment. 'Tis said, and I think truly, that the one complements the other, each bringing out the other's delicate and delightful flavor. Fresh-sliced cucumbers are a delightful garnish to a platter of broiled or baked fish of any sort, in addition, of course, to lemon. And as cucumbers reach their point of fine quality and low price when they are derived from local sources during the summer months, this use for them is one worth while to remember.

FRIDAY'S DINNER.
Cream of Clam Soup
Curried Salmon with Rice in Timbales
Scalloped Tomatoes
Raw Carrot Salad
Lemon Sponge with Soft Custard Sauce
Coffee

Cream of Clam Soup.

2 dozen clams in shell
1 pint rich milk
1 tablespoonful butter
1 pint water
1 tablespoonful of flour
1 tablespoonful celery—chopped
1 tablespoonful parsley—chopped
Salt and pepper to taste

Make a white sauce of the flour, butter and milk. Scrub clams thoroughly, open them and wash in their own liquor. Chop very fine. Strain the liquor and add to the water. Add the chopped parsley and celery and cook for ten minutes. Add the chopped clams and cook five minutes longer. Press through a sieve and add to white sauce. Season with salt and pepper to taste and serve hot.

Curried Salmon With Rice in Timbales.

1 pound of cold boiled salmon meat.
1 cupful milk
1 cupful fish stock
3 tablespoonfuls butter
4 tablespoonfuls flour
1 teaspoonful curry powder
Salt and paprika to taste
½ teaspoonful lemon juice
½ cupful cream
2 hard-boiled eggs
Parsley for garnishing

Remove all bone and skin from the salmon and break into small pieces. Pack small buttered timbale molds with cooked rice and stand in a pan of boiling water. Heat the fish stock with the milk. Melt the butter and, when it bubbles, stir in the flour and curry powder, forming a smooth paste. Add the heated fish stock and milk and stir constantly until smooth and boiling. Season with salt and paprika and add the lemon juice. Add the salmon and the cream. Unmold the rice and arrange it in a border. Fill the center with the creamed salmon and garnish with slices of egg and sprigs of parsley.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

PREVENTION OF SOME FOOT ILLS.

MANY complain that their feet burn and pain when they go home after a day's work. Dr. May R. Mayers advises all such to take a series of foot baths as the best measure of relief.

The process is begun with a simple warm foot bath. As a rule it is advisable to use soap with the bath. After this the feet are dipped first in quite warm water and then in cold. The shifting from hot to cold and back again should be done 15 or 20 times. The feet are then dried, and loose, comfortable stockings and shoes or slippers are put on.

Just before going to bed, Dr. Mayers further advises carrying out the following foot exercises, with the feet bare of stockings as well as shoes or slippers:

1. Rise on the toes and front part of the feet, say, 20 times.
2. Walk on the toes.
3. Bend the ankles and stand on the outer edge of the feet.
4. Standing on a book or board with the front of the foot over the edge, pick up marble and other small objects with the toes.

In the morning dust the feet with some smooth dusting powder, and use the same powder to dust the inside of the shoes. The chemistry of powders for this purpose is not important. The chemicals they contain do not soothe, nor have they any other physiological or chemical action. The good they do—and no one questions that they are of service—is in reducing friction. The same holds true of remedies that are to be used in the foot baths and the claims that are made for them. It is the washing and the exposure to heat and cold that do the good.

Dr. Mayers has some advice on the subject of shoes. Foot pains result from wearing shoes which are too narrow or too small, or which have heels that are too high. Footwear is improper if it is too loose and does not give enough support; house slippers and old shoes may be comfortable for a short while, but before the end of a hard day they become sources of fatigue and painful feet. The average foot needs a certain amount of support and restraint. Heels that are run down and shoes that are out of shape throw unnatural strain on parts of the foot not designed for that kind of load.

Dr. Mayers charges improperly fitting shoes with practically all the responsibility for both corns and bunions. I agree with her as to corns, but not as to bunions. The more important factor in bunions is bony abnormalities, and especially misplaced sesamoids; the shape and size of shoes are contributing factors.

She places stress on the advantage of standing with the feet rather widely separated and with the toes pointing forward. The people who toe out when they walk and stand are especially prone to painful feet. She thinks that many would promote their foot comfort by wearing light elastic stockings, and some need to have varicose veins attended to.

IT PROBABLY IS GRAVEL.

G. W. G. W. writes: What causes tiny red spots in the urine? They feel gritty to the touch.

REPLY.

I judge these particles are masses of uric acid. The condition is known as gravel. To prevent it one should eat freely of potatoes and bananas. Other vegetables and fruits are valuable remedies, but these are the old standbys.

The foods that are to be avoided or eaten in moderation are beef tea, meat extracts, meat soups, roe, kidney, sweetbreads, pepper, condiments, tea and coffee.

DIABETES.

M. B. writes: What causes diabetes?

REPLY.

There are many causes. Among them are: Obesity, overeating, shock, worry and family and racial inheritance.

STIFF FINGERS.

L. E. R. writes: E. G. asks what to do about stiff fingers in the morning. I have the same thing after eating candy or sweet desserts, especially at night. By experimenting, I discovered that cream, chocolate and sweets are poison for me, and give me stiff joints and stiff eyelids, whereas a whole tumbler full of orange juice every morning (pulp with juice), on an empty stomach, has done wonders. I cannot digest it, however, if I take coffee or tea at the same meal with it.

HAVE EYES EXAMINED.

M. Y. writes: To my eyes the street and auto lights at night seem to have a red spot in the center, which disappears as I get nearer to them.

REPLY.

I advise you to have your eyes examined.

USUALLY CONSTIPATION.

S. A. writes: What causes flatulence and how can I get rid of it?

REPLY.

Constipation is about three-fourths the cause.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

A summer coat for cooler evenings, perhaps—or morning walks? Brown and beige in a soft woolen, and the most unique arrangement of applique for trimming fastens the cuffs and scarf collar to the body of the coat. (Courtesy of Bernard et Cie, Paris.)

NEW YORK, June 15.—There is a lovely lady who looks well in slender, slinky tunic things. Yes, you've guessed it—she is a type—and dahr-lings, she is just clever enough to not try to be anything else! She is a brunette, with a little, white oval face—lots of dark brown hair, slender hands—and smokes her cigarette ten inches away from her face. Well, and she stands on one foot, too, and throws the other hip a little up—you know—not at all the lady-of-the-day type, the square shouldered, remote and deep in herself Scandinavian who is the ideal of every cinema fan and every Fashun-artist.

Well, as I have said—does she try to be Garboish? She does not! And does she go in for turtle neck sweaters and brogues? She does not again! She just goes on wearing tunics, playing at smoking cigarettes when she really doesn't—merely to use the long cigarette holder gracefully and being lovely and a type.

What luck? Well, some men fall for her, fall so hard and so permanently that she is a little icon in their heart of hearts forever 'n' ever. Other men just don't see her at all—that is, they don't appreciate her type, or just appreciate her as they would appreciate an icon, which appreciation does not necessarily ruffle their composure.

Isn't she the smart lovely lady? Having what she has wholly, taking no substitutes and nothing half way, and gracefully leaving alone what is not hers—nor even needed for her loveliness.

* * * *

Who wants to make a couple of girdles that are particularly suited to very hot summer wear? Yes, actually make them with your own hands, and make them successfully, too! For there is a leaflet in the Dare Department of The Washington Post which tells you how to go about it, step by step, piece by piece, stitch by stitch. You can practice on a less expensive material, you know, then when you have a successful girdle, one that fits and hangs 'n' all, you make your good one from this "sample."

Just enough and not too much girdle for summer comfort—that's what these two are. One is a mere wisp of a ribbon thing, the other is one of those slide fastener things, a bit more substantial. Just send your envelope for them and see!

* * * *

We're still trying to figger it out! How Bernard et Cie., of Paris, can keep right on turning out such chic models of everything. No, I mean it—this isn't fashun-blurb. Look at the coat I sketch for you today! See that it is beige and brown, and that the closing of the bodice has the effect of a turned back revere—but is not one—while the rest of the neck finishing winds around in a scarf effect and hangs down the back. This is all of the brown, attached to the beige part of the coat with appliques of beige on the brown—and brown on the beige!

Then the cuffs—attached the same way to the body of the sleeves. Is it or not artistic—I demand?

* * * *

Sh-h-h-h-h, the latest! A handful of beads seem to float around Miladi's little throat on nothing but thin air—it's most puzzling and most effective, too, until you look very, very closely and see the fine, fine silver wire which actually holds the necklace together. I sketched a bag with silver top which allows it to open wa-a-a-a-y down one side, and the necklace, too—the bag closing is of emeralds (glass of course) and the necklace is the same.

Au revoir.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

DEFENSE AGAINST GAME BIDS.

IN hands containing long suits, the element of defense against an average bid is reduced to its lowest point. The very length of the predominant suit makes it improbable that the hand will take many tricks if it is finally played at another declaration. Hence, with this type of hand, a Preemptive game bid is usually the best method of handling the situation.

Defense, however, marches with attack, and those who play Bridge and study the science of bidding always seek to find some method of coping effectively with the situation thus presented. The problem of building a bidding defense to a Preemptive bid is an extremely difficult one, even though the opposing players hold great strength in other suits. Finally, in consultation with Messrs. Edward Hymes, jr., John Rau, Oswald Jacoby, Louis H. Watson and William J. Huske, interested in the development of correct bidding methods, I have devised a new bid to meet this situation. It is the bid of the necessary number of notrump to overcall the adverse game. In order to justify this bid, the hand must be strong indeed—otherwise the losses would be severe—and must be prepared for a response, however weak partner's hand may be. The player using this bid must either have a strong escape suit of his own or be prepared for any response his partner may make.

A vivid illustration of the value of this bid came up in a New York club in a Duplicate game, on the following hand:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The Bidding.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	4♠(1)	4NT(2)	Pass
5♡(3)	Pass	6♡(4)	Pass
Pass	Pass

1—West's hand is practically assured of 8 tricks with spades as trump. The game bid is fully justified.

2—As will be seen, North can stand a response in any suit from partner. His hand is a most unusual one with two strong five-card suits. The question of finding the best declaration is to determine the one which his partner can best support.

3—South is void of honor values, but has one five and one six-card suit. His correct response is, therefore, five hearts, confident that his partner would not have forced him to make a choice, with his trickless holding, unless prepared to play the hand at this declaration.

4—North's bid for a Slam is based on his view that if South does not hold at least heart length, he would have responded with either clubs or diamonds and not have forced him to bid six of either of these suits on the bare chance of escaping without loss. His hand is so unusually powerful that the Slam bid is fully justified.

It is, of course, apparent that South's only loser, played at hearts, is the heart King. The occasion when this bid may be used are comparatively rare, but when the occasion does arise, the Contract player who knows it and uses it will find it a most effective weapon.

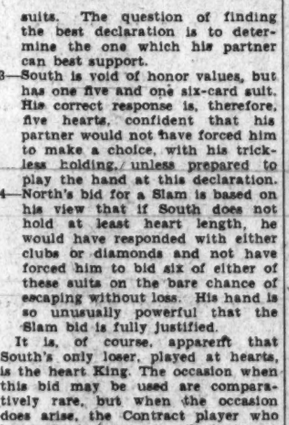

TODAY'S POINTER.

Bidding defense against Preemptive bids is extremely difficult, and it is quite easy for the Defending Hand to be heavily penalized by the choice of a wrong declaration when there has been no opportunity to exchange information with partner. The method of play outlined in this article presents a correct defense with one type of hand.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.

Study the hand and decide how you would bid and play it and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Salt on the Beauty Shelf.

I ALWAYS hesitate to give very simple beauty hints, feeling that women regard these too lightly. But there are many items right on the kitchen shelf that can be used in the bathroom and beauty room, too. There's the lowly lemon for instance, with its bleaching qualities; but every one knows how excellent it is for this purpose. There are the meals with their softening effect on water and clearing qualities for the skin, and today we will exalt the beautifying qualities of salt.

Bathing for Beauty.

Salt water bathing is a delight that many of us are looking forward to. But you can bring the ocean to the bathroom before the swimming season starts. There are several salt water baths. Some are intended to relieve fatigue, some are desirable to induce relaxation and others to stimulate the circulation and produce "pep."

At the end of a busy spring day, when you feel "pretty well done for" as one reader puts it, draw half a tub of warm water and pour in about a pound of salt (fine table or cooking salt). Relax completely and remain in the tub for about 15 minutes. Use a fairly coarse wash cloth and a good, bland soap for cleansing. Before the bath is finished (if your feet feel very tired) massage the muscles of the feet with a handful of salt. Rinse every grain of salt thoroughly from the body before stepping out of the bath. If you are retiring immediately, instead of rubbing the body briskly with a coarse turkish towel, gently pat the skin dry. This treatment should relax and help you to fall sound asleep.

If you wish to relieve fatigue and are planning to keep a dinner date following the day's work, finish the above treatment with a brisk turkish towel rub and then give face and neck a quick treatment, brush hair, make up and you should feel "fit as a fiddle."

In the morning, if you feel sleepy-eyed and "not so spry" take a shower. Wet the body thoroughly. Then rub a cupful of salt over the skin by hand. Under the shower again and rinse the salt from the body completely. You should be tingling with new vigor.

Many physicians recommend salt water bathing for women troubled with body odors or excessive perspiration.

Salt water as a mouth wash (one spoonful in a glass of water) for hardening teeth and gums (used on the tooth brush), and salt for an eye wash, (a pinch to a pint of boiled water) are other uses of this household necessity.

Some time ago I came across an interesting little booklet called "The Magic of Salt," which listed any number of ways that this commodity can be put to good use for the sake of health and beauty.

So if you have not already done so, add salt to your beauty shelf.

What Today Means

"GEMINI."

IF June 16 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 2:15 p. m. to 3:30 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:35 a. m. to 8:45 a. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to midnight.

There will be more than the usual thought and reflection on spiritual matters on June 16. It will be a good time for literary composition, whether it be a club woman's theme or a newspaper article. A disgruntled time for money lovers, social climbers and ultra material-minded people.

The child born on this June 16 will have ability, but slight application, and may be destined to join the "could-be" ranks, unless there are modifying factors. It will be uncertain of its own judgment, and glad to accept advice from any advice-monger. A good disposition will help to offset all weaknesses.

Born on June 16, your mind does not dwell on disagreeableness but soon glances off to brighter themes. You are in love with life and disseminate good cheer to all who come within your radius. Very small things fire you with contentment, and you take a wholesome interest in everyday affairs. You do not know what impatience means, and it is easy for you to make the best of everything. It takes a severe jolt "on the jaw" to put you on the aggressively defensive. You are not a slave to associations, and soon can feel at home within any four walls.

You are a willing adviser, but never play the role of dictator. You can wheedle folks into doing things, but seldom "set your foot down" to anybody. You have cunning methods of getting your own way, and your stubbornness does not take a disagreeable form. It will not be your luck to be able to save money, but there are no indications of you ever being in want. If you be a woman, you will have the knack of making things "do," and of always putting on a good front.

You are not a deep thinker, although you are full of ordinary horse sense. You have too many interests to be much of a reader and are of too active a temperament to care for quiet relaxations.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

I AM about to plant some dahlias for late flowering. How far apart shall I plant these tubers? Is it worth while to plant roots broken at the neck? MRS. H. P. R.

For the best success when planting a plot of dahlias I should set them 4 by 4 feet apart. When planting in a single row, say, through the end of the garden, you may plant them 2½ to 3 feet apart. Always discard all roots that are broken or injured at the neck.

Do you know of any perennial that can be propagated by root cuttings except Oriental poppies? MRS. LENA S. K.

Yes, there are several varieties of plants which can be propagated from root cuttings by dividing the fleshy roots into small pieces. Gaillardias, tall phlox and Japanese anemones can all be raised in this way.

Please tell me how often to cultivate and water gladiolus bulbs. JANET R. P.

Gladioluses require plenty of water and cultivation. From the time growth begins do not let the beds dry out. Soak the ground to the depth of 5 inches once a week. Cultivate the soil about their roots once a week. When they are in bloom, cease deep cultivation; from then until after they have ceased to bloom continue to cultivate, but be content with merely turning over the surface soil.

I have decided to make a rock garden and have plenty of land from which to choose almost any kind of site. I rather favor a grade. Do you agree with me? BURKE S. L.

The best site for a rock garden is on a slope where there is plenty of drainage. The location should be in the sun, for most rock plants are sun lovers, though, since you have enough room, I should suggest a stretch where you have both sun and shade.

Will it injure a Virginia creeper to prune it so late in the season? WILLIAM S. N.

No.

Please tell me how to keep a new lawn in condition. It is now beautiful and I want, if possible, to keep it so. HENRY M. O.

During the first year a new lawn should have an application of a reliable fertilizer every eight weeks. Your dealer will tell you which fertilizer to use. I can not name a proprietary preparation in this column. You are always safe in using bonemeal, though some of the commercial fertilizers, which contain more than one ingredient, stimulate growth more rapidly. Always water the sod after using any form of fertilizer.

Please tell me how to save some iris which are planted in a spot in my garden where the earth worms are prevalent. HANNAH M. L.

Earth worms will not harm your iris or any other plants. However, if you wish to get rid of these crawlers, pour some limewater over the soil. This will cause the worms to come to the surface, where they can be collected and destroyed.

Approximately 150 delegates representing the organization throughout the United States were entertained by the Washington A. B. C.

An interesting picturization of the history, development and present status of social conditions in Hawaii was given by Seth P. He was commissioned by President Hoover to investigate conditions in the islands.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, D. D., pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, addressed the delegates, expressing the opinion that the return of prosperity depends upon the reestablishment of faith and confidence among men.

8 Conventions Set In West Virginia

Many Political Meetings to Be Held Over State This Summer.

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 15.—West Virginia is going to have eight political conventions this summer in addition to a multitude of magisterial mass meetings, or conventions, at which delegates to State conventions will be chosen.

One membership on the State supreme court is to be filled by reason of the expiration of the incumbent's term. To select nominees for the office, Republican and Democratic State conventions are to be held on the same day, August 11, the former at Wheeling and the latter at Bluefield.

Kanawha is the only county in the State this year in which a county convention will be held to select a candidate for judge of the common pleas court. The two Kanawha conventions, one for each party, must be held between July 15 and August 15.

Judicial conventions will also be held in Randolph and Upshur Counties, comprising the twentieth judicial circuit, to select nominees for judge of the circuit court to succeed Judge H. G. Kump, Democratic nominee for governor, who has resigned.

Grasshopper War Fund Insisted On by Senate

(Associated Press.)

The Senate last night decided to insist upon inclusion in the Agriculture Department appropriation bill of funds for grasshopper control in the Northwest. This has been rejected twice by the House.

Without a record vote, it refused to recede from its appropriation of $1,450,000 in the $175,000,000 Agriculture Department supply bill and appointed conferees to take up this point with the House. The conferees are Senators McNary (Republican), Oregon, Jones (Republican), Washington, Keyes (Republican), New Hampshire, and Kendrick (Democrat), Wyoming.

Park Board to Discuss Airport Data Tomorrow

The National Park and Planning Commission will meet tomorrow and will discuss pending business, including the development of a consolidated commercial airport from the ground now occupied individually by Washington and Hoover Fields.

Several plans will be talked over for the improvement of the local airport situation, with the possibility of the commission recommending that the Government lease and operate the two fields.

"Her Nerves are Ragged . . . She Can't Face Another Day of Work"

"I can't go through another day . . . oh, what is the matter? What shall I do"? Did you ever feel this way yourself?

Nearly Nervous Prostration

DO you know her . . . this poor woman who wakes up as tired as she went to bed?

Her head is still aching . . . her nerves are ragged . . . she's on the verge of tears as she faces another day of work.

"I can't go through it again . . . I can't. Oh, what is the matter? What shall I do?" she cries.

How many young women are fast approaching a nervous breakdown because they let suffering due to female weakness rob them of their strength and health.

In offices or in their homes, they drive themselves, working "on their nerve." Hoping against hope that tomorrow they will feel better . . . but instead they become more and more prostrated.

It is a double tragedy because it is so unnecessary.

Nature did not mean women to suffer so cruelly. If they would only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound! It has befriended women against their "peculiar" troubles for over 50 years.

It brings soothing, comforting relief . . . gently corrects through its strengthening tonic action the cause of the headaches and backaches that wear you out. Drives away the awful lassitude that kills ambition and makes life a burden.

This simple, safe remedy has justly earned its place in the Family Medicine Cabinet.

Won't you listen to the testimony of thousands of women who use it?

EUROPEAN LEADERS GATHER IN LAUSANNE

Guards Patrol City as Noted Figures Arrive to Hold Debts Parley.

Lausanne, June 15 (U.P.).—European statesmen shifted their negotiations to this quiet town on the slopes of Mount Jorat tonight in preparation for a decision on the troublesome question of World War reparations.

The delegates, most of them coming here from the Geneva disarmament conference, are concerned both with the reparations and, in private talks, with efforts to settle political phases of the disarmament tangle, but tonight they were extremely guarded in their statements and newspapermen were not admitted to the chateau.

The Swiss police set up an elaborate guard to prevent any possible acts of political terrorism while the famous statesmen are in Lausanne. There are six "inviting powers"—Great Britain, Belgium, France, Italy, Germany and Japan—and twelve other governments on the official list of nations at the conference, but four of the latter are members of the British Commonwealth. The list includes Australia, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Hungary, New Zealand, Poland, Portugal, Roumania and Jugoslavia.

Prime Minister MacDonald, Premier Edouard Herriot of France and Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy arrived by automobile from Geneva, where they had been negotiating on disarmament questions. There was considerable pessimism concerning the progress in disarmament negotiations.

London, June 15 (U.P.).—Sir Walter Layton, famous economist, writing in the News Chronicle today, said a postponement of the reparations question at the Lausanne conference would mean failure.

"First," he said, "the economic and financial situation in Germany is precarious and she is face to face with the possibility in the near future of suspending all foreign payments, which would be unavoidable if a mere temporizing is made at Lausanne.

"Second, nothing can be done about other questions until reparations is settled. If settlement is postponed, the proposed world economic conference will be a failure."

Court of Claims Closes Term With Work Record

The U. S. Court of Claims, from October 1, 1931, to June 15, 1932, has accomplished the largest volume of work completed during any previous similar period in its history. According to the records just released for the above period, the court has disposed of 1,212 cases by written opinions, memorandum opinions, orders, &c. In addition to the above the court has acted on motions of every nature and on rules to show cause in the total number of 655 cases.

The court, upon completing its June term, disposed of all cases that were ready for trial. There are now pending 1,535 cases, and included in this number are 638 involving refunds of Federal taxes, 408 received by congressional reference, 80 Indian cases, 31 patent cases and the remainder of a miscellaneous nature.

Reed Scores Long For Being Absent

Senator Calls It Indefensible for Any to Be Away From Duties.

(Associated Press.)

The absent Senator Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, was criticized sharply in the Senate yesterday for not sticking to his duties in Washington.

"It is indefensible," said Senator Reed (Republican), Pennsylvania, "for any one of us to go away in a time of crisis and expect the business of the Senate to stagnate until our return."

Reed spoke out when Senator King (Democrat), Utah, on behalf of Long, objected to consideration of the nomination of Ernest A. Burguieres as commissioner of immigration at New Orleans. King refused to yield and the matter went over to a later date.

Senate Gives Los Angeles Privilege.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate yesterday passed and sent to the White House the Swing bill granting to the Metropolitan water district of Los Angeles a right of way for the aqueduct from Hoover Dam. The measure was called up by Senator Johnson (Republican), California, out of order and approved by the Senate without discussion or a record vote.

Seaboard to Abandon Branch.

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission announced yesterday that it had authorized the Seaboard Air Line Railway Co. to abandon its 42-mile line between Archer and Cedar Key, Fla., on July 7. The small volume of traffic was given by the company as its reason for abandoning the line. The Seaboard is in receivership.

2 Killed, 2 Injured As Auto Hits Truck

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., June 15.—Gregg A. Thompson, jr., 23, and Edward B. Amiss, 21, both of Culpeper, were instantly killed in an automobile accident last night, 10 miles from Culpeper, on the Washington road, at Elkwood, Va. Two girls with them were seriously cut and burned. They are Miss Cornelia Major and Miss Virginia Sclater. Miss Major was sent to the University Hospital at Charlottesville, Va., and Miss Sclater to the Memorial Hospital at Warrenton, Va., and are recovering.

The quartet's automobile ran into the rear of a truck and was demolished and burned. The car was beginning to pass the truck and the driver saw another car coming in the opposite direction and dropped back to wait for it to pass. The other car's driver thought that the car was going to pass the truck and pulled over on the truck's side of the road to let it pass. The truck driver then suddenly stopped his truck to avoid collision with the coming car and the car behind crashed into the rear of the truck, the hood of the car going under the truck body. The car burst into flames from the broken gas tank. Three occupants were thrown from the car, Amiss being pinned in and the body burned. Thompson's death came from a broken neck.

Rich Spaniard Is Arrested In Alleged Monarchist Plot

Madrid, June 15 (U.P.).—Juan March, multimillionaire deputy who had been described on the floor of Parliament as "the archenemy" of the republic, was arrested tonight shortly after the government had imprisoned a group of alleged leaders in a monarchist plot.

March was arrested on charges of irregularities in obtaining the Moroccan tobacco monopoly during the dictatorship of Gen. Primo de Rivera, prior to the fall of the monarchy. The Cortes previously had voted to waive parliamentary immunity to permit his imprisonment in the Carcel Modelo.

The arrest of the widely-known millionaire followed a series of arrests in Madrid and Barcelona, where half a dozen military officials were detained, reported in connection with monarchistic activities.

The most sensational arrest was that of Gen. Emilio Barrera, who was a captain general of Catalonia during the monarchical days and was a trusted friend of exiled King Alfonso. He was seized in Barcelona and taken to Madrid.

In Madrid, Carlos Merino, infantry commander; Antonio Valero and Baron de Mora also were detained. The authorities said they expected to make more arrests shortly in connection with monarchist plots for restoration of Alfonso.

Officials indicated that documents found in raids were the basis for the arrests.

Taft Junior High School Bids Are Unusually Low

Eleven bids on the construction of the Taft Junior High School at Eighteenth and Perry streets northeast were opened yesterday by R. M. Brennan, chief clerk of the District engineer department, and the lowest estimate was approximately $100,000 below the amount of money available because of the keen competition of contractors and the low cost of materials.

Prescott-White Corporation, of New York, with an estimate of $342,371, submitted the lowest bid. Funds available included $200,000 from the 1932 District appropriations act and $250,000 in the 1933 bill.

MAKE THE COOLEST Usable PART OF YOUR HOUSE THIS SUMMER

There's a cool and comfortable place in your house that would offer a welcome retreat on hot days and nights—if you'd use it. Your basement. Not a very pleasant place? It would be, if you installed gas heat and did it NOW.

Gas heat does away with all the things in your basement that cause dirt—fuel storage, ashes, soot, fumes. Gas heat is so clean, compact and quiet that the basement becomes every bit as clean and usable as any room in the house. Install it now, and with a little paint and wallboard you can turn the biggest part of your basement into a cool, comfortable room for play, for entertainment, for rest.

Then, when fall comes, you are all ready to enjoy next winter. You light a pilot and that's all the work you do—the gas controls automatically keep your whole house at just the temperature you select.

Gas heat, therefore, gives you a comfortable house the whole year through. Why not take advantage of it now, and be able to use the coolest part of your house this summer?

YOUNG ADVENTISTS' FAITH REAFFIRMED

Sensual Trends of Modern Life Denounced by Resolution of 500.

Declaring their "unfaltering allegiance to the fundamentals of the Christian faith as laid down in the Bible," the 500 delegates to the young people's meeting of the Potomac Conference of Seventh Day Adventists at Takoma Park, Md., yesterday adopted a series of resolutions opposing alcoholic beverages, tea, coffee, tobacco, dancing, card playing, theater, motion pictures and jewelry.

The resolutions followed an address by the Rev. Lewellyn A. Wilcox, until recently of Mountain View, Calif., who said:

"The world has fallen in love with the illicit. It revels in the suggestive. It craves the sensuous. It smirks at the salacious. The levee of the Nation's virtue has broken and the public isn't much concerned. Jazz permeates everything and is the most appalling menace of the world's last epidemic.

"Flaunting of Indecent."

"Society is unbalanced morally today, careening dizzily on the edge of the precipice; a society that goes on dancing and rocking, nearer and nearer, and is powerless to stop; a society drunk in the delirium of shamelessness, jazz-mad, sex-mad, swaying and slipping in wanton embrace on the very brink of the abyss. A riotous torrent of immorality sweeps onward more relentless than ever, and the appalling menace of this moral degeneracy is the carelessness and callousness of the popular trend to it.

"The indecent is flaunted everywhere, and through constant view of the demoralizing and impure, the public conscience, seared or paralyzed, takes it now as a matter of course.

"The world is fast paralleling Sodom and Gomorrah, the cities that were destroyed by fire from heaven, and that is what is coming to this world."

Text of Resolution.

The resolution adopted said:

"We believe that only in the Gospel of Jesus Christ can be found the panacea, either for the present world situation or for the ills of any human heart.

"We believe in the church as a training camp for the self-denying service of humanity throughout the world and as a preparatory school for the world to come.

"We go on record as American youth against communism and every open and insidious influence productive of crime or subversion of the Constitution.

"As Christian youth adhering to the principles of the Prince of Peace we are unalterably opposed to war and the taking of human life.

"We go on record, 100 per cent, as personal total abstainers, not only from all alcoholic drinks, but from tobacco in all forms, tea and coffee, and all other narcotics. We believe that for clear thinking, which has never been needed more than today, the preservation of bodily health is both a personal and civic duty.

Money Sacred Stewardship.

"We stand for those ideals in the association of the sexes that will stand as a safeguard for decency and honor, rather than pandering to temptation. We would rather be pure than popular, we would rather be clean than contaminated. Therefore, we take our stand against dancing, with its overstimulation of the emotions; against card-playing, with its enticement to gambling; against the theater and movies, with its suggestiveness and depiction of criminality. We do not believe it is necessary, in order to have a good time, to besmirch our ideals.

"For the same reason, our program has no place for jazz, the moral filth of modern fiction, or any approach to mental dirt. We believe in dressing tastefully and modestly, but without jewelry.

"We believe in the use of money as a sacred stewardship.

"We face this hour of unemployment and the uncertainty of the future with optimism born of our faith in God and the imminent return of Jesus, and we cast ourselves gladly into the furrow of human need for the hastening of the day when all wrongs will be righted."

City Heads Seeking Insurance Changes

Present Law Does Not Meet Situation, They Tell Senator Capper.

Sweeping revision of the local insurance code was proposed yesterday by the District Commissioners in a bill sent to Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, chairman of the Senate District committee.

"The present law does not meet the situation, and it is full of inequalities and conflicting provisions," the Commissioners wrote Chairman Capper.

"Its provisions are such that there is possibility of fraud being committed. The object of the proposed law is to prevent this possibility of fraud both in insurance companies originating in the District under the present code, and insurance companies chartered elsewhere which are authorized to conduct business within the District."

the House would take up today the Pulmer resolution authorizing an additional 40,000,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton for distribution by the Red Cross to the needy.

The bill was made the pending business of the Senate late yesterday.

The Dickinson resolution was laid aside after Senator Townsend (Republican), Delaware, objected to taking up in the absence of several members a motion to reconsider the action of the audit committee in cutting the committee's funds from $50,000 to $25,000.

Opposition to the allotment plan to the McNary farm relief bill for assuring the farmer the production cost on that share of his crop needed in the domestic market led to its being sent back to committee.

This section was assailed repeatedly as unconstitutional, because of its price-fixing aspects, during the three days in which the Senate has debated the measure.

Masonic Club Meets Tonight.

Reuben A. Bogley, grand master of the grand lodge of the District, will be guest at the meeting of the Masonic Club of S. Kann Sons Co. at the Harrington Hotel tonight.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

A PECULIAR and unaccustomed diffidence seems to characterize the utterances of our old friend Sam Rothafel, renowned to the world and his wife as "Roxy," since his return from a scouting trip abroad with Martin Beck, managing director of RKO vaudeville.

The increasingly rotund Mr. Rothafel was guest of honor at the weekly forum of the Motion Picture Club, of New York, day before yesterday. Ordinarily, a gathering of this kind would have been a perfect setting for the inspired declarations of picturedom's foremost impresario, but Roxy's remarks, strangely enough, were hedged about by a cautious and conspicuous reticence.

He outlined the ambitious hopes of Radio City in Rockefeller Center and said that nothing comparable with the plans had ever before been contemplated in the history of amusements. The International Music Hall, which will be the largest theater in the world, will be devoted exclusively to spectacular stage performances and a second playhouse, seating 3,600 persons, will be devoted to sound pictures.

In his quest for material suitable for the International Music Hall, he considers himself particularly fortunate. He is not prepared, however, to announce the list of artists at this time.

The outstanding note of Roxy's informal comments seemed to center in his optimism regarding the development of American talent. He says the greatest opportunity for Radio City springs from native artists and the rising young musicians and entertainers here at home.

He expressed enthusiasm over the forthcoming "Opportunity Revues" in RKO theaters from coast to coast and ventured the opinion that from this outlet for new talent would develop many future stars and potential headliners of tomorrow.

This forecast is perhaps less heartening than it might be for stage aspirants resident in the National Capital, since the "Opportunity Revue," insofar as this city is concerned, has for the time being, at least, been held in abeyance. Whether or not the project will be revived at some future date remains to be seen.

The fluidity of the motion picture industry, most constantly in flux of all the Nation's major enterprises, seems to communicate itself to any form of theatrical endeavor with which it comes in touch. Customarily, stage policies stay put with some reasonable degree of permanency, but since stage shows have become an integral part of the entertainment provided by the so-called de luxe picture houses throughout the country they, too, have acquired a tremendous capacity for disrupting supposedly fixed policies of operation.

It is now made public that effective July 1, the department of Loew's, Inc., heretofore intrusted with the preparation of the traveling stage units, will be temporarily disbanded, necessitating a change in policy at thirteen major theaters in the East and Middle West. Out of a Loew circuit affording fourteen weeks of playing time, only the Capitol Theater in New York will survive.

The scrapping for the summer of the Loew production activities is construed as an economy measure and it is presumed that operation will be resumed in the fall.

While Loew policy will not be altered in either Baltimore or Washington as regards the presentation of stage shows, those shows on and after July 1—which happens to fall on a Friday—will not be Loew revues, but, according to Variety, will signalize a return to the regular booking of Fanchon & Marco Ideas, such as were seen regularly at the Fox Theater here prior to the surrender of that house to operation by Loew's, Inc., only a comparatively few weeks ago.

Other cities do not all fare so well. For example, in Pittsburgh, Columbus, Cleveland and Syracuse the Loew theaters are to become straight picture houses.

Since the abrogation of his vaudeville bookings, Manager Hardie Meakin, of RKO-Keith's, has made an effort to supply an added film attraction of distinctive merit each week.

Not so many weeks ago it was "Cain," a dramalet of the jungles; then came the "Russian Five-Year Plan;" this week it is the Thalians burlesque comedy in which scores of filmdom's famous take part. Next week comes another one, even more thrilling than those that have gone before.

"The Tragedy of Mount Everest" is a short subject that records the findings of an expedition led by Capt. J. Noel that achieved a height of 26,000 feet and of which every member but one and a cameraman perished.

The cameraman, by use of telescopic lenses and other tricks of his trade, is said to have made not only some remarkable vivid "shots" of the mountain climb, but some equally interesting studies of forbidden Thibetan rites.

Speaking of the current bill at RKO-Keith's, reminds me that there is a young man doing bits in pictures who is apt to jump right out in a featured role most any minute now. He is the unnamed young actor who plays the part of the rich dowager's gigolo in "Sinners in the Sun," at the Earle, and the even lesser bit of Alex, Jill Esmond's boy friend aboard the liner, in "Is My Face Red?" Watch him.

Mr. Stephen E. Cochran, impresario of the National Theater Players, emphatic in his declaration that the stock season on E street will not be continued after next week's presentation of "As Husbands Go," the tenth of the listed repertoire for the ten-week "little season," is undecided between a summer of indolence at Lake Hopatcong, N. J., or one of semiactivity at Atlantic City, N. J. At last report, Lake Hopatcong had a slight edge.

"As Husbands Go," by the way, is a diverting comedy of Parisian and American marriage codes, written by that delightfully cogent dramatist, Miss Rachel Crothers. It was presented on the same stage as one of the season's important bookings and affords important roles for practically the entire roster of the National Theater Players.

The final week of stock will begin, as usual, on Monday night, and will include the usual matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

The sudden advent of high and humid temperatures has served to bolster attendance at the summer parks to which Washington looks for respite from the heat.

Out at Glen Echo, the Crystal Swimming Pool has again leaped into popularity and all of the cooling rides, not to mention the picnic grounds and ballroom, have taken new leases on life.

A similar condition prevails at Chesapeake Beach, where the many amusement devices of Seaside Park are attracting eager throngs of pleasure-seekers—not the least of these being the salt water bathing pool.

Next week's attractions in the motion picture theaters—all opening tomorrow, incidentally, the Earle having been the last of the downtown first-run houses to adopt the Friday inaugurals—will be as follows: Palace, Tallulah Bankhead in "Thunder Below;" Earle, Kay Francis in "Street of Women," and Cliff "Ukulele Ike" Edwards headlining the vaudeville; RKO-Keith's, ZaSu Pitts and Lucien Littlefield in "Strangers of the Evening," and "The Tragedy of Mount Everest;" Loew's Fox, Joan Bennett and Ben Lyon in "Week Ends Only," and Collins and Peterson in Loew's "Keep Klowning" revue; Metropolitan, Ann Dvorak and Spencer Tracy in "Sky Devils;" Columbia, George O'Brien in "Mystery Ranch."

It certainly is nerve-wracking. I mean this suspense, waiting to see whom the Republicans will nominate for President out in Chicago!

CONFEREES REACH DEADLOCK ON FURLOUGHS OR PAY CUTS

tarian, was called into the conference. Among those present were Representative Henry T. Rainey, Illinois, House Democratic leader; Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), Georgia, acting chairman of the House ways and means committee, and Representative Lewis W. Douglas (Democrat), Arizona, one of the House economy conferees.

Afterward Representative McDuffie declined to say whether any plan of resubmitting the controversial section of the economy bill to either house had been considered.

It was Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, who questioned on the floor of the Senate the Smoot statement that furloughs had been agreed on. Senator Sam G. Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, was first to respond. He said:

"I take this occasion to state that conferees have not reached an agreement regarding either furloughs or pay cuts. We still are considering the matter, and have not reached even a tentative agreement. The divergence of opinion is sharp."

Later Senator Smoot added:

"There certainly was a misunderstanding as to the reports of agreement published in the papers. The furlough plan has not been agreed to yet, although we worked on it all day."

Senator King said he was pleased that the furlough plan had not been decided upon. He said he hoped for a "different outcome."

Advocates of pay cuts over furloughs continue to hold that savings under the plan will be far less than the $83,000,000 estimated by its friends. With the 15-day permanent leave provision inoperative, they contend the expected economies will fall $60,000,000 short of the Senate's original proposal of 10 per cent horizontal cuts.

Administration sponsors of the furlough plan counter these arguments. They say it will save all that is claimed, and, in addition, will obviate the necessity of the wholesale dismissals and establish the principle of the five-day week.

Budget Director J. Clawson Roop again was closeted with conferees yesterday in their attempt to work out a settlement. He sponsored the furlough plan.

Civil Service Show To Be Next Week

Employes and Outside Talent Will Appear at Jewish Center.

Preparations are under way for a vaudeville show and dance, given by employes of the Civil Service Commission, next Thursday night. The performance will be staged at the Jewish Community Center, Sixteenth and Q streets northwest.

In addition to the acts to be put on by the Government employes themselves, the show, designed to raise money to equip the Civil Service Commission's baseball team and to provide funds for a separate branch of Federal Employes Union, No. 2, will feature a number of outside contributions.

Among these contributions will be Phil Hayden's dancers, the radio section of the Nordica Orchestra of Walter T. Holt's school, Edith Reed's child performers, Hilton's jubilee singers and James C. O'Brien in a saxophone act.

Telephone Exchanges Are Inspected.

The staff of the Secretary of Agriculture led by Dr. W. W. Stockberger, director of personnel, were the guests of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., yesterday afternoon on a tour of inspection through the company's downtown exchanges and the recently opened display room.

Regional Winners Will Be Heard Here June 24 in Bicentennial Event.

Winners of the nine regional contests of the National Bicentennial Oratorical Contest, being held under the auspices of the Bicentennial Commission, will assemble in Washington, June 24 for the final contest.

Representative Sol Bloom, associate director of the commission, in announcing the arrangements, pointed out that the contest, conducted in colleges and universities throughout the country, was promoted in the States by the State committees in cooperation with the Federal Commission here.

The winner of the national contest, he stated, which will be held in the new Department of Commerce Building, will receive the official George Washington Commemorative Medal in gold. Each college or university represented will receive a George Washington commemorative plaque.

Embassy Asks Quiz Of Liquor Thefts

Fine Wines Stolen While in Transit to U. S. From Italy.

Officials of the Italian Embassy here have asked the North German Lloyd Steamship Line to investigate the theft of about two cases of fine wines from a recent shipment of liquor consigned to the embassy.

Many bottles were missing from the consignment, it was said at the embassy, and several others had been refilled with sea water. There was no attempt to reseal these bottles, however, and the substitution was discovered as soon as the cases were opened. The pilfered liquor was shipped on the S. S. Bremen of the North German Lloyd Line, the embassy said. It was received in Baltimore by an attache who noted that the outer containers appeared to have been tampered with.

There is always some loss through breakage and thievery in liquor shipments, the embassy said, but these two cases constituted the largest loss yet sustained in a single consignment. For this reason, it was stated, the steamship line was asked to take steps to safeguard future cargoes. Embassy officials were indignant that the matter should be given publicity, claiming that it was not of general interest. So far as could be learned, the steamship company has not yet fixed the blame for the theft.

Truck Robbers Capture $248 Worth of Clothes

Women's dresses and coats valued at $248 were stolen from a truck of the Smith Transfer & Storage Co. while it was parked in the rear of 2515 Thirteenth street northwest yesterday.

The clothing was the property of Mrs. Ann L. Story, of 1331 Harvard street northwest, and, according to witnesses, was stolen by two colored men who left the scene in a large roadster.

McLean Bows In Tourney Surprise

Dennison, Playground Boy, Winner in 3-Set Match.

Doyle Reaches Junior Semifinals; Jacob Leads Yeomans.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

STANLEY DENNISON, a Cooke Playground boy, playing with a borrowed racquet and in brown pants and khaki shirt, defeated Ned McLean, first seeded player, in District of Columbia boys' tennis championship yesterday at Wardman Park Hotel's court, 8—6, 2—6, 10—8, after McLean had held two match points in the third set.

Dennison, choking his racquet half way up the handle, chopped his way to victory after 2 hours and 25 minutes of play, marked by rallies that ofttimes exceeded 10 hits apiece. He never took a chance with McLean, preferring to hit his heavily undercut shots high down the center of the court, a system of play that heavily hampered the classically formed game of McLean, which needs speed against it to be really effective.

McLean Near Victory.

After dropping the first set, McLean seemed to realize that only by outsteadying his steady opponent could he gain victory. He himself fell to soft hitting and allowed the playground youth only two games in the second set. Continuing his steady play, McLean went to 5—4 in the third set and 40—15, but Dennison outchopped him on the first match point and then scored a perfect lob placement to deuce the game. Play was close after that, and the decision might well have gone the other way. In the final game McLean missed two placements by cruel margins.

Dennison will meet M. C. Oliphant today at 3:30 o'clock in the semifinal round. Oliphant yesterday beat J. R. Harris decisively, 6—1, 6—3. The other semifinalists are Bob Doyle and Pete Allnutt. Young Doyle, who overnight has become a strong favorite to win the tournament, played splendid tennis yesterday to beat Jimmy Holloran, 6—3, 6—0. Doyle displayed enough strokes to win a couple of matches and at all times held the edge. Allnutt had plenty of trouble with Maurice Rosenberg, bespectacled young Central High player. Allnutt, who was a semifinalist last year, won 6—1, 3—6, 6—3, showing a new net game to do so.

Boyle Reaches Semifinals.

Kent Doyle, of Friends School, moved into the semifinals of the junior tournament by beating Al Sappington, 5—7, 6—4, 6—2, in the best match of the day. The two boys went in for every stroke, hitting cleanly for the corners at all times. Sappington, somewhat lightly regarded before the match, showed a crack forehand drive and a willing volley. He was within two games of victory in the second set.

Happy Jacob, first seeded junior, took a 6—3 set from John Yeomans when rain interfered. Rain also stopped the match in which Spencer Howell was leading Al Perkins, 6—4, 2—2, in a slugfest. These two matches will be finished today. The winner of the Jacob-Yeomans match plays Kent Boyle at 3:30 o'clock, while the winner of the Perkins-Howell affair will play Tom Moorhead, at the same time.

Hit Batsman in 9th Costs Macks Game

Browns Win, 9-8; Advance to Within Two Games of Second Place.

St. Louis, June 15 (A.P.).—Three men were on, two were out and the score was tied in the last of the ninth today when Pitcher Leroy Mahaffey hit Jim Levey, and forced in Rick Ferrell with the winning run in the St. Louis Browns' 9-to-8 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The victory advanced the Browns to within two games of second place.

After the Athletics had taken an early lead, Fred Schulte's homer in the third tied the count, but Philadelphia again took the lead and held it until late in the ninth, when Burns doubled and then tied the score on Ferrell's single.

The Browns knocked out Tony Freitas, who started for the A's, in the fifth. In this frame Ferrell tripled with the bases loaded.

Critics Agree Sharkey Is Powerful

Outboxes and Outhits Sekyra in Speedy 3-Round Session.

Shows Superb Form as Crowd Swelters at Indoor Drill.

By EDWARD S. NEAL.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 15 (A.P.).—The critics and experts looked at Jack Sharkey today, toiling in a stuffy little gymnasium where the temperature reached at least 100 degrees, and agreed the Boston sailor has never before, in his seven-year heavyweight career, reached such a degree of physical and boxing perfection.

While a torrid sun beat down upon the training quarters of the man who must attain his goal against Max Schmeling, heavyweight title holder, next Tuesday night or forever thereafter hold his boxing peace, Sharkey chose to fight Joe Sekyra, a crack light-heavyweight three rounds indoors, with a crowd of 500 all but suffocating in the heat.

But Sharkey minded the shimmering atmosphere not at all. He leaped after the swift, fast-punching Bohemian, who once lost a ten-round decision to Schmeling, and consistently out-boxed and out-hit him.

Sekyra, although he used light gloves, could not touch Sharkey with jabs, and the Boston sailor slipped his punches, moved inside, and drilled his body with short, jolting smashes.

Bronson Praises Sharkey.

Jim Bronson, who directed Gene Tunney's battles with Jack Dempsey, sweltered in awe at the sailor's performance.

"He's in the most perfect condition of his career," he said afterward, "and he has it in him to whip Schmeling either by decision or knockout."

The question of Sharkey's weight, something that has bothered the correspondents, was settled at the scales. Jack weighed 206 pounds before his 7-round workout, and he stepped on the scales to nick the beam at 201¼ pounds when it was over. He has a bit of weight around his waist but Bronson explained that.

"He will carry a little weight the first quarter of the distance, but as he burns that up his speed will increase, he will travel faster, and the farther it will go the better he will become."

Sharkey will rest tomorrow. He will box again Friday, Saturday and Sunday, before he hangs up his gloves to wait the opening bell in Madison Square Garden's new stadium on Long Island Tuesday night.

Braves Bow to Pirates On Piet's Triple in 8th

Boston, June 15 (A.P.).—Tony Piet's triple in the eighth drove in two runs to break a 2-2 deadlock and help give Pittsburgh a 5-2 victory over the Braves in a series opener today.

The Pirates made fifteen hits off Ed Brandt, while Meine and Swift allowed the Tribe only five hits.

Bows to Hopman, of Australia, in Stunning Setback.

LONDON, June 15 (A.P.).—Ellsworth Vines, United States singles champion, was handed a setback in his first European invasion today, falling before the attack of Harry Hopman, of Australia, in the third round of the London tennis championships at the Queen's Club.

Hopman, defeated by Vines rather easily in the concluding match of the Davis Cup series between Australia and the United States, was complete master of the lanky American titleholder today, winning 0—6, 6—2, 6—3.

In view of the fact that Vines is the No. 1 singles player on the American Davis Cup squad, his defeat was considered somewhat of a sensation by British tennis critics.

Vines was obviously at a disadvantage on the English grass and with the British ball, but it wasn't the ball or the condition that caused his defeat. Hopman played so well that Vines seldom got an opportunity to get near the ball.

After the first set, which Vines won in quick order, he showed only infrequent patches of brilliant tennis. His volleying was weak and he frequently double faulted or hit the ball out of bounds.

Hopman pulled away to a 4 to 1 lead in the second set before Vines won his second game and then the American double faulted on set point. In the third set, Vines showed well for the first four games, breaking even, but then he began to slip, making errors even when not under pressure. Hopman took the score to five games to two before the American won another game.

Giants Defeat Cubs To Gain 4th Place

Herman's Error in Eighth Paves Way for 6-to-3 New York Win.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Billy Herman's error in the eighth inning ignited the fuse that blew the Chicago Cubs' lead to pieces today and the Giants scored five runs in one big frame to defeat the league leaders, 6 to 3, in the first game of their series.

The victory brought the Giants' average up to the .500 mark for the first time this season, as they ran their interrupted winning streak to six games in a row and it put them in fourth place ahead of Brooklyn.

Brooklyn, June 15 (A.P.).—Red Lucas and three former Dodgers finished off Brooklyn neatly today and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-to-1 victory in the series opener.

Lucas pitched seven-hit ball in his thirteenth complete game and his eighth victory of the season. Babe Herman, Ernie Lombardi and Harvey Hendrick drove in all the Reds' runs.

Seeds' Triple in Pinch Decides Box Duel of Jones, Pennock.

CHICAGO, June 15 (A.P.).—Lou Gehrig's fourteenth home run of the season looked big until the eighth inning of a brilliant pitching duel between Sad Sam Jones and Herb Pennock today. In that frame, however, a pinch triple by Bob Seeds set the White Sox off on a two-run rally that gave them a 2-to-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Jack Hayes followed Seeds' wallop with a single that tied the score. He took second on an infield out and tallied the winning run when Lyn Lary made a two-base error on Bob Fothergill's grounder.

"Dizzy" Dean Quits Cards, In Huff, Demanding Raise

Street Says Rookie Hurler Will Outlive Sensitiveness.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (A.P.).—"Dizzy" Dean's transformation from the blustering St. Louis rookie hurler to a solemn young private citizen was completed with a rush today when he quit the Cardinals in a huff and boarded a train for St. Louis.

"Dizzy's" departure, climax to a number of threats to quit, ostensibly was due to his complaint that the Cards weren't treating him right, but Manager Gabby Street just doesn't see eye to eye with him on that point and thinks he'll be back.

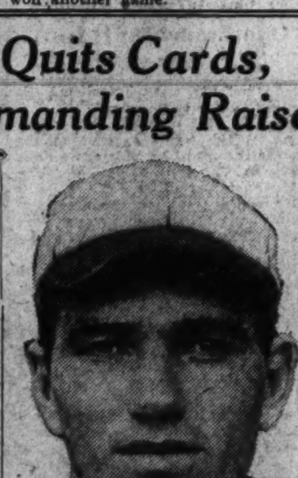

"I didn't know Dean had left us until I got up today," Gabby said. "Well, he probably thinks somebody has insulted him—you know the kind of fellow he is. But he'll be back with us. He's a funny sort of fellow, but he'll want to get back to baseball.

"He has no real grievance against the Cards. He's been treated fairly, but he's a hard proposition to handle."

It was learned from another source that Dean had made known to the club he wanted an increase in salary, and when it was refused took it as a personal affront.

Whatever inspired Dean's unexpected exodus, it recalled a recent protest he made after a game with the Phillies in St. Louis, when he said he wanted to be traded because he was not permitted to work regularly enough.

"They save me for Saturday and Sunday games to draw a crowd," he complained. "I will not be able to win enough victories working only once a week, and then, when I ask for the money I am worth next year they will point out that I didn't win enough games."

Nats Remain in Second Place Tie as Macks Bow; Cronin's Single Drives Home Two Runs in Ninth.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

NAVIN FIELD, Detroit, Mich., June 15.—A questionable decision at the plate by Umpire Bill McGowan, the failure to hit in the pinches on three occasions, and a most untimely double play combined to beat the Nationals here this afternoon in their series opener with the Tigers, and they absorbed a fourth successive licking for the second time this season. The final score was 7 to 6. Despite the loss, the Washington team remained in a tie for second with the Macks, who dropped a 9-to-8 decision to the Browns.

The Nationals outhit their foes, with Heinie Manush getting his tenth homer of the year, with a mate on the sacks to give his team an early lead. He also cracked out three singles in as many times at bat to take high gun honors of the game. Carl Reynolds also came through with a four-base clout, but, unfortunately, this came just after a double play in the seventh had completely cleaned the bases.

McGowan Rules Runner Safe.

McGowan's questionable decision accounted for the Tigers' fourth run of the sixth frame. Just after Alphonse Thomas had relieved "General" Al Crowder, the starter, Walker tried to steal home. Spencer received the ball in plenty of time and simply held it between third and the plate, waiting for the runner to slide into it, and automatically tag himself out. The arbiter, however, ruled that the runner got his feet to the plate before he was tagged higher up on his leg—which may or may not be true.

The Nats have no excuses, though, for they failed to score in the fourth after having the bases filled with only one out, and the aisles were packed again in the sixth when the round ended with only one run coined as a result of Judge's double, Bluege's single and theft, a walk and an error.

With most of the 6,000 crowd on its way home, the Nationals tried to reclaim the game in the ninth. Starting the round three runs behind, they forced Whitlow Wyatt, the starting flinger, to give way to "Chief" Elon Hogsett, with two on, two out and two balls called on Kerr. The Indian hurler packed the aisles by finishing making a stroller of the hitter and Joe Cronin then pinch hit for Bluege. He rifled a single to left which scored two and put the tying run on second, but the game ended when Spencer missed a third strike.

Manush's Homer Ties Score.

The Tigers broke the ice in the second when they molded a tally from Webb's first double and Schuble's

In the Wake Of the Game

DETROIT, Mich., June 15.—It will be up to Lefty Lloyd Brown to even the score with the Tigers in tomorrow's second game of the current set. He no doubt will have a tough row to hoe, for Earl ("Dapper Dan") Whitehill, a southpaw who always has given the Nats trouble in the past, is expected to oppose him.

Earl Webb, obtained in a trade with the Red Sox, reported to the Tigers today and drew the right-field assignment. He celebrated his donning of Detroit regalia by coming in fast to end the first round with a one-hand shoestring grab of Reynolds' near Texas leaguer. Manush was scoring at the time. He doubled his first time at bat, opening the second with a drive to the scoreboard in left center.

The major league trading season ended tonight and there was evident relief in the minds of several of the Nats who do not want to leave the Washington Club, when no more deals were announced.

Shortstop Joe Cronin gave his injured thumb a test before today's game and after making several catches, decided that it was still too sore for him to risk further injury by getting back into the line-up

West tried to steal with Wyatt holding the ball in the fifth and was caught.

Myer raced well over toward first to make a pretty stop of Webb's skid-

Tribe Star Matches Grove and Gomez; Averill Hits 12th Homer.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 15 (A.P.).—Wes Ferrell kept pace with the two leftys, Grove and Gomez, today when he won his twelfth game of the season as the Cleveland Indians pounded Boston for a 9-to-3 win.

Michaels, starting for the Red Sox, gave way to Lisenbee in the fourth after allowing the Indians seven runs. Averill knocked his twelfth home run in the third, scoring Burnett ahead of him. Joe Vosmik accounted for six of Cleveland's runs with a triple, a double and two singles.

ABETH WINS AT 100 TO 1 IN STUNNING UPSET AT AQUEDUCT

Please Runs Second to Outsider

Filly's Odds Longest Since Jim Dandy's Victory in 1930.

Smear Is Victor in Washington Park Feature in Upset.

NEW YORK, June 15 (A.P.).—A cheap plater, which probably would not have brought much more than $100 at auction, today moved into the select circle of thoroughbreds that have won and paid 100 to 1 or more when Abeth, a 5-year-old mare, accounted for the sixth race at Aqueduct.

The victory marked the first 100-to-1 shot to go over on the New York turf since Jim Dandy's famous triumph over Gallant Fox and Whichone in the 1930 Travers at Saratoga.

Facing the barrier for the second time this year, Abeth came from behind under the guidance of W. Dempsey, a little-known apprentice jockey, to defeat Please by a half length. Abeth's time for the muddy 1⅛ miles was 1:53 2-5, nearly 5 seconds slower than the track record.

In her only other start as a 5-year-old Abeth finished eighth. She won two of her sixteen races last year, but was in the money in the majority of the others, run at Dade Park, Ky., and on the Maryland tracks.

Smear Gallops Home at Washington

Washington Park, Ill., June 15 (A.P.).—C. V. Whitney's Smear suddenly came to life in the mud at Washington Park today to run away with the Balmoral purse over 6 furlongs.

With Charlie Allen in the saddle, Smear dashed into the lead in the back stretch and won easily by three lengths over Manta. Camp Boss finished third, while Flag Bearer, the heavily backed favorite, was out of the money. Smear ran the distance in 1:16 1-5 over the muddy strip and paid $23.68.

LITTLE CONNELLY dashed to the front at once and, withstanding the early challenge of BETTINA H., easily showed the way to the end. SIZZLING could not keep up in early running, but finished well. BETTINA H. was rushed up to the leader in the first quarter, but faltered in the final furlong. FAIR CREST was going well at the finish. The others were outpaced.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DIS DAT, $4.96, $2.36, $2.40; BLACK STRAP, $2.68, $2.58; VA CARRIENDO, $3.08.
DIS DAT, in close quarters during back stretch run, got through on the inside rounding far turn and, catching BLACKSTRAP in the stretch, won under urging. BLACKSTRAP took command early and, although hard and capably ridden near end, could not last. VA CARRIENDO was well up throughout. ESSENTIAL was going gamely at finish. JUDGE PRIMROSE tired badly. SIR MELTON appeared to dislike the going.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OSWEGO PRINCESS, $4.18, $2.54, $2.18; BONNIE CAP, $2.82, $2.36; NEXT CALL, $2.76.
OSWEGO PRINCESS dropped back soon after the start, but came fast through the stretch to wear down BONNIE CAP and, after cutting across in front of the latter in the last sixteenth, drew out easily. BONNIE CAP raced to the front early, but tired in stretch and was beaten when she met with interference from winner nearing end. NEXT CALL made up considerable ground. MONK'S STAR had early speed, but tired. The others were outpaced.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:56½. Winner, C. V. Whitney's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SMEAR, $23.68, $7.94, $5.50; MANTA, $4.50, $4.70; CAMP BOSS, $3.66.
SMEAR, close to the pace from start, headed CAMP BOSS after turning for home and drew out to an easy victory in final eighth. MANTA stumbled at start and was outrun to stretch, then saved much ground to finish gamely. CAMP BOSS got to the front of FLAG BEARER after going a quarter, but tired in stretch. MINTON made up ground. FLAG BEARER, running in four bandages, showed an exceptionally poor effort, displaying but little early speed and stopping so badly in the stretch that he was eased up.

FIFTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:27. Off at 4:27½. Two-dollar mutuels paid—HIGH STORM, $41.12, $13.34, $7.52; GABBO, $8.12, $6.00; NIATO, $9.38.
HIGH STORM, close to the pace at all times, saved ground in the stretch and, outgaming GABBO in a driving finish, got to the front in the last stride. GABBO, always well up, got to the lead after the distance and, holding on fairly well, barely missed. NIATO seemed to like the going and showed a good effort. PANCHIO raced wide on back stretch and could not improve his position in the run home. EVELINE F. was in worst part of track all down the back stretch and had little chance. SUNFIRE showed a dull effort and never threatened.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:58. Off at 4:58½. Winner, A. A. Baroni's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—RIFF RAFF, $8.34, $5.54, $3.80; UNCLE HENRY, $4.30, $3.12; SETH'S BALLOT, $3.72.
RIFF RAFF was in close quarters on inside during back stretch, but got through an opening on far turn to challenge UNCLE HENRY and, racing on practically even terms with the latter through the stretch, bested him in a driving finish. UNCLE HENRY raced wide around far turn and held on well to the last twenty yards, where he hung. SETH'S BALLOT was going well at the finish. TEA GREEN raced close up. NORMAHAL had early speed. PUNISHMENT was in early trouble and was rather weakly handled.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:28½. Off at 5:29½. Winner, Mrs. J. F. MARY MARVIN went fairly well. UNDERDUN tired in stretch. SAN PRESTO, shut off rounding first turn, was never dangerous. HALF DAY displayed early speed.

AT THE POST
with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: WASHINGTON PARK, CHICAGO.

Looked like a conspiracy yesterday to scratch me out of the picture. With the horses that were left I had Dis Dat and Paddock on the nose and some others in the money. More and longer-priced winners for the next four years is my plank and I'll stick to it.

I'm passing a few along at Aqueduct and Bainbridge that may interest you. Here they are: Postponement, Don Pedro, War Hero, Trajectory, Crucial Test, Halliard. BILL.

FIRST RACE—I remember a race run by SYRINX at Pimlico last month over a slow track that makes me favor the J. O. Keene miss in this maiden test. Elston had the mount that day and SYRINX was a bang-up second. Likes the kind of a course that will prevail today. TERRY LASS is better perhaps on the cold dope. SWEET FLAG for third.

SECOND RACE—MORSNUFF is a bear in this kind of company and on this sort of track. I believe the son of Morvich should be backed in a big way. Gets a break in the weights from MUCKER and LASALLE, the ones he must beat.

THIRD RACE—Picking my third straight Maryland horse in this race for juveniles. ARROWSWIFT, with the slow track breeding of Swift and Sure—Careful by Wrack, is the choice. This Mereworth Stud colt has been to the post six times and has one place to his credit. However, he worked fast both at Pimlico and here and may be ready to leave the maiden ranks. PRYOR and BARRY seem best of the others.

FOURTH RACE—CRYSTAL PRINCE has been a busy 3-year-old this year. Has races that recommend him as a possible winner of this race. Stayed with a fast pace set by Lady Broadcast in Kentucky. That performance would win this, I believe. CATHROP and DARK HOPE for the rest.

FIFTH RACE—PORTMANTEAU has been a consistent animal this year. His only victory resulted when Portcodine was disqualified here. However, the veteran son of The Porter has been out of the money only once and may like the going today enough to upset this group. WAR SAINT, a fair plater in Maryland, is now reckoned with the best here and is the one to beat. SUNMELUS for third.

SIXTH RACE—I don't believe WORTHINGTON can get in this race, being last on the list, but if he goes I look for a winning performance. Has finished ahead of this kind on several occasions. MAJOR LANPHIER and GEORGE JR. for the rest.

SEVENTH RACE—Going back to DUELIST in this. Woke this one up before. Looks like another spot. RUNAR for second and CHIP for third.

Homers Win for Phils, 7-4, in Short Contest

Philadelphia, June 15 (A.P.).—The Phils won a shortened contest from St. Louis, 7 to 4, today, when a heavy rain washed out the game while the Cards were at bat in the seventh inning.

Pinky Whitney's first inning homer with the bases full tied the score at 4 to 4, after the Cards got away to a hard hitting start against Ed Holley. Chuck Klein's seventeenth homer of the season with Bartell on base in the second inning broke the tie. The Phils scored one more in the fifth on Lee's double, Delker's sacrifice and V. Davis' single.

Fifth Team Added By Insect League

Phoenix A. C. to Compete in Capital City Race; One Franchise Open.

A fifth team was admitted to the Insect Division of the Capital City League last night, thus assuring the opening of the loop next week. The Phoenix A. C., managed by Daniel Leone, is the latest entrant in the race for the gold baseballs offered annually by The Post to the members of the championship team.

Others lined up for the campaign include the champion Washington Orioles, Nye House, Sears A. C., and Hawks. Another franchise is vacant which league officials would like to assign before the opening of the season. Teams interested should communicate with the secretary at the Sports Department of The Post. Boys who were not 15 years old before midnight, June 1, are eligible. The franchise fee is $5.

A schedule will be drawn up the latter part of the week. Each team will meet its opponents twice, once in each half. The winners of the two halves will meet in a three-game series for the championship.

Kid Chocolate Match Postponed by Storm

Philadelphia, June 15 (A.P.).—Heavy rains caused the postponement of tonight's boxing show in which Kid Chocolate, junior lightweight champion, and Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion, were scheduled as headliners. The fights probably will be held tomorrow night.

Chocolate, in the wind-up, was to have battled Roger Bernard, of Flint, Mich., while the semiwind-up was to have seen Leonard fight ten rounds with Billy Angelo, of Philadelphia.

DUSEK FACES M'MILLEN TONIGHT

Grobmeier to Tackle White Feather at Ball Park.

RUDE RUDY DUSEK, who figuratively yanked local wrestling out of the Strand Theater into Griffith Stadium, with the help of many burly foils and Promoter Turner, comes back to town tonight to see what can be done about the current situation and to plant a few choice kicks in the teeth of Jim McMillen.

Rude Rudy has not been working much lately. Mr. Dusek, it seems, refused to "play ball" with the New York mat offices and, as a result, began to find himself playing less and less of a prominent role in the world of mat melodramas.

In fact, Mr. Dusek's career had come to a complete halt when Mr. Turner, some weeks back, announced that he was no longer going to subscribe wrestling bills completely arranged for him by Mr. Tootsie Roll Mondt, but, instead, was going to dabble a bit as an independent matchmaker.

Mr. Dusek was wasting away in New Orleans, reflecting on the strange policies of the profession he chose, when Mr. Turner reached him by wire and demanded that he return for the good of Washington's mat public, and the usual 15 per cent of the "take."

Dusek's opponent tonight is the burly gridman who used to run interference for Red Grange in college, and then went rassler and became one of the best runners-up to Jim Londos ever developed. The match will be confined to 45 minutes.

The feature concerns Fred Grobmeier and Chief White Feather.

The other matches are between George Kotsonaros and Frank Brunowicz, Jim Corrigan and Jack Zarnos and Renato Gardini and Berto Assariti. The latter, a former circus contortionist, is slated for big things in matting.

Women, accompanied by paying escorts, will be admitted free of charge. First leer at 8:30 o'clock.

Twin City Fights Shifted to Friday

Rain Forces Delay in Card to Feature Gallagher-Tow at Laurel.

The heavy shower early last night forced postponement of Twin City Arena's 32-round boxing show at Laurel. The program, as previously announced, will be held Friday night, Promoter Charles E. Cornell announced. It was the second boxing postponement of the week due to inclement weather, Fort Washington having canceled its card last Monday night.

In the wind-up bout of eight rounds Friday night, Marty Gallagher will meet Bob Tow, with Reds Barry and Tim Charles clashing in an eight-round semifinal. Preceding these heavyweight contests, Leroy Bordeau, 163, will engage Henry Irving, 160; Joe Bruno, 129, will oppose Harry Lennox, 130, and Billy Hooe, 137, will battle Chuck Lindahl, 138.

CIRCLE T CLUB MEETS.

The annual meeting and dinner of the Circle T Club, composed of men who have won this athletic award at Tech High School, will be held tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock at Sholl's, 1219 G street northwest.

Henry Lepper, president of the club, will preside.

PILOTS BEAT BALTIMORE SOX, 5-1

Play Errorless Ball Behind Pitching of McDonald.

REJUVENATED, and with a line-up that gives promise of bringing winning baseball to the Nation's Capital, the Pilots of the East-West League defeated the Baltimore Black Sox, 5-1, yesterday at Griffith Stadium, playing errorless ball behind the pitching of McDonald.

O'Bryant opened the third with a hit to right field, and went to second when Evans was safe on Casey's error, but was out rounding third on a fielder's choice, when Johnson drove to Wiggins, and stole second. Hampton hit to right field, scoring Evans but Johnson was out trying to reach the home plate.

Creacy hit a single to open the Pilot's fourth, and Dunn walked. O'Bryant smashed a hot one that caromed off Jones's glove, and Creacy scored. Dunn and O'Bryant executed a double steal, the former scoring.

Burbage's Double Scores Run.

Suttles opened the Pilot's eighth with a two-bagger to the center-field bleachers, and stole third, being hit by the thrown ball at second, and again at the hot corner. Hampton walked, for a perfect day at bat. Creacy was out with a fly to right, but Dunn hit over second base to score both Suttles and Hampton.

The Pilots will meet the Cuban All-Stars, from Havana, in their first appearance here at 3 o'clock.

MRS. MECKLEY WINS MATCH

Given Battle At Gibson Island

Capital Star Victor, 3 and 1, Over Pennsylvania Player.

Mrs. Gross, of Indian Spring, Loses in First Match.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 15.—With a few exceptions, the favorites in the Gibson Island Women's Golf Tournament advanced in their first-round matches today.

Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, the defending champion, from Washington, played consistently to score an 87, the same figure with which she qualified to defeat Mrs. F. G. Dempwolf, of York, Pa., 3 and 1.

The Indian Spring star was surprised at the strength of her opponent, who has held the Central Pennsylvania golf title four years.

Mrs. Meckley just missed a birdie 2 on the fifteenth when she failed to make a 2-foot putt. The match was all square at the turn. The tenth was halved. Mrs. Meckley won the eleventh with a par 4. The twelfth was shafed with 3s.

The Capital player took the thirteenth with a par 4. The fourteenth was halved in 5s. The fifteenth went to Mrs. Meckley on a par 3. Mrs. Dempwolf broke through to take the sixteenth, but lost the next hole.

Mrs. William B. Hurst, jr., of Elkridge, defeated the only other Washington entrant, Mrs. J. F. Gross, Indian Spring, 5 and 3.

Other victors in the first flight were Mrs. E. Boyd Morrow, Mrs. Harry C. Trace, Miss Gladys Greiner, Mrs. M. Louise Bell, Miss Ange Cochran, and Mrs. W. Fairfield Peterson.

At 9:30 a. m. tomorrow Mrs. Meckley will meet Miss Cochran, who hails from Elkridge. In consolation, Mrs. Gross will oppose Mrs. Jerome Sloman, Suburban Club champion, at 10:35.

TIGERS BEAT NATS, 7-6, DESPITE HOMERS

single, but Manush wiped out this lead and put the Nats one up when he homered after Crowder had singled. The Nats added another run in their sixth, as already mentioned, and then came a Detroit explosion which netted four runs. The ingredients in this rally were singles by Rogell and Gehringer, doubles by Webb and Walker, a useful out, and the latter's theft of home.

In the seventh, the Harrismen scored two more runs with the need of but one hit. Davis walked as a starter and men were on second and third when Judge foolishly made a play at the keystone sack on Rogell's sacrifice. It was late by feet. Davis was forced at third by Stone and it looked as though the Nats would escape unscathed when Gehringer died on an infield out. Walker came through with a single, however, which cleared the bases and which gave the home gang just one more run than the Nats could equal in their ninth inning splurge.

Walker, with two doubles, a single, and his theft of home, was the Tiger hero, with Webb, making his debut in a Detroit uniform, having two two-basers to show for his day's work. Manush was the only Washingtonian hitting safely more than once, Dave Harris hit for Thomas in the eighth and singled, giving the Nat pinch hitters a 1.000 rating for the game.

In the Wake Of the Game

ding hopper in the fourth session. Myer made a perfect relay peg to nail Davis in the fifth when he tried to stretch his double into a three-bagger.

Bluege cut over in front of Kerr to take Schuble's roller in the sixth and turn it into an out at first.

Heinie Manush broke his pet bat while singing opening the seventh. It was his third hit in as many official times at bat.

Carl Reynolds, supposed to be a sucker for a slow ball, met one in the seventh this afternoon and propelled it over the left field fence for a homer. Rival pitchers are doling so many slow ones to Carl that he is beginning to like them, he says.

Kerr was slightly spiked covering second in the seventh as Davis slid while advancing on Rogell's sacrifice. Judge foolishly tried to make the out at second instead of first; his throw was late and all hands were safe.

Mangan, Considine Seek Other Partners for Doubles

Twice Middle Atlantic Champions Dissolve Team That Lost Only One Match in Four Years; Tourney Starts Next Week.

THE doubles team of Tom Mangan and Bob Considine, three times winners of the District championship, has dissolved on the eve of the Middle Atlantic doubles tournament, which twice has fallen to the combination. One more victory would have given them permanent possession of the cups.

Each player will seek a different partner for the tournament, and for the remainder of the District tennis tournaments this year. The Middle Atlantic doubles starts a week from today on the courts at Columbia Country Club. The finals is expected to be played Sunday, June 26.

The teamwork of Mangan and Considine is said to have been better than their compatibility on the court.

Formed four years ago this month the Mangan-Considine combine has never been beaten in tournament play in the Middle Atlantic section, and only once out of town. The District championships of 1929, 1930 and 1931 fell to them, as did the City of Washington 1929 and 1930 tournaments, the Middle Atlantic 1928 and 1930 tournaments, the Wardman Park 1930 tournament and many special matches, such as the Hitchkiss Cup tests. Their lone defeat came in 1930, in the final round of the Atlantic Coast clay court championship, at Ocean City, N. J., against the Texas team of Jake Hess and Fred Rice.

Never an orthodox doubles pair, Mangan and Considine made up for their strange "one up and one back" style of play by exerting a brand of steadiness which was sufficiently airtight to win matches against the caliber of play in this region. Mangan's great effectiveness lay in his return of service and forcing forehand drive. He is expected to team with Bud Markey, with whom he won the City of Washington doubles last year. Considine will team with Dick Mason.

Among other teams entered in the tournament are Frank Shore and Anthony Latona, Pat Deck and Bill Seidel, and teams from Baltimore, Richmond and Norfolk.

16 JOIN NEW SENIOR GOLF GROUP

Griffith, Baines Tie for Honors at Columbia Club.

THE effort yesterday to inaugurate a seniors' golf association of the Columbia Country Club gave promise of future success when sixteen members were brave enough to acknowledge that they were 55 years of age and over and therefore eligible to participate in the initial tournament.

A dinner and organization meeting which was planned to follow the tournament was postponed until a future date, owing to the deluge which descended shortly after 6 o'clock and interfered with the attendance.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Baseball Club and runner-up in the District seniors' championship tournament last fall, and James E. Baines, winner of the bronze medal for third place in that event, yesterday led the field, each with low gross scores of 82, only twelve strokes over par.

For low net there was a triple tie between Griffith, 82—10—72; Baines, 82—10—72, and Col. D. T. Merrill, 84—12—72. Ralph P. Barnard, with 92—18—74, came next in line, followed by Col. H. S. Kramer, 93—18—75; John Dolph, 97—22—75, and Col R. P. Parrott, 87—12—75. Other scores were W. E. Baker, 89—12—77; Frank S. Oppleman, 92—14—78; F. S. Stitt, 97—18—79; C. L. Conradt, 103—20—83, and J. T. Ransom, 102—18—84.

The invitation tournament on the course of the National Women's Country Club next Saturday will be a handicap event for men and women who may play either in the morning or afternoon. Prizes will be awarded for low gross and low net. Entries should be telephoned to National 6352 until Saturday morning, after which post entries will be accepted at the clubhouse.

G. U. Not Represented In College Net Play

For the first time in nearly a decade Georgetown University will not send a tennis team to the annual intercollegiate championships, which start next Monday on the grass courts at the Merion Cricket Club, in Philadelphia. Dooly Mitchell, captain of this year's Hoya team, reached the quarter-finals of the event two years ago.

The District's lone entrant in the tournament is likely to be Don Garber, who will represent Duke University.

Legion Second Half Series Opens Sunday

The second half of the American Legion series will open Sunday. Three games are scheduled. Lincoln Post will play a doubleheader, meeting George Washington in the first game at 11 a. m. on the West Ellipse and Spengler at 1 p. m. on the South Ellipse. Stuart Walcott and Bunker Hill will be opponents in the third game which is scheduled on the South Ellipse at 3 p. m. All games postponed in the first half will be played on week-days or on Sundays when open dates are available.

WOMEN TIED IN LEAGUE TENNIS

Mrs. Martinez, Mrs. Stone Each Win a Set Before Rain.

MRS. RUTH MARTINEZ and Mrs. Frances Stone will meet at 4 this afternoon at Wardman Park Hotel in the semifinal round of the Women's District Tennis League Tournament. The match has been postponed three times by rain.

Yesterday the long-awaited duel between two of the outstanding women players in this region was commenced at Columbia Country Club. Mrs. Martinez won the first set at 6—4 and a tropical downpour stopped play at 4—3 in Mrs. Stone's favor in the second.

Play Brilliant Match Despite Heat.

Battling in the sultry heat which preceded yesterday's rain, Mrs. Martinez and Mrs. Stone put up a sterling battle in their first set. The two players have similar styles of games, particularly on their forehand sides. Mrs. Stone's carries the greater pace, but it lacks some of the steadiness of Mrs. Martinez's fine drive.

Games followed service in the first set until 3—2, when Mrs. Martinez outlasted her opponent to break service and lead 4—2. She quickly added her own service, to lead, 5—2. Mrs. Stone fought back valiantly, striking out for the corners at all times and running Mrs. Martinez from side to side without a let up. She pulled up to 5—4, only to be turned aside.

Mrs. Martinez went to 3—1 in the second set, stopping once to make way for a shower. Play was halted again when Mrs Stone won the next game, and when it was resumed Mrs. Stone forged to 4—3 on spirited driving, despite the sodden condition of the courts. Heavy rains at this point ended the day's tennis. The match will be completely replayed today.

The winner will meet Frances Walker in the final round. Miss Walker gained the title round Tuesday by beating Mrs. Dorette Miller, 6—4, 6—3.

If Mrs. Martinez wins today against Mrs. Stone, and thus becomes a finalist, she will be in the unique position of being in two finals at the same time. Her final round match in the City of Washington tournament, against Reba Kirson is yet to be played.

AHEARN SEES VICTORY FOR SCHWARTZ

Manager Says Benny Can Stop Landers in Fort Bout.

"BENNY SCHWARTZ is going to beat Billy Landers and then ask the promoters to match him against any of the best bantamweights in the country."

The confident statement came from Goldie Ahearn last night as Schwartz's manager discussed the immediate future of the veteran Baltimore boxer, who meets Landers in the eight-round feature bout at Fort Washington next Monday night.

"I believe Benny can kayo Landers," continued Ahearn, breathing optimism, "and that's what Benny himself told my brother, Bobby, who is training with him in Kline's gymnasium over in Baltimore.

Showed Willingness To Slug.

"In their last fight, Schwartz showed he could stand up and punch with a slugger like Landers when he met Billy at his own game during the last two rounds. This time you can bet Benny will be able to do that the entire eight rounds. And what's more, he'll outbox Landers and make him appear silly if he chooses."

Bobby Goldstein, Ahearn's brother and an Olympic lightweight prospect from the University of Virginia, will train with Schwartz the balance of the week in Baltimore. Goldstein is speedy and accurate in his punching, and figures to prove just the sort of test Sammy needs for the latter's highly polished counter-attack.

Landers, a strong, rugged 116-pounder, was awarded an unpopular decision at Schwartz's expense several weeks ago in Portner Arena. The verdict caused so much post-mortem discussion that the Fort promoters look for one of the largest boxing crowds in recent history hereabouts next Monday night.

Entry Blanks Ready For 10-Mile Marathon

Entry blanks will be available, starting today, for the District of Columbia A. A. U. 10-mile marathon, which will be held under auspices of the Municipal Playground Department on July 4. The blanks may be secured at room 313, District Building, and Spalding's and Fairway stores.

Bill Agee, three times winner of the run, which heretofore has been conducted without A. A. U. significance, is expected to compete again, as are star long-distance hikers of Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, besides local runners.

SANDLOT DUST

WASHINGTON TERMINAL hooks up with the champion Constructioneers in the Industrial League today. Terminal is fighting to overtake the Dixie Pigs who have all but clinched the first half flag in the league. The Constructioneers are fighting to remain in the loop. No champion has been more disappointing than the Constructioneers. But that is beside the point. The interest in the league centers around the efforts of Terminal to catch the Dixies, a task that is possible, but not very probable.

CHEVY CHASE LAND ZONING UP TONIGHT

Civic Organizations Fighting Application of Realty Company.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post,
9103 Conn. ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The Montgomery County Commissioners will sit at the Montgomery County Building in Bethesda tonight at 7 o'clock to hear arguments for and against granting the application of the Chevy Chase Land Co. for rezoning of property in the neighborhood of Chevy Chase Lake. A large group of protestants is expected to appear since most of the civic organizations of Chevy Chase have opposed the rezoning.

The land now is zoned residential "A," and the application asks that it be rezoned residential "C," commercial "D" and industrial "E," in order that apartment houses and stores can be erected.

The hearing on the application of the same company for rezoning of property on Wisconsin avenue, near the District line, to permit apartment houses will be held June 23.

It is expected that a large delegation of county residents, particularly from the rural sections, will appear before the Montgomery County commissioners at Rockville today to urge drastic cuts in county expenses. The delegation is expected to present 130 petitions bearing the signatures of several thousands of taxpayers asking rigid economy.

"We are feeling the strain of this great depression and fear that it is going to be of long duration," the petitions state. "We deem it just and proper to ask our representatives, who are the county commissioners, that they speedily put economy into practice for the protection of our homes and county, make all reductions in our county's expenses within their power and stop creating so many new offices."

The petition further suggests that only one member of a family be allowed to hold public office and that both salaries and offices be cut down. Authorship of the petitions has been somewhat of a mystery since their circulation began more than a month ago, but it is believed they originated in the upper sections of the county.

A. T. Coumbe, jr., was elected president of the Sligo Park Hills Citizens Association at a meeting held last night in the parish hall of the Church of the Ascension, Silver Spring. Other officers elected were: L. Yost, vice president; Vernon H. Brewster, secretary; Mrs. Davis Harger, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert Ginsburg, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Lillian Hayesman, of Silver Spring, yesterday became the first woman to take out a State-wide hunting license in Montgomery County. The license was issued by William Wiley, deputy clerk. Mrs. Hayesman told Mr. Wiley that she had done extensive big game hunting.

A total of 564 instruments was filed in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court, Clayton K. Watkins, in the month of May. This was the lightest month the office has had since February, 1931, according to James Cummings, deputy clerk. The instruments filed already this month exceed last month.

Apoplexy Proves Fatal To Bethesda Man, 76

Charles Hurley, 76 years old, of Bethesda, Md., was stricken with apoplexy yesterday while working at the home of J. Fred Imirie, chief of the Bethesda Fire Department. Despite the efforts of the Bethesda Rescue Squad, he died within a few minutes. The stroke is believed to have been superinduced by the heat.

Sumpter M. Embrey, of the rescue squad, saw the elderly man fall as he started to walk to the barn on the farm. Embrey carried him to the barn and gave artificial respiration until the rescue squad arrived. The man was pronounced dead by Dr. J. F. O'Donnell, of Bethesda. A certificate of death from natural causes was issued by Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, of Bethesda.

Right of Charity Group To Solicit Funds Upheld

Judge Robert Joyce, of Mount Rainier, Md., yesterday upheld the rights of the Volunteers of America to solicit funds in the town for their charitable relief work.

A town ordinance prohibited solicitation of funds by any organization other than the Red Cross and the Salvation Army. Capt. Arthur Wise, regional commander of the Volunteers, arranged for the technical arrest of an agent of the organization to test the legality of the ordinance. The decision rendered by Judge Joyce held that the town law was discriminatory, and that solicitors of the Volunteers should not be molested.

The speaker was Col. William H. Waldron, U. S. Army, now on duty at the War Department, and Distinguished Service Medal and Distinguished Service Cross man. He was chief of staff of a division during the war, and a number of the Alexandria soldiers were trained under his command at Fort Lee, Petersburg, Va.

TRIAL JUSTICE CODE ADOPTED IN FAIRFAX

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The Fairfax County board of supervisors yesterday voted to adopt the trial justices' act of the Virginia code as part of the county judicial system, which bridges the gap existing between the justice of the peace courts and the county circuit court.

The act adopted yesterday provides that a trial justice shall be appointed by the judge of the circuit court for a period of four years. The trial court will have jurisdiction in misdemeanors and prohibition law offenses and will hold daily sessions at Fairfax. It also will have jurisdiction of all civil matters up to $300. It abolishes the county court of juvenile and domestic relations, over which Judge Paul E. Brown now presides.

Under the new system the justices of the peace in the county will function the same as under the old system, issuing warrants, making attachments and taking bonds, but will not have the jurisdiction to try the case and give verdicts. They make all papers returnable to the new trial court. The supervisors, voting, 4 to 2, to adopt the new system, recommended that the salary of the judge of the trial court be fixed at $1,800 a year. It is expected that Judge Walter T. McCarthy, of the circuit court, will make the appointment within the next few days.

Proponents of the new system stated that it would save the county several thousand dollars each year in jurors' fees in the circuit court, as most of the cases will be disposed of in the trial justice court.

Several citizens of the county attended the hearing on the question of fixing salaries of the county treasurer and commissioner of revenue. They seemed to be in favor of a general cut in salaries of all county employes and officials.

Recently the supervisors advised the banks of the county with which the road school bond issue, sinking funds for the repayment of the bonds were deposited, that the county insisted on a 4 per cent interest rate, instead of the 3 per cent rate which the Circuit Court approved temporarily. An agreement was reached last week between the supervisors, the bankers and Judge Walter T. McCarthy, of the Circuit Court, which must approve any action of the supervisors relative to the sinking funds as to future arrangements.

The court agreed to allow the funds to remain on deposit with the local banks at 3 per cent interest instead of the 4 per cent, subject to the right of the supervisors to withdraw any amount on proper notice to the bank, to purchase outstaning county bonds before maturity. The banks are to cooperate with the supervisors in the purchase of these bonds, and at any time they are able to purchase them, the banks will turn such bonds over to the county at cost. Some of the outstanding bonds do not mature for about ten years, and bear an interest rate of 5 per cent.

The trees will be planted at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening, one by each organization.

New Indictments May Cite Arlington Former Officials

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

It was learned yesterday from authoritative sources that with the opening of the June term of the Circuit Court in Arlington County Monday further indictments, including reindictments, will be sought against former County Treasurer E. Wade Ball, former County Clerk William H. Duncan and former School Board Clerk F. J. Hallock. The three are now under indictment on charges of grand larceny of public funds.

Reindictments against the three former officials have been asked to obviate any question which may have arisen with respect to the old indictments, returned at the April term of court, by reason of the recent abolition of magisterial districts in the county.

It is further pointed out that the April grand jury was a regular grand jury which, under the law, must be selected in accordance with magisterial district lines, while the coming grand jury will be a special grand jury which may be selected without regard to any districts.

Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence Douglas refused to comment on the probable action of the grand jury. He did not deny that new indictments will be asked.

After three months of constant work by a corps of nine State auditors, a full report on the audits of the books of the former county officials is expected to be made public within the next two weeks, according to T. Coleman Andrews, State auditor.

Answering the demands from the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County and the Arlington County Civic Federation that full reports of the audits when completed be made public, Andrews says that they will be filed in the county clerk's office as public records as soon as they are written up.

Commonwealth's Attorney Douglas said he would be ready to proceed with the cases at this term of court.

More than 200 delegates from sections of northern Virginia attended the opening session of the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union Auxiliary of the Potomac Association at the Clarendon Baptist Church yesterday. Mrs Lucile Rogers, of Round Hill, Va., presided.

The morning session opened at 10 o'clock with invocation by the Rev. Perry L. Mitchell, pastor of the Clarendon Baptist Church, followed by an address of welcome by Mrs. J. H. Criswell.

Reports of group leaders were made by the following delegates: Mrs. Luther Otley, Mrs Ashton C. Jones, Mrs. Paul Payne, Mrs. Curtis Waybright, Miss Ruth Hulfish and Mrs. John S. Sowers.

Chairmen's report showing much progress during the last year were made as follows: Mission study, Mrs. J. W. Emerick; stewardship, Miss Martha Cockerill; white cross, Miss Nancy Lake; young people's leader, Miss Margaret Fravel.

The morning session concluded with an address by the Rev. John E. Briggs, pastor of the Fifth Baptist Church, Washington, ending with prayer by the Rev. C. P. Ryland.

The afternoon session opened with an address by the Rev. William S. Abernethy, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Washington. Other speakers during the afternoon were Mrs. O. P. Lloyd, Mrs. Pierce Ellis, Miss Genevieve Trainham, Mrs. J. E. Morris, Mrs. J. M. Rideout and Mrs. J. Seligman.

The principal address at the morning session today will be delivered by the Rev. L. B. Olive, missionary, Chinkiang, China.

The meeting will conclude this afternoon with the annual election of officers, the appointment of delegates and alternates to the Southern Baptist convention and recommendations from the executive board.

Motorist Faces List of Charges

Counts Are Placed Against Driver After Shooting by Policeman.

Albert C. Day, driver of a car in which Harry Berry was riding when shot Tuesday by a Maryland State policeman, was charged yesterday with reckless driving, driving while drunk and assault on the policeman.

Day, who lives at 605 Raleigh street southeast, was taken to the Marlboro Jail yesterday from the Eleventh Precinct Station in Washington. He is being held in bond of $1,000 for a trial in police court Friday. Berry, who lives in Oxon Hill, was reported yesterday to be in "very good" condition at Gallinger Hospital. The warrant against Day charges him with reckless driving, consisting of colliding and running off the road into a ditch. He also is charged with simple assault on Policeman J. R. Miller, who fired once at the car after it had forced his motorcycle into the ditch. Two other men in the car were released yesterday without being charged.

The rumor current Tuesday night that Berry had died in the hospital was believed traced to its source yesterday when police at the Eleventh Precinct said that Gallinger had reported the death to them. The error was discovered later, but in the meantime a coroner's jury had been sworn in and taken to Gallinger to view the body.

Clark Case Venue Change Possible

State May Take Unusual Step for Retrial of Former County Official.

Possibility of a request for a change of venue by the State in the retrial of Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County commissioners, on charges of embezzlement from the county became known yesterday. A hung jury, which voted 11 for acquittal after eighteen hours of deliberation, was the result of the first trial.

State's Attorney Stedman Prescott has been on the outs with newspapermen since the trial and refuses to issue any information to the press, but it became known yesterday that he had been obtaining affidavits from county residents that they did not believe the State could obtain a fair trial in the county, which is the first move in a request for change of venue.

Removal of the case to another jurisdiction is discretionary with the court, however. Request for a change of venue by the State is an unusual procedure, veteran lawyers say, and very rarely is resorted to.

The case of Andrew G. Flaherty, 34, of 633 Seventh street northeast, held in Arlington County for investigation in connection with the death of George Harris, 46 years old, of Virginia Highlands, on the Washington-Richmond highway early yesterday, was continued until next Monday morning by County Judge B. M. Hedrick.

Flaherty was the operator of the automobile which is said to have struck Harris. He was released on his personal bond.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE mention of the name of Gen. James G. Harbord for Vice President is music to the ears of his many friends in the radio industry. Gen. Harbord, like Gen. Dawes, is very outspoken, as one may gather from reading his book, "Leaves From a War Diary." There is perhaps no franker discussion of the principal figures in the World War than appears in this volume.

Gen. Harbord and Gen. Dawes served together overseas and are intimate friends of many years standing.

WFFV has been suggested as the new call letter assignment for Station WJSV, by Oswald F. Schuette, of the National Broadcasters Association.

"Since the station is located in Virginia what could be more appropriate than WFFV," Mr. Schuette said. "The 'FFV,' of course, being the initials of the 'first families of Virginia.'"

A lot of free advertising was received by Station WRC in the Flag Day parade Tuesday night. It was really the float of the Women's Relief Corps, but to many the large letters "W. R. C." meant the broadcasting station.

Several spectators mistook the veteran with the long, gray whiskers for Kenneth Berkeley, manager of WRC.

THE latest concern to seriously enter the televison field is the Sparks-Withington Co., of Jackson, Mich., manufacturers of the Sparton radio set.

Capt. William Sparks appeared before the Federal Radio Commission last week seeking an experimental television permit. Likewise Leland S. Bisbee, of Jackson, counsel, and James O'D. Moran, of Washington, assistant counsel.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," one of the most popular melodramas of all time, will be dramatized during the Radio Guild broadcast over WRC at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Vernon Radcliffe, director in charge of Radio Guild presentation, has himself adapted the script from Harriet Beecher Stowe's book.

A NEW 500,000-watt experimental broadcasting station which may pave the way for a series of ultra-high power stations on United States clear channels has been authorized by the Federal Radio Commission and will begin operation in the near future.

The new station will be operated by the Crosley Radio Corporation, of Ohio, and will be the highest powered broadcaster ever used in this country. It is expected signals from the powerful transmitter will be received throughout the country three and one-half times stronger than signals from a 50,000-watt station, the highest power operating regularly in the United States.

The station will be operated on a frequency of 700 kilocycles, that now used by Station WLW, at Cincinnati. Test broadcasts with ultra-high power will be carried on daily from 1 a. m. to 6 a. m. The experiments will interfere in no way with regular broadcasts from WLW.

The Teutonic Club, German singing verein, will be heard in a guest performance with Nat Shilkret's Orchestra and vocal ensemble on the Kodak Hour tomorrow night (WMAL, 8 o'clock).

A NEW series of biweekly musical broadcasts by Irene Beasley will be inaugurated tonight (Thursdays and Saturdays, 10 p. m., WMAL). She will be accompanied by Fred Berrens and his orchestra. • • • "Without Headlines" is the offering of the Northern Dramatic Company (WOL, 8:35 o'clock tonight). • • • Rose Chanelle, contralto, will sing "The Night Shall Be Filled With Music" and "Dark Eyes" tomorrow night (WMAL, 6:15 o'clock). • • • The Mills Brothers will offer "Lullaby of the Leaves," "I Love to See the Evening Sun Go Down" and "Limehouse Blues" tonight (WMAL, 8:15 o'clock). • • • Gus Van, the Melody Man, will revive Irving Berlin's first song success, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," tomorrow night (WMAL, 8:45 o'clock). His other two numbers will be "Without a Song" and "Ain't Yer Bill," a cockney ditty. • • • Harry Horlick, director of the A. & P. Gypsies, was a concert violinist in Russia at the age of 14. • • • George Olsen, bandmaster and golfer, broke into the seventies for the first time the other day—and kept a representative of his sponsors, a production man and three vaudeville agents waiting while he called the members of his band up and told them the news.

Markets and Business in Review and Outlook

By Lawrence Sullivan

THERE should be nothing but high rejoicing throughout the United States that France has determined at last to follow the suggestion of both American bankers and Government officials that she withdraw her gold balances completely from New York.

It may not become apparent for several months, but eventually the French politicians must come to a sad realization that when they abandoned sound national economy for the sole purpose of diverting gold balances abroad to the service of their own extreme ends in world politics they launched upon a course which never has led anywhere but to disaster.

Meanwhile, the United States has the supreme satisfaction of knowing that all the unscrupulous political pressure of the French power today in diplomacy and finance could not cause a ripple in the value or standing of the dollar, either at home or abroad.

* * * *

SINCE 1927 France has used her gold as the first instrument of her European diplomacy, loaning to vassal states on her own terms, withdrawing vital currency support when any power dared interference with her mad diplomatic ambitions, and openly bidding for political allegiance among the weaker powers with the unblushing call of Midas.

But not until the long and severe depression had brought the American people to a perilous crisis last autumn did Paris try her hand at gold-diplomacy on this side of the Atlantic. Then, when hoarding was at its all-time peak in this country, when our bankers were struggling heroically with billions in defaulted foreign loans, when American diplomacy, through the Hoover moratorium, was putting forth every effort to save the entire world from fiscal collapse, and when popular psychology everywhere had been dangerously shocked by England's abandonment of the gold standard—at that precise moment, did France determine to strike America with her most powerful weapon. Directly and through her diplomatic allies and vassal states of Europe, she withdrew some $700,000,000 in gold from New York in a period of less than three months, adding tremendously to the burdens of those in America who were engaged in the work of reconstructing world economy and enforcing complete abandonment of the "gold exchange standard," which had been established in the principal money markets through some six years of laborious cooperation between the central banks.

Stated in fundamentals, France had acted once more on that old principle of international anarchy, which was the first rule of European diplomacy between 1870 and 1914, "Strike when the hour has come."

* * * *

IT has been said in defense of France's disgraceful reversion to the rule of plunder that the government was without power to control either the policy of the French bankers or the sentiment of the French people. The argument is entirely specious, for the fact is that in no country in the world is the banking policy more highly responsive to the ends of militaristic diplomacy.

The violent rumors which caused the recurrent French drives on the dollar, as they were euphemistically called in the Paris news dispatches, were as direct expressions of French foreign policy as if they had been proclaimed in a White Book. That they have failed is not so much a reflection upon French diplomacy as evidence to all the world of the extremely alert leadership which has guided America through the crisis, the economic and political stability of the United States, and of the unquestionable soundness of the American dollar.

In her carefully-wrought campaign for repudiation of the war debts France has aimed two foul blows at America in a period of ten months. After the first, last October, America responded with an invitation to France to come again and complete the job. This she has now accomplished—and American finance has not even winced.

Now France has all her gold. There can be no more dollar raids in Paris. And French diplomacy has lost its most vital power—that authority which always is wielded in human affairs by those who command respect and confidence for known integrity and fair dealing.

DOLLAR TRIUMPHS OVER WAR IN GOLD

American Banking Makes World Record in Paying Billions on Demand.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—The dollar glistened in victory today while the financial metropolis hailed the end of Europe's long drain on American gold.

The Bank of France converted the last of its dollar balances into gold yesterday for eventual lodgment in its own vaults. That meant America had successfully met all foreign demands on its gold supply, bankers said, and that the dollar had emerged a winner from the severest pressure ever imposed on a national currency.

Thereupon there occurred in the foreign exchange market the strongest bull movement in dollars seen in many weeks. Bankers expressed satisfaction, seeing the removal of one of the principal factors leading to a lack of confidence in business and financial circles.

Achievement in History.

The Bank of France's withdrawal from this market yesterday of $55,000,000 balances ended what was described as one of the most remarkable achievements in financial history—the repayment by the United States since 1929 of all but $700,000,000 of the $3,000,000,000 of short-term funds lodged in this market by foreign central banks, governments, and private interests.

The heavy efflux started last September, when the English pound sterling fell from the gold standard, shocking confidence all over the world. Bankers said the feat of America in disgorging smoothly about $1,100,000,000 in monetary gold since September should rout any uncertainty over the strength of the dollar.

At the close of trading yesterday not a single foreign exchange was quoted above the point at which gold can be exported profitably from this country.

The most constructive overnight news, so far as the investment market was concerned, was the information that France had virtually completed the conversion of her dollar balances into gold, foreshadowing the end of the outflow of metal from this country. Bankers felt that the recent outflow had tended to offset the effects of the Federal Reserves' credit expansion program.

Payments Set Mark.

Bankers regarded the accomplishment of a net reduction in our gold stock since September of about $1,100,000,000, with scarcely a ripple in the money market, as one of the outstanding feats in the history of banking.

In the bond market, renewed interest in the Federals was attributed principally to the announcement that France and other European centers had virtually completed their withdrawal of gold balances from this country, leaving American reserves still in the ascendancy.

At the same time, foreign exchanges continued to decline in relation to the dollar and there were reports that Europeans were quietly buying securities in this market.

With America now rid of her troublesome foreign gold, international bankers already are asking here, "Will France be next?"

If a better distribution of the world's gold supply is to be accomplished, and many economists attribute present difficulties in large part to maldistribution, the question arises, Why should France, with gold stocks of about $77 per capita, continue to accumulate the metal, while the United States, still with the world's largest supply, has only about $35 in yellow metal per capita?

Lion's Share of Gold.

The United States and France between them still control the lion's share of the metal. Out of a world supply of monetary gold of about $11,000,000,000, latest weekly bank statements showed this country's coffers held $3,900,000,000 and France's, $3,200,000,000.

Our own gold stock reached its peak of about $5,000,000,000 last September.

But why does France, with a large adverse trade balance, attract gold in such huge quantities? Bankers explain it as chiefly the result of the extraordinary conditions of the past year. France had large balances on deposit in London and New York, and with the waves of economic disturbance which began in Austria a year ago, spread to Germany and thence to England, she started calling home her funds, including her New York balances. Of the large capitals of Europe, Paris then seemed the safest haven for capital, and foreign money began to pile up there.

The outflow from the United States during the past fortnight has been about as rapid as is practicable, in view of the desirability of using fast ships, and the disinclination of insurance companies to insure more than $15,000,000 per vessel.

BANKERS TO CONFER ON TAX COLLECTION

New Law Provides Levies on Checks and Safe-Deposit Rentals.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A uniform plan for handling collection of new taxes on checks and safe deposit rentals will be considered by representatives of member banks of the District of Columbia Bankers Association at a meeting called for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the board room of the American Security & Trust Co.

The two-cent tax on checks was discussed at the convention of the association at Hot Springs, Va., last week and a special committee from its auditors' section has been giving the matter consideration. Reports of this committee will be submitted to member banks before the meeting Friday.

While the law taking effect June 21 provides payment of the check tax by the depositor, it places upon the bank responsibility for its collection and makes no provision for the issuance of tax stamps as was the case in 1898 during the Spanish-American War. The check tax is expected to bring $95,000,000 additional revenue into the Treasury next year.

Regulations governing collection of the new tax on checks, drafts or money orders were issued yesterday by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and complete instructions as to administration of the law will be forthcoming shortly.

Friday's meeting is the first of the association's new administrative year and was called by Vice President Charles H. Doing, Washington Loan & Trust Co., newly elected secretary of the association.

The executive council of the fiduciaries section of the bankers' association for the next administrative year will be composed of Leonard Marbury, Washington Loan & Trust Co.; William E. Howard, National Bank of Washington; Sidney F. Taliaferro, Riggs National Bank, and David Bornet, National Savings & Trust Co.

Directors of the United States Savings Bank have just declared their regular quarterly dividend of 7½ per cent payable June 30, 1932.

Exchange Reduces Bond Sales Fees

Sliding Scale Is Adopted According to Value of Security.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—The board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange today made allowance for prevailing lower bond prices by reducing commission charges on the purchase and sale of bonds.

The former rate was $2.50 per bond regardless of its price. Under the new ruling, a sliding scale of commissions has been set up for the exchange's members to charge customers.

On bonds quoted at $100 to $1,000 the commission will remain at $2.50, but on bonds selling at less than $100 the commission will not be less than $1.25.

On bonds selling at less than $10, the commission may be fixed by mutual agreement between the dealer and the customer.

Kreuger's Agents Grilled on Assets

Missing Witness Appears and Discloses Holdings; Observer Questioned.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Pending decision tomorrow of Federal Judge Julian A. Mack on the involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed against Kreuger and Toll Co., Jacob Javits, petitioner's counsel, today began questioning Alexis Aminoff, American observer for the company.

Aminoff reiterated that the list of American assets of the company published several days ago was complete, and that the figure would not exceed "a few hundred thousand dollars."

Meanwhile Anders Jordahl, missing witness, appeared voluntarily before Referee Oscar W. Ehrhorn to testify regarding his relations with Ivar Kreuger.

Jordahl said his long friendship with Kreuger had led him to act as the match king's American agent on occasion. He denied having any of the company's assets, saying he had turned them all over to the administrator.

The assets, he said, consisted of 146,000 American certificates for participating debentures of the Kreuger and Toll stock, other stock worth $25,000, cash amounting to between $20,000 and $30,000, and paintings, etchings and art objects from the Kreuger apartment on Park avenue, which had been insured for more than $200,000.

The witness said he took the valuables from Kreuger's home and placed them in storage in New Jersey to put them out of reach of "persons who had no right to them, but might seek to obtain them."

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

Number of advances	333	231
Number of declines	71	115
Stocks unchanged	93	124
Total issues traded	497	470

Stocks.

News that French dollar-raiding was definitely at end gave new buoyancy to all the financial markets yesterday. Stocks advanced to within a point of the June 4 high. Trading was broader and there was a suggestion of better investment buying.

Bonds.

Well more than one-third of the day's volume was in U. S. Governments, but the corporate list reflected the more cheerful tone of the market. The second-grade rails came up for the best advance as a group.

Curb.

Trading quickened appreciably in response to the gold news. Oil statistics for the week were better and some standard issues approached the year's highs. Utilities also were up. The industrials were almost neglected.

Wheat.

Cotton.

Liverpool went buyer on persistent reports of fine weevil weather South. The close was 12 to 14 points net higher.

MARKET COMMENT

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co.—Apparently the markets will no longer have to withstand alarmist talk and frightened dealings in securities and exchange from that section of the public which has thought the dollar to be in danger. The most conservative quarters were not influenced by the gold outflow or by speculation against the dollar, but nevertheless fear and agitation, unnecessary though it has been, was widespread enough to have a disturbing effect.

Robert C. Jones & Co.—Bonds, commodities and stocks moved up yesterday. This uniform strength in all markets is a healthy indication and should continue as a result of a better business, foreign and political outlook. The Lausanne conference on German reparations starts today and the strength in German bonds in the last two days is in anticipation of constructive developments.

Waggaman, Brawner & Co.—General strength featured the stock market yesterday. Activity increased on the advance and the buying broadened out to include a larger number of stocks. Indications of investment buying were higher prices for preferred stocks and active buying in the very high-priced bank stocks, such as First National Bank and United States Trust.

Westheimer & Co.—Strengthening of confidence is apparent in responsible investment circles. Recent rallies invite certain amount of profit taking, but, aside from this, little pressure appears at the moment to overhang the market.

The following reviews of yesterday's financial markets abroad are from the regular European service of the Associated Press.

London—The tone of the stock exchange continued cheerful. Investment buying advanced gilt-edged securities, and foreign bonds improved on continental buying. Favorable Wall street reports helped American issues, but home rails and Kaffirs yielded on realizing. The closing was steady.

Paris—Prices were irregular on the bourse today. French rentes closed lower, and the Young loan, bank shares and international issues were weak. The closing was heavy.

Berlin—Trading was listless on the boerse and the opening was irregularly weak. Prices recovered at the close.

STOCK PRICES RALLY ON VICTORY IN GOLD

Gains of 1 to 3 Points Result as Confidence Is Restored.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Fortified by assurances that the American banking system had successfully withstood the strain of huge gold exports, now virtually at an end, security markets made a bolder bid for confidence today.

In stocks the tone was strong. In bonds there was a trend toward higher prices among corporate issues, while United States Governments rallied briskly. Shares took news of the bonus bill's passage in their stride, obviously resting on assumption that the measure would not get by the Senate and that, in case it did, the House could not override a veto.

Trade reports were almost a standoff; perhaps unfavorable items had a slight edge by virtue of foreign trade and steel production figures.

Gains of 1 to 3 Points.

The stock market closed within about a point of the June 4 highs, net gains of 1 to 3 being numerous in an increased volume of trading. Chart followers pointed to the favorable technical significance of a possible push through this month's peak, but were equally interested in the market's leisurely, unspectacular advance this week. A number of preferred shares found considerable support.

Auburn took a 9¼ point ride to 75 and finished 2 points under the best. It still commanded a substantial premium for borrowing purposes. Case gained more than two points, while Western Union profited by short covering on yesterday's omission of the dividend.

R. H. Macy, whose directors made no change in the quarterly payment, was up 3. National Biscuit, American Telephone, American Can, Eastman, Coca Cola, American Tobacco "B," and Peoples Gas gained at least 2.

Sales totaled 1,154,801 shares.

Gold Pleases Street.

Wall street was highly pleased by the turn in the gold question. Bankers pointed out that Europe, without embarrassing this country, had obtained metal which she will need for eventual trade expansion, that our Federal Reserve system, in pursuing its easy credit policy, need not operate with one eye on offsetting gold losses, and that an important psychological handicap now has been overcome.

Iron Age said the rate of steel ingot output had fallen to 18 per cent of the old capacity, or 2 points lower, but believed final disposition of legislative matters and adjournment of Congress would make their mark on business confidence.

Seasonal factors in industry appear to be much less influential than normally, and possibility of an upturn in July or August, provided underlying conditions improve, was mentioned by the review.

Electric power production last week was 11.5 per cent under a year ago, the most favorable comparison in more than a month.

May exports of the United States fell off to $132,000,000, a new minimum, against $204,000,000 last year, but the favorble balance was preserved, amounting to $20,000,000.

Foreign exchange movements were narrower, but favored dollars. Almost all of the day's gold shipments were taken from earmarked stocks.

GOLD MOVEMENT.

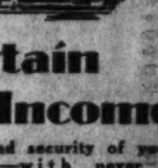

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Substantial exports of gold were announced by the New York Federal Reserve Bank today, but they were almost wholly from stocks already under earmark for foreign account, and previously reduced from this country's stock.

Exports totaled $22,516,800, but at the same time the amount of metal under earmark decreased $21,941,000, so the net loss in the country's gold stock was only $575,800.

Exports included $13,752,700 to France, $5,999,300 to Switzerland, $2,714,800 to Belgium and $50,000 to Austria. There were no imports.

NORTHERN PACIFIC DELAYS ON DIVIDEND

Directors Take No Action; Road Breaks Long Record of Stock Payments.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Northern Pacific Railway directors met today to consider dividend action, but at the conclusion of their session the terse announcement was made that "no action was taken."

Three months ago the board failed to declare the dividend due at that time and explained that in the future dividend action would be taken semiannually. Wall street did not expect favorable action today; in fact, it was resigned to an announcement of omission, fully warranted, it was felt, by the poor earning record of the road thus far in 1932 and the generally uncertain outlook.

Today's omission by the Northern Pacific strikes from the dividend list another road with a long dividend record. The last payment was 75 cents, for the final quarter of 1931, which was preceded by regular payments of $1.25 quarterly for many years.

In addition to reduced earning power from the abnormally small volume of traffic the road is now taking a smaller return on its substantial investment in Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, which recently reduced its dividend from $5 semiannually to $3.

Cities Service Net Declines in May

Month's Earnings Are Off $243,077; Shares to Get 44 Cents.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Net earnings of the Cities Service Co. for May, applicable to common stock and reserves, amounted to $1,346,851 against $1,504,275 for the same month last year.

The company's gross earnings for the month totaled $3,077,289, compared with $3,320,366 for the similar period in 1931. Net earnings were $2,913,584, against $3,132,199.

For twelve months ended May 31, net earnings applicable to common stock and reserves aggregated $15,314,794, equivalent to 44 cents a share, compared with $29,943,490, or 96 cents a share, for the previous twelve months.

Consolidated Gas Issue Of $30,000,000 Allowed

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—The State Public Service Commission today approved a $30,000,000 bond issue by Consolidated Gas Co. of New York. The securities are 5 per cent 25-year debentures and are to be sold at not less than 94.

Bond dealers hear that the company will wait a while before testing the bond market with an offering of all or part of the new issue.

It is said that the company's bankers will not be called upon to place the bonds until conditions are more favorable.

Air Lines Report Gain In Passenger Revenues

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—An increase of 21 per cent in revenue passengers carried by United Air Lines in May over April was announced today by President P. G. Johnson.

Revenue passengers in April were 6,885, and in May, 8,367, with the New York-Chicago-Pacific Coast Line carrying 5,141 and the Chicago-Fort Worth-Dallas and Seattle-San Diego lines the remainder.

Sun Life Dividend.

Montreal, Que., June 15 (A.P.).—A quarterly dividend of $3.75 a share was declared today in the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada.

The dividend, which is at the rate of 15 per cent per annum, is payable July 1. The previous dividend, paid April 1, was $6.25 a share.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Automobile Co., announced today that the company has unfilled orders for 1,800 cars and that orders are coming in at the rate of 170 a day.

Otis Elevator Co. declared a dividend of 37½ cents on the common, payable July 15 to stock of record June 30. Three months ago a 50-cent payment was voted.

Directors of the Consolidated Cigar Corporation have taken no action on the quarterly dividend on the common stock due at this time. Three months ago the dividend was reduced to 75 cents from $1.25.

The Aeolian Co. has omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock due at this time.

According to a preliminary estimate received by the New York Hide Exchange from the Tanners' Council, production of shoes during May totaled 22,000,000 pair against 25,900,000 pairs in April and 28,452,000 pairs in May, 1931.

Freight traffic handled by the class I railroads of the United States in April amounted to 21,255,361,000 net ton-miles, according to reports from the Bureau of Railway Economics. Compared with April, 1931, this was a reduction of 7,456,122,000 net miles or 26 per cent, and a reduction of 13,644,994,000 net ton miles or 39.1 per cent under April, 1930.

Production of the Portland cement industry in May was 50 per cent less and shipments 43 per cent smaller than in May, 1931, according to figures compiled by the Department of Commerce.

A new low record in machinery sales was recorded in the last few days, says the American Machinist. The new tax bill, it is declared, will bear heavily on some of the biggest users of machinery, many of the items in it being difficult to pass on to customers.

May consumption of crude rubber by manufacturers in the United States was 29,197 long tons against 29,953 tons in April, the Rubber Manufacturers Association reports. Domestic stocks on hand May 31 totaled 346,231 tons, an increase of 1 per cent over April and 37 per cent over a year ago.

A Touch of Investment Buying.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Leadership of the bond market was again taken over today by United States Government obligations. Corporate securities generally reflected the buoyancy of the Federals, but their upward movement was noticeably restrained.

Aside from the Government department, trading was inclined to dullness. Of the total sales of $9,707,000, par value, transactions in Treasury and Liberty loans aggregated approximately $3,500,000.

Strength of national bonds was attributed almost directly to the announcement that Europe had about completed withdrawal of gold balances in this country and that America still had enough of the precious metal to maintain her position as the "number one" world financial power. At the same time the dollar continued to gain steadily against foreign currencies.

Both the utilities and railways displayed a firm undertone throughout the session, a number of second grade carriers advancing a point or more. The most substantial gains were made by some bonds of Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Hudson & Manhattan, Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Columbia Gas, International Telephone, Replogle Iron & Steel, Texas Corp. and Shell Union Oil.

Austrian loans were in demand with gains up to 3 points. Strength was also exhibited by issues of Brazil, Berlin, Australia, Italy and New South Wales. German 5½s were up 1 point, but the 7s eased slightly. British 5½s rallied fractionally.

Oil and Utilities Lead the Advance.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—The curb market developed considerable strength today, in sympathy with the big board. Trading quickened somewhat, with a turnover of 120,000 shares, or 20,000 above yesterday's.

The improvement was largely in response to news of virtual completion of the outgoing gold movement, but oils may have been helped as well by the weekly statistics, showing further drawing down of gasoline stocks, and a negligible increase in crude output. Humble rose 1½ points, and Imperial Oil ¾. Both are subsidiaries of Standard of New Jersey. Standard of Indiana rose fractionally to 18¼, or within a point of the year's high. Gulf was about steady.

Utilities were largely inclined to advance. Gains of nearly a point were registered by American Gas & Electric and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, while Commonwealth Edison closed 3 points higher. Electric Bond & Share and American Superpower firmed.

In the investment trusts, Goldman Sachs rose ⅛ point to 1⅝, bringing it into line with the offer of Atlas Utilities to exchange 3-10 of one of its shares for one share of Goldman Sachs. Atlas closed unchanged at 5⅜.

Industrials were mostly quiet. Aluminum Co. and Parker Rust gained about a point, and Giner 4, in a few transactions. Ford of Canada "A" was up a fraction.

WHEAT VALUE GAINS ON HEAVIER BUYING

Eastern Orders Aid Prices in Climb; Corn and Oats Advance.

Chicago, June 15 (A.P.).—Heavy buying ascribed to Eastern sources gave a rapid lift to the wheat market today, after values had touched the 1932 low.

One widely known Eastern speculator was credited with having bought 2,000,000 bushels inside of a few minutes, 500,000 bushels at a time. Large scale purchasing caught the wheat pit in an oversold condition and with the New York stock market stronger wheat scored the liveliest rally witnessed in quite a while.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1¼ to 1⅝ cents above yesterday's finish, corn ¾ to 1⅛ up, oats ⅜ to ¾ advanced, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents higher.

Upturn in Wheat.

A maximum upturn of 2½ cents a bushel took place in wheat, but profit taking sales at the last caused a moderate reaction. The sudden wave of heavy purchase orders came at a juncture when the pit was virtually bare of offerings for the time being. Quick jumps in prices ensued and were accelerated by word that exporters here had taken some corn for export, and that stimulus to an upward trend of feed grains had resulted.

An unusually small volume of winter wheat receipts attracted considerable notice. Some trade experts said the scantiness of domestic arrivals suggested there was less wheat to market than generally supposed.

Corn and oats responded to wheat price gains and to export buying of corn.

Provisions tended upward with cereals, and the hog market.

New Zealand Plans To Free Exchange

Restrictions to Be Lifted at End of Month, Forbes Says.

Wellington, New Zealand, June 15 (A.P.).—Prime Minister G. W. Forbes announced today that the government will lift the regulations restricting exchange at the end of the month.

There will be no further interference with the exchange rate, which has become the care of the banks, he stated. Pooling of exchange was instituted by the government last winter.

The announcement has aroused fears in some banking and commercial circles regarding the possibility of maintaining the New Zealand exchange rate at its present level. Banking circles are apprehensive that one of the leading banks in New Zealand, which is a branch of an Australian bank, may act independently with the view of raising the rate.

Any increase in the New Zealand exchange rate would be suicidal, bankers here declare, at least before the imperial economic conference at Ottawa has concluded.

Steel Production Sinks Still Lower

Operations Now Reported at 18 Per Cent of Mill Capacity.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—A further reduction in steel-producing operations of the country to 18 per cent of ingot capacity was reported today by Iron Age. The previous week's rate was 20 per cent.

Current output is not above 38,000 tons a day, against 42,593 tons a day in May, as reported by the American Iron and Steel Institute, the review states.

The immediate outlook is described as obscure, but it is generally believed that the present output is very much below the wear-and-tear needs of the country, indicating that such low production can not continue long.

Due to demoralized conditions in steel-scrap markets the Iron Age composite price for heavy melting steel has reached another new all-time low at $7 a gross ton.

The pig-iron composite at $14.01 a gross ton and that for finished steel is unchanged at 2.087 cents a pound.

Ethyl Gasoline Company To Adopt 5-Day Week

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Adoption of the five-day week was announced today by the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation. The change, effective July 1, affects the entire organization.

The action was taken, the company said, "to meet the changed conditions of industry, which demand a wider diffusion of the service of labor without additional total expense to industry."

The income of each employe will be reduced by one-eleventh under the new plan.

Electric Power Output Declines During Week

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Electric power output for the week ended June 11 was 11.5 per cent below that of the same week last year, this being the smallest decrease reported for the past month or more.

Production totaled 1,435,471,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,381,452,000 in the preceding week and 1,621,451,000 in the 1931 period.

The above decrease compares with a loss of 12.2 per cent in the previous week as compared with 1931 and a maximum loss of 13.1 per cent as reported for the week ended May 14.

COTTON ADVANCES ON TRADE'S BUYING

July Price Closes at 5.24 Laid to Crop Menace; Liverpool Covers.

New York, June 15 (A.P.).—Nervousness over the possibility of boll weevil damage to the coming crop, together with the firmer tone of the stock and grain markets seemed largely responsible for further trade buying and covering with a consequent advance in cotton today.

July contracts sold up to 5.25 in the late trading, or 14 points net higher and 34 points above the recent record low, closing at 5.24. The general market closed steady at net gains of 12 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged to 3 points higher in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. Late months were relatively easy at the start under some realizing or scattered selling on the hope of improving weather conditions in the South, but offerings were comparatively light and the market firmed up after the call on the better action of the stock market.

Fluctuations Are Irregular.

Later fluctuations were somewhat irregular, but realizing was absorbed on comparatively slight setbacks, and the highest prices of the day were reached in the late trading when December sold at 5.64, or 15 points net higher. Closing quotations were within a point of the best.

As anticipated, the weekly report of the Weather Bureau indicated that conditions had been favorable for cotton growth, but also said that the weather had been favorable for boll weevil in many places. Traders were more impressed by the weevil threat than the favorable features in the report. One private report said there was a gain in the density of initial weevil infestation over the southern half of the belt.

Liverpool cables reported covering with local and foreign buying on the advance in that market, but said sales of cotton cloths and yarns were small with stocks accumulating.

Exports today were 31,852 bales, making 8,200,528 bales so far this season.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, who became one of the most distinguished lawyers of England after he fled from the United States at the close of the Civil War, was born on the Island of St. Thomas, in 1811, at that time a British possession. With his parents, he later moved to Charleston, S. C., where he attended school. After studying law at Yale University, he began his practice in New Orleans, and before he was 40 he was the outstanding lawyer of Louisiana.

Although he grew to manhood in this country, he was of foreign birth and, still a British subject, was elected to the United States Senate in 1852.

Benjamin resigned from the Senate when Louisiana seceded from the Union. Under President Davis he served the Confederate government in the following cabinet positions: Attorney general, secretary of war and secretary of state.

Soon after the Confederate government collapsed, Benjamin went to England, where, in 1865, at the age of 54 years, he began anew his career as a lawyer. He became one of England's most famous barristers. He retired from the bar in 1883, and removed to Paris, where he died a year later.

Lewis E. Laws, warden of the State penitentiary at Sing Sing, is required by law to be present in the death chamber at every execution which takes place in that prison. During the twelve years he has been warden he has been in the death chamber at the executions of 150 men and one woman, but, admittedly an opponent of capital punishment, he never watches the actual killings.

Any reader wanting further proof of anything depicted here should address the author, care of The Washington Post, and inclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope for reply. JOHN HIX.

DICK TRACY—A Bargain

H. D. T. Dean, Father of 5, Is Carried Off by Current in Berwyn Stream.

KIN FAILS IN ATTEMPT TO RESCUE SWIMMER

Both Cling to Driftwood, but Raging Water Forces Them to Loosen Hold.

Paint Creek, converted by last night's rainstorm from a rivulet into a swollen and swift stream, swept Harold D. T. Dean, 38, father of five children, to death by drowning while he was bathing in the stream about 75 feet from his home in Berwyn, Md.

Despite heroic efforts of his brother-in-law, Norvell Van Houghton, to rescue him, Dean was carried downstream to his death.

Mr. Dean, a printer at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, went to the creek for a swim with Van Houghton about 9:30 last night.

Carried Away by Current.

He stepped into the water, which was swirling and strong in contrast to its usual quiet current, and was carried off his feet. Van Houghton swam after him and succeeded in pulling him from under a mass of driftwood.

Both men were clinging to the driftwood, Van Houghton said, when a surge of the current carried Dean away.

Van Houghton was borne about 50 feet down stream before he could swim ashore. He ran several hundred feet below to a sandbar, thinking he would see and be able to rescue Dean as he was swept by, but he saw no trace of him.

Search Party Organized.

The Prince Georges County police and the Bladensburg rescue squad were notified immediately and a party of nearly 100 residents of Berwyn were organized to search the stream in hope that he might have managed to grab a tree limb.

The rescue squad set up a powerful searchlight on the Metzerott road bridge several miles below the scene of the accident to sight Dean. No trace of the body had been found late last night.

Driver Is Arrested In Holdup Attempt

Accused Man Implicates Him in Assault on Goodacre.

John McKeen Kirk, 28 years old, of 1647 West Virginia avenue northeast, was arrested yesterday and is being held at the Sixth Precinct Station for investigation in connection with the frustrated holdup and robbery of George L. Goodacre, proprietor of a chain of lunchrooms here.

Detective Sergt. Larry O'Dea arrested Kirk, who is said to be the husband of the Goodacre maid, who was arrested shortly after the robbery attempt.

The attempt to rob Mr. Goodacre was made by a lone man, later identified as Thomas F. White, early Monday morning, near his home at 7617 Morningside drive. It was frustrated when Mr. Goodacre jumped from the car. According to police, White is said to have admitted that he was driven to the scene of the holdup by Kirk, who was to wait for him a few blocks away.

Credit Union Bill Sent to President

House Amendments Are Agreed To by Senate; Street Measures Signed.

The Senate yesterday agreed to House amendments to the Capper bill authorizing incorporation of credit unions in the District. The bill was sent to the President for his signature.

As amended, the measure prohibits credit unions incorporated under the act from using "United States" or "Federal" in their names. The bill permits groups of persons to incorporate for the purpose of lending members money at low interest rates.

House amendments to the bill permitting the Commissioners to close Quintana place northwest, also were agreed to by the Senate. Four other street-closing bills, one giving the Commissioners broad authority of this character, were signed by the President yesterday.

Depression in Street Costs District $1,000

Mrs. Lida K. Thorn, 313 Rosemary street, Chevy Chase, Md., yesterday was given a verdict of $1,000 by a jury in the court of Justice Jennings Bailey for injuries she sustained April 26, 1929, when she alighted from a street car at Seventh and V streets northwest and stepped into a depression. The verdict was against the District government, which was charged with negligence in failing to have the depression filled up.

Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer also obtained a settlement of $750 from the Washington Railway & Electric Co., from whose car Mrs. Thorn had alighted into the depression. The theory of the settlement was that the motorman should not have stopped his car at the depression.

A fight in nearby Maryland sent Alfred Schrey, 22 years old, of 1415 Rhode Island avenue, to Emergency Hospital to be treated for serious injuries yesterday. C. U. GIVES HONORARY DEGREES TO THREE

453 AT CATHOLIC U. ARE GIVEN DEGREES

Martin Carmody, K. of C. Chief, Speaks on Current Economic Crisis.

Graduates leaving school to enter into economic competitions are fortunate, because of the opportunity to apply theoretic principles to the solution of the urgent problems confronting us today, Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, told the 453 graduates of Catholic University as they received their degrees yesterday.

Three honorary degrees were conferred at the forty-third convocation, with the Most Rev Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate, presiding at the ceremony.

Giacomo de Martino, Ambassador from Italy, was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of laws, "because of his skill in diplomacy, his able administration in office and particularly because of his nobility of character which now has universal esteem."

Leonide Pitamic, Minister from Jugoslavia, was granted the honorary doctorate of laws because of his distinguished service to his nation and the United States, and "by reason of his upright living and published works, by virtue of which he is a model and master for all."

Excellence of Work.

Frederick Charles Hirons received the honorary degree of master of science because, "by the excellence of his work and the verdict of competent judges, he has attained the highest repute and through his counsel and able assistance, has enabled many students of architecture to pursue their way to success." Mr. Hirons is a builder.

Mr. Carmody told the graduates that, "not during the past three decades has there been a more opportune time for the application of the knowledge and training you have received. The foundations of your life's work are now to be laid, under conditions that will require and permit of the greatest care. Into these foundations will be laid the solid blocks of patience, hard work, self-sacrifice, restraint and perseverance, most essential requisites.

"Under present conditions you will not need to build your superstructure so hastily," he said. "There will not be the need for so rapid construction and expansion, as has seemed necessary in the recent past." This condition will give ample opportunity for thought and planning, Mr. Carmody stated.

24 Normal Diplomas.

Edward Donald O'Brien delivered the valedictory following the commencement address. The invocation which opened the ceremony was presented by the Right Rev. Mgr. Edward Pace and the apostolic delegate delivered the benediction.

The degrees were conferred by the Right Rev. Mgr. James Hugh Ryan, rector of the university. The degrees included 146 bachelor of arts, 22 bachelor of science, 26 bachelor of engineering (which included degrees in architecture), 8 bachelor of music, 10 bachelor of laws, 131 master of arts and 5 other master degrees, 31 doctor of philosophy, 1 doctor of science in education, 35 bachelor in theology and canon law, 24 licentiates in theology and canon law and 14 doctor in theology and canon law degrees. There were 24 normal diplomas conferred.

(Names of graduates will be found on page 7.)

Death Giving Gang Cruiser Shown Police

"Washington police have demonstrated their ability to handle any crime situation that may arise here with the present police methods and equipment," said Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, yesterday at a demonstration of a specially built and equipped police cruiser.

The cruiser, a Lincoln touring car, was equipped with the latest and most efficient weapons used in combating gangdom. A machine gun with 3,000 rounds of ammunition, hand grenades, five pistols in special holsters, sawed-off shot gun, tear gas guns, a high-powered rifle with dum-dum bullets, bombs of tear gas, mustard gas and ammonia, five bullet-proof vests and gas masks, are some of the equipment of this traveling arsenal. The machine is lined with bullet proof steel and has a double shatter-proof windshield.

According to Gen. Glassford, if the local police introduced the machine gun as a method of protection, it would act as a sort of challenge to the gangsters here who have so far used only pistols and sawed-off shot guns, and they would act to protect themselves, also with machine guns.

The cruiser, property of the Dearborn, Mich., police department, will be demonstrated here for several days, before continuing a tour of the country.

He was struck by an automobile driven by George Ellsworth Johnson, 23 years old, of 1800 Wyoming avenue northwest, the police report said. Bradengier was taken to Casualty Hospital, where his condition was said to be serious.

Explosion of an ammonia tank in the Washington Terminal Power House, near Union Station, yesterday caused severe burns about the eyes to Hubert Boff, 35 years old, of 619 F street northeast.

Boff, a helper at the Terminal, was taking the top from the ammonia tank when the explosion occurred, spraying his face with the liquid. He was removed to Emergency Hospital, where his condition is undetermined.

Arrests Ordered for Sale Of Two Humor Magazines

Acting under instructions by Assistant United States Attorney Michael F. Keogh, members of the Police Department were told last night to arrest all news dealers and wholesale distributors of magazines if they were found to have for sale copies of two certain numbers.

Mr. Keogh late yesterday was given copies of two publications, and after he had carefully scrutinized them he gave instructions to have every one offering them for sale arrested. One of the magazines was banned only for the July issue, while the other was banned for July and August.

The determination to stamp out the sale of indecent publications was made by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover several months ago. To carry out that policy, Mr. Rover issued instructions to the Police Department, and 133 newsdealers were arrested in a police drive.

All these dealers were offering for sale one of three magazines. In subsequent court proceedings Mr. Keogh obtained a conviction in each instance.

TALKS ON SMOKING URGED IN SCHOOLS

Permission Sought Here for Lectures on Alcohol and Cigarette Evils.

Washington school children may be given illustrated lectures next year on the evils of alcohol and cigarettes, it was indicated yesterday at a Board of Education meeting when members of the federated committee on public schools asked the board if these lectures might be made.

William V. Mahoney, of the Anti-cigarette Alliance, addressed the board on the subject. Mr. Mahoney said that the lectures, to be given in auditoriums, are intended to supplement the regular courses on health. The effects of cigarette smoking on expectant mothers, and the harmful results of alcohol would be shown through moving picture films, Mr. Mahoney announced.

The lectures would be given by Dr. W. Sinclair Bowen and Dr. Daniel H. Cress. The entire matter was referred to the superintendent with instructions to report back as soon as possible. Dr. Abram Simon, chairman of the board, injected humor into the discussion when he asked Mr. Mahoney what attitude he thought the board should take if a cigarette company asked permission to lecture before school children on the benefit to the throat of a certain brand of cigarette.

Mr. Mahoney replied that, under law, the board is supposed to see that children are instructed in hygiena. However, individual lectures from persons outside the school system can not be given without special permission of the board, Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent, reminded the speaker.

The federated committee on public schools, a comparatively new organization, is made up of representatives of the W. C. T. U., the P.-T. A., and the Anticigarette Alliance, and other organizations. Several of the members were present at the meeting.

Rotary Club Hears Refrigeration Talk

Organization Is Addressed by Col. Wrisley Brown at Luncheon.

The importance of refrigeration in American economy was brought to the attention of the Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday at the Willard Hotel by Col. Wrisley Brown.

Without the present-day methods of refrigeration, he pointed out, it would be impossible to feed all Americans. He said that the citizen eats foods which have been hauled an average distance of 1,000 miles in refrigerated cars.

President S. Percy Thompson presided at the meeting. Arthur May, chairman of the golf committee, told of plans for a golf contest next Thursday.

Shower of Tabulations and Charts Causes Adjournment for Study.

ROBERTS SEEKING COST OF VARIOUS SERVICES

Apparently Lays Groundwork for Temporary Plant Valuation.

Showered by a storm of statistical charts and tabulations and yet lacking in certain cost figures which the Public Utilities Commission insisted were necessary, the public hearing on telephone rates was adjourned abruptly yesterday afternoon until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

This morning a conference will be held by members of the commission, William A. Roberts, special counsel, and B. M. Bachman, chief accountant, with R. A. Van Orsdel, attorney for the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., and accountant of the utility, in an attempt to compute the data asked by the utilities body for introduction at the hearing. People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech will also participate.

The hearing adjourned after Mr. Roberts had introduced, one by one, 45 exhibits, constituting charts, graphs, and tabulations, on the properties of the phone company, through Mr. Bachman and Thomas R. Tate, commission valuation engineer.

Time Asked to Study Data.

Taken aback somewhat by the mass of figures, counsel for the utility, as well as the people's counsel and representatives of the Federation of Citizens Association, asked time to study the data before cross-questioning the commission witnesses.

The first hitch developed during the morning when Mr. Roberts demanded figures of the phone company showing the costs of each class of its service, and the utility representatives explained that it would be very difficult, if not impossible, to furnish such data. The company had submitted certain figures last Saturday in response to a request from the commission on May 2, but these did not meet the full demands of the utilities body.

Apparently the purpose of Mr. Roberts is to set up a temporary valuation for the company that will be somewhat lower than the present unsatisfactory rate base of $31,000,000, which is the 1914 valuation plus net additions and betterments to date, but without depreciation for retirements. Should this be done, the profits of the company, now held to be only slightly over 7 per cent, would be proportionally increased.

Costs of Equipment.

Some figures will also be offered to show that the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., a 100 per cent subsidiary of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., has been buying equipment from the Western Electric Co. at increasing costs during the last few years despite the general decrease in market prices.

The statistics introduced by the commission through Mr. Backman regarding the company's operations, costs and profits from 1925 to 1930, inclusive, were not furnished the press due to the insufficiency of copies.

At the beginning of the hearing William McK. Clayton, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations, made a motion that the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. be made a party to the hearing. The commission took the motion under advisement.

MEMORIAL DESIGN WINNER SELECTED

Philip G. Golden's Proposed Marker to Robert Mills Adjudged Best.

As a lasting tribute to a pioneer in American architecture and to benefit local members of that profession who at present are unemployed, the results of a competition, sponsored by the Allied Architects of Washington, to obtain a suitable memorial to Robert Mills, were announced last night at the organization's headquarters, 726 Jackson place northwest.

The first prize of $100 went to Phillip G. Golden. The mnounent of his design will soon be erected by the Allied Architects at the grave of a man famed for his work in early American architecture.

Robert Mills, designer of the Washington Monument, the United States Treasury Department, the Patent Office and the old Postoffice Building on Pennsylvania avenue, now lies in an unmarked grave in Congressional Cemetery.

His work in Washington dates back to the administration of President Jackson. Mills was brought here by President Jackson, after his fame as an architect spread throughout the Eastern section of the country, to design buildings for the Government.

For a number of years Mills contributed toward the erection of Federal structures and, finally, at the age of 67 he designed the Washington Monument. He was born in Charleston S. C., in 1781, and died here in March, 1855.

The monument will cost $1,500. Other Washington architects awarded prizes in the competition included E. P. Schrier, second prize; Walter Frederick, third prize; Carl P. Dumbolton, fourth prize, and Hunter L. Virnelson, Alfred H. Minno, Charles Jumper and Henry G. Bieber, honorable mention.

2 Parties of Youngsters Go to Chesapeake Beach

Two large parties of youngsters will have the time of their lives today at Chesapeake Beach. About 100 altar boys of St. Aloysius Catholic Church will spend the day at Seaside Park participating in all the games and amusements the resort has to offer and go for a swim in the salt-water pool. They will be accompanied by four parish priests.

Another group of 60 youngsters, from the Baptist Home for Children, will spend the day at the beach as guests of the Chesapeake Beach Railway Co. and park concessionaires. Mrs. Mary V. Talmadge, superintendent of the home, and members of the board of managers will be in charge of the party.

Gas Stockholders Again Defer Parley

Compromise Proposal Due to Be Offered P. U. C. on Saturday.

The annual stockholders meeting of the Washington Gas Light Co., scheduled to be held yesterday after numerous postponements since the first of the year, was again delayed because of the absence of a quorum in view of the order of the Public Utilities Commission.

The commission was assured by Arthur Dean, counsel for Chase, Harris & Forbes Corporation, however, that he will have a more definite proposition to submit on Saturday than the vague proposal made last week just under the deadline set by the utilities body.

The nature of this proposal is not known, but it is expected it will be in the nature of a compromise offer in an effort to meet the terms of the order instructing the gas company's foreign interests to divest themselves of all their holdings above the 20 per cent allowed by the La Follette anti-merger act.

School Locker Room Robbed.

Louis Mealy, 22, Is Facing One Death Charge; 19 Witnesses to Testify.

Louis M. Mealy, 22 years old, of 1647 Lamont street northwest, yesterday went on trial in the District Supreme Court on an indictment charging him with manslaughter as the result of a collision between two buses at Seventeenth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest April 1, with a loss of three lives.

Mealy is facing an indictment alleging that he caused the death of Benjamin B. Pettus, 43 years old, of 5311 Cedar parkway. In the same collision two others, M. E. Williamson, 42 years old, 3220 Connecticut avenue, and Clyde Culp, 50 years old, of 6407 Florida street northwest, were also killed.

The charge against Mealy is that he drove a Washington Railway & Electric Co. bus past a red light and into a bus of the Capital Traction Co. Seventeen were injured in the crash.

Under the guidance of Assistant United States Attorney John J. Sirica, Government witnesses yesterday generally stated that the "last time they saw the light it was green." The constant prodding of Charles Ford, defense attorney, brought out from each witness that they did not know what the light was when the crash occurred.

Ten more Government witnesses and nine defense witnesses remain to be heard. The trial is being conducted before Justice F. D. Letts.

Reward Allowed Murderer's Sister

Justice Daniel O'Donoghue yesterday signed a final decree awarding Gertrude Murphy a judgment of $1,000 for her share in the work of unearthing the slayer of the late Louis Bush, sightseeing bus magnate.

The money was due under a reward offered by William L. Bush, son of the slain man, for information leading to the arrest of his father's slayers. Mrs. Murphy, a sister of William Joseph Carneal, now serving a life sentence for Bush's murder, informed police that her brother had conducted himself suspiciously, and on this information was gained that led to his arrest and eventual conviction.

There were many claimants to the reward and after a protracted hearing, Attorneys Nathan Needle and Jack J. Resnicoff, attorneys for Mrs. Murphy, obtained the decree awarding their client the reward. John Mahoney was convicted also of having been implicated in the crime, and he also is serving a life sentence.

Plaster Fall in School Is Under Investigation

Jere J. Crane, business manager of the Board of Education, will investigate the cause of the falling of a section of plaster in the hall of the virtually new Whittier School.

The plaster fell Monday night when the building was unoccupied. Miss Elsie Green, principal, ordered the stairway below the section of weakness roped off to preclude any danger of injury to school children.

Woman Reports Gems Worth $1,449 Stolen

The theft of more than $1,449 in jewelry was reported to police last night by Mrs. George B. Mallory, of 2217 Fourteenth street northwest. Mrs. Mallory told police she believed entrance to her apartment was gained through use of the key she habitually concealed in the mailbox.

The jewelry was stolen from a sachebag concealed in a closet, she said. Among the pieces stolen were a white gold diamond ring valued at $300; a white gold ring valued at $250; a platinum and diamond ring set with 33 chipped diamonds and six sapphires, worth $500, and a Swiss watch, valued at $50.

Fineless Week at Library Nets 1,550 Books in 2 Days

The first two days of overdue book week at the Public Library have brought 1,550 books back to the library shelves, according to Dr. George F. Bowerman, the librarian.

During this "fineless week," which extends through Saturday, June 18, the Public Library is not only remitting all fines on overdue books, but is returning to readers the borrower's cards on which unpaid fines have accumulated. In two days 189 such cards have been returned. A "conscience box" placed at the front door of the central building at Eighth and K streets has received 36 books, of which 13 had never been charged before leaving the library.

All Washington readers having Public Library books in their possession are invited to search their book shelves, to return the books to the library, and thus benefit not only themselves by clearing their records, but other readers as well, who will then have an opportunity to use the books.
